Making It Legal:

Making Legal History Daniel J. Hulsebosch, R. B. Bernstein, 2013-09-20 One of the academy's leading legal historians William E. Nelson is the Edward Weinfeld Professor of Law at New York University School of Law. For more than four decades Nelson has produced some of the most original and creative work on American constitutional and legal history. His prize-winning books have blazed new trails for historians with their substantive arguments and the scope and depth of Nelson's exploration of primary sources. Nelson was the first legal scholar to use early American county court records as sources of legal and social history and his work on legal history in England, colonial America and New York has been a model for generations of legal historians. This book collects ten essays exemplifying and explaining the process of identifying and interpreting archival sources, the foundation of an array of methods of writing American legal history. The essays presented here span the full range of American history from the colonial era to the 1980s. Each historian has either identified a body of sources not previously explored or devised a new method of interrogating sources already known. The result is a kaleidoscopic examination of the historian's task and of the research methods and interpretative strategies that characterize the rich, complex field of American constitutional and legal history.

Making Legal History Anthony Musson, Chantal Stebbings, 2012-01-26 The first book to address the way that the broad and inclusive subject of legal history is researched and written.

Social Consciousness in Legal Decision Making Richard L. Wiener, Brian H. Bornstein, Robert Schopp, Steven L. Willborn, 2007-05-11 This book invites the legal and psychology communities to work together in solving some of our most pressing social problems. It examines four controversial areas involving people's perceptions of others. The book is therefore a guide to understanding the valuable contribution of social scientific research in policy formulation in the law and it addresses the role of psychology in substantive law and legal decision making.

The Cambridge Handbook of Psychology and Legal Decision-Making Monica K. Miller, Logan A. Yelderman, Matthew T. Huss, Jason A. Cantone, 2024-02-29 Presenting state-of-the-art research, this Handbook summarises emerging and establishing topics in the area of legal decision making. Interdisciplinary in its approach, it covers decisions made within the criminal justice system, the trial process and clinical settings. Chapters written by accomplished academics and experts in the field synthesize historical context, identify gaps in existing literature, propose future directions of study and discuss policy limitations. It also includes perspectives from the field: essays written by professionals—a judge, an attorney, a police officer, a trial consultant and a probation officer—to bridge the gap between academic research and its application to the real world. It is intended as a go-to resource for students and researchers who want to immerse themselves in a body of scientific research to understand its history and shape its future.

Beliefs and Expectancies in Legal Decision Making Bradley McAuliff, Brian Bornstein, 2016-02-26 Beliefs and expectancies influence our everyday thoughts, feelings and actions. These attributes make a closer examination of beliefs and expectancies worthwhile in any context but particularly so within the high-stakes arena of the legal system Whether the decision maker is a police officer assessing the truthfulness of an alibi a juror evaluating the accuracy of an eyewitness identification an attorney arguing a case involving a juvenile offender or a judge deciding whether to terminate parental rights these decisions matter and without doubt are influenced by beliefs and expectancies This volume is comprised of research on beliefs and expectancies regarding alibis children s behaviour while testifying eyewitness testimony confessions sexual assault victims judges decisions in child protection cases and attorneys beliefs about jurors perceptions of juvenile offender culpability Areas for future research are identified and readers are encouraged to discover new ways that beliefs and expectancies operate in the legal system This book was originally published as a special issue of Psychology Crime Law

Constructing Objectivity: Emotions in Legal Decision-making Stina Bergman Blix, Sharyn Lee-Anne Roach Anleu, Mojca M. Plesnicar, Louise Victoria Johansen, 2025-08-28 The field of Law and Emotion originated in discussions that disputed the bifurcation of emotion and law In the past decade these discussions have inspired socio legal research on the dynamic and social dimensions of court work The field has grown exponentially in diverse disciplines such as sociology law philosophy anthropology and criminology At the core of legal decision making lies the fundamental principles of objectivity impartiality and independence The Research Topic Constructing Objectivity Emotions in Legal Decision making addresses the dialectical processes of translating these principles into everyday judicial practice across a wide range of legal systems Building on empirical research including observations interviews shadowing vignettes and workshops with legal professionals this collection engages with objectivity in the making It addresses such questions as What role does court architecture and material objects play in the emotional dynamic of the legal procedure How do judges manage victims emotional statements or evaluate their credibility How do judges make independent decisions in a collective setting What role does extra legal lay specialist expertise play in co constructing legal knowledge of relevance to decision making How do judges embrace the idea of objectivity How is all this influenced by the growing digitalization of courts and hearings In so doing it investigates the complexity of objectivity as an ideal a judicial value requiring performance promoting courtroom atmosphere and as sometimes feigned

Shelter law-making : Legal response to the massive migration caused by Russian aggression against Ukraine : National report – Hungary Réka Friedery, 2025-06-30

Shelter law-making : Legal response to the massive migration caused by Russian aggression against Ukraine : General report on Visegrad countries: Czech Republic, Hungary, Republic of Poland, Slovak Republic Réka Friedery, Věra Honusková, Aleksandra Mężykowska, Miroslava Mittelmanová, Anna Młynarska-Sobaczewska, Lukáš Novák, Piotr Polak, 2025-06-30 The General Report presented below constitutes a summary of information and conclusions contained in the national reports on Czechia Hungary Poland and Slovakia and is the final output of Grant no 22320067 entitled Shelter law making Legal response to massive migration caused by Russian aggression against Ukraine co financed by the Visegrad Fund The national reports constitute the basis for the General Report therefore references to all sources and data are to be found there The main goal of the project was to analyse the legal actions taken and instruments created by the four Visegrad countries V4 in response to the large scale and unprecedented influx of people after 24 February 2022 the outbreak of the full scale invasion of the Russian Federation against Ukraine Above all we identified the need to compare the actions taken in individual countries in order to distinguish the recurring solutions identify those that have failed and select those that proved to be the most effective good practices In our opinion the findings of the project will provide a solid basis for more effective legal actions related to the current migration crisis and possible crises in future The conclusions and recommendations are in the final parts VI and VII of the General Report

Creating Legal Worlds Greig Henderson, 2015-07-06 A legal judgment is first and foremost a story a narrative of facts about the parties to the case Creating Legal Worlds is a study of how that narrative operates and how rhetoric story and style function as integral elements of any legal argument Through careful analyses of notable cases from Canada the United States and the United Kingdom Greig Henderson analyses how the rhetoric of storytelling often carries as much argumentative weight within a judgement as the logic of legal distinctions Through their narrative choices Henderson argues judges create a normative universe the world of right and wrong within which they make their judgements and fashion their own judicial self images Drawing on the work of the law and literature movement Creating Legal Worlds is a convincing argument for paying close attention to the role of story and style in the creation of judicial decisions
