cultural and literary critic a definitive history and analysis of the memoir From Saint Augustine's Confessions to Augusten Burroughs's Running with Scissors from Julius Caesar to Ulysses Grant from Mark Twain to David Sedaris the art of memoir has had a fascinating life and deserves its own biography Cultural and literary critic Ben Yagoda traces the memoir from its birth in early Christian writings and Roman generals journals all the way up to the banner year of 2007 which saw memoirs from and about dogs rock stars bad dads good dads alternadads waitresses George Foreman Iranian women and a slew of other illustrious persons and animals In a time when memoir seems ubiquitous and is still highly controversial Yagoda tackles the autobiography and memoir in all its forms and iterations He discusses the fraudulent memoir and provides many examples from the past and addresses the ramifications and consequences of these books Spanning decades and nations styles and subjects he analyzes the hallmark memoirs of the Western tradition Rousseau Ben Franklin Henry Adams Gertrude Stein Edward Gibbon among others Yagoda also describes historical trends such as Native American captive memoirs slave narratives courtier dramas where one had to pay to NOT be included in a courtesan's memoir Throughout the idea of memory and truth how we remember and how well we remember lives is intimately explored Yagoda's elegant examination of memoir is at once a history of literature and taste and an absorbing glimpse into what humans find interesting one another

God Is Not a Homophobe Philo Thelos, 2004 Homosexuality is perhaps the most volatile topic discussed in today's church and society A war rages that will ultimately determine how much civil liberty can be enjoyed by consenting homosexuals and how much religious equality they will be granted Several books already exist attempting to demonstrate that the Christian Bible does not in fact condemn consenting adult homosexuality But God is Not a Homophobe has a unique perspective in that the author has a lifetime of experience in pastoring hard core fundamentalist churches His former bitter opposition to all forms of homosexuality has given way to a rational unbiased acceptance that the Bible says hardly anything about homosexuality and what it does say cannot honestly be used to condemn consenting same sex unions In God Is Not a Homophobe the author examines in detail every Bible verse and every Bible based argument against homosexuality and concludes with a view radically different from what is offered by the modern church His conclusions will surprise many and will surely aggravate and anger many more But he believes the evidence in this book will stand the test of investigation This unbiased look at homosexuality in the Bible gives much food for thought and hopefully much incentive for change in our attitude toward and treatment of those whose sexual orientation is different

Masking Selves, Making Subjects Traise Yamamoto, 1999-01-06 This sophisticated and comprehensive study is the first to situate Japanese American women's writing within theoretical contexts that provide a means of articulating the complex relationships between language and the body gender and agency nationalism and identity Through an examination of post World War II autobiographical writings fiction and poetry Traise Yamamoto argues that these writers have employed the trope of masking textually and psychologically as a strategy to create an alternative discursive practice and to protect the self as subject Yamamoto's range is broad and her interdisciplinary approach yields richly textured in depth readings of a number of genres including film and travel narrative Looking at how the West has sexualized infantilized and feminized Japanese culture for over a century she examines contemporary Japanese American women s struggle with this orientalist fantasy Analyzing the various constraints and possibilities that these writers negotiate in order to articulate their differences she shows how masking serves as a self affirming discourse that dynamically interacts with mainstream culture s racial and sexual projections
