Making Men Gender Literary Authority And Womens Writing In Caribbean Narrative:

Making Men Belinda Edmondson, 1999 Explores the gendered subjectivity of West Indian writers and their dependence on models from Victorian England for their narratives of self and nation Creating the Fictional Female Detective Carla T. Kungl, 2006-04-27 This study examines a number of previously overlooked or undervalued women detective fiction writers of the late 19th and early 20th centuries and traces their relationship to later women writers who shaped the future of the genre Dorothy Sayers Agatha Christie and Gladys Mitchell This work argues that their use of the female detective character served as a means through which they were able to establish their professional authority in the detective fiction genre Women writers employed a variety of narrative strategies to explore the tensions between society's underlying domestic ideology and women's entrance into the work force during this time period Creating female detectives and employing these narrative strategies helped women writers establish professional authority by providing them with ways of expressing their ability to write in this genre and adapting it as a vehicle for women's writing The study examines the critical importance of early female detectives Many critics and editors have dismissed these early detectives as conventional and trite ignoring the genre's rich variety Yet female fictional detectives appear as both paid professionals and gifted amateurs single married widowed older spinsters and young adventurers detecting for pleasure and to clear their own or a loved one's name In choosing to create female detectives who were both varied and unusual women writers confronted some of their own literary anxieties and ultimately were able to explore the ways they would create new routes to women's authority within a male dominated culture and specifically in the genre of detective fiction Caribbean Women Writers and Globalization Helen C. Scott, 2016-04-08 Caribbean Women Writers and Globalization offers a fresh reading of contemporary literature by Caribbean women in the context of global and local economic forces providing a valuable corrective to much Caribbean feminist literary criticism Departing from the trend towards thematic diasporic studies Helen Scott considers each text in light of its national historical and cultural origins while also acknowledging regional and international patterns Though the work of Caribbean women writers is apparently less political than the male dominated literature of national liberation Scott argues that these women nonetheless express the sociopolitical realities of the postindependent Caribbean providing insight into the dynamics of imperialism that survive the demise of formal colonialism In addition she identifies the specific aesthetic qualities that reach beyond the confines of geography and history in the work of such writers as Oonya Kempadoo Jamaica Kincaid Edwidge Danticat Pauline Melville and Janice Shinebourne Throughout Scott's persuasive and accessible study sustains the dialectical principle that art is inseparable from social forces and yet always strains against the limits they impose Her book will be an indispensable resource for literature and women's studies scholars as well as for those interested in postcolonial cultural and globalization studies Sexuality, Gender and Nationalism in Caribbean Literature Kate Houlden, 2016-11-18 This book focuses on sex and sexuality in post war novels from the Anglophone Caribbean Countering the critical orthodoxy that literature from this period dealt with sex only tangentially implicitly transmitting sexist or homophobic messages the author instead highlights the range and diversity in its representations of sexual life She draws on gender and sexuality studies postcolonial theory and cultural history to provide new readings of seminal figures like Samuel Selvon and George Lamming whilst also calling attention to the work of innovative lesser studied authors such as Andrew Salkey Oscar Dathorne and Rosa Guy Offering a coherent and expansive overview of how post war Caribbean novelists have treated the persistently controversial topic of sex this book addresses one of the blind spots in Caribbean literary criticism It mines a range of little studied archival materials and texts to argue that fiction of the post war era exhibits both continuities with the sexual emphases of earlier writing and connections to later trends The author also presents nationalist ideology as central to the literature of this era It is in the fictional rendering of sexuality that the contradictions of the nationalist project are most apparent sex both exceeds and threatens the imagined unity on which the political vision depends Alien-nation and

Repatriation Patricia Joan Saunders,2007-01-01 AlienNation and Repatriation is a critical examination of race sexuality gender and migration in Caribbean nationalist literatures The more complex contribution made in this book however is its insistence on centering the philosophical implications of interpreting or translating black female subjectivity back into the literary landscapes of Caribbean literary and cultural texts from which they were erased or disciplined into silence This book suggests that reading strategies reproduce hegemonic constructions of black women s identities and postionalities as subjects and citizens in Caribbean literature Counterpoints Stephanie Tara Schwartz,May Telmissany,2010-03-08

Revolving around the theme of counterpoint extensively used by Edward Said as the interplay of diverse ideas and discrepant experiences this book aims to explore Said s contribution to the fields of comparative literature literary criticism postcolonial theory exilic and transnational studies and socio political thought among many others Overshadowed by his legitimate political positions in support to the Palestinian cause and at odds with Islamophobic hostilities Said s intellectual achievements in the fields of humanities and philosophical thinking should equally be acknowledged and celebrated Said articulates his notion of counterpoints through a vivid description of the composition of Western classical music In the counterpoint of Western classical music various themes play off one another with only a provisional privilege being given to any particular one yet in the resulting polyphony there is concert and order an organized interplay that derives from the themes not from a rigorous melodic or formal principle outside the work This book pays tribute to Said s contrapuntal methodology as well as to his academic and humanistic legacy Fictions of Feminine Citizenship D. Francis,2010-03-01

Reading novels by contemporary women in the Caribbean diaspora alongside and against law history and anthropology the book argues that Caribbean women s sexuality has been mobilized for various imperialist and nationalist projects from the nineteenth century to present The Cambridge Companion to Transnational American Literature Yogita Goyal,2017-02-15

This book provides a new map of American literature in the global era analyzing the multiple meanings of transnationalism

Migrant Modernism J. Dillon Brown, 2013-04-29 In Migrant Modernism J Dillon Brown examines the intersection between British literary modernism and the foundational West Indian novels that emerged in London after World War II By emphasizing the location in which anglophone Caribbean writers such as George Lamming V S Naipaul and Samuel Selvon produced and published their work Brown reveals a dynamic convergence between modernism and postcolonial literature that has often been ignored Modernist techniques not only provided a way for these writers to mark their difference from the aggressively English literalist aesthetic that dominated postwar literature in London but also served as a self critical medium through which to treat themes of nationalism cultural inheritance and identity Black Empire Michelle Ann Stephens, 2005-07-18 Explores the writings of Marcus Garvey Claude McKay and C L R James and argues that these black transnationals articulated a novel conception of black identity that reconfigures the meaning of American nationality Creole Renegades Bénédicte Boisseron, 2022-05-31 This book investigates the exilic literature of Caribbean born and Caribbean descent writers who from their new location in Northern America question their cultural roots and search for a creative autonomy Dynamics of Deep Time and Deep Place Laura Doyle, Simon Gikandi, Mwangi wa Githinji, 2025-04-10 Dynamics of Deep Time and Deep Place comprises one volume in an unprecedented three volume set collectively subtitled Decolonial Reconstellations Together with Volume Two Dissolving Master Narratives and Volume Three Reconceiving Identities in Political Economy it gathers thinkers from across world regions and disciplines who reconfigure critical global thought Collaboratively conceived the volumes are founded on the observation that we cannot fully uproot the epistemological material violence of coercive systems nor fully re imagine more ethical visions of planetary community without shared attention to the deeper histories of place and peoples that shape the present Accordingly the volumes gather social scientists and humanists Indigenous and non Indigenous scholars and intersectional and materialist thinkers who reconceptualize longue durée history and its afterlives They engage in the dual project to dismantle eurocentric colonial androcentric frameworks and to make visible the legacies of care and creative world making that have sustained human communities Uncovering pasts that are as complex and dynamic as the present the contributors brilliantly transform notions of temporality relationability polity conjuncture resistance and experimentation within histories of struggle and alliance They richly decolonize political imaginaries The co editors introductions articulate fresh frameworks of deep place and deep time freed from eurocentric modernity paradigms indicating pathways toward decolonial collaboration and institutional change Decolonial Reconstellations offers invaluable resources for researchers and teachers in decolonial postcolonial anti colonial and Indigenous studies and will also strongly appeal to feminist anti racist Marxist and critical theory scholars across disciplines Legba's Crossing Heather Russell, Katherine Clay Bassard, 2011-05-01 In Haiti Papa Legba is the spirit whose permission must be sought to communicate with the spirit world He stands at and for the crossroads of language interpretation and form and is considered to be like the voice of a god In Legba's Crossing Heather Russell examines how writers from the United States and the anglophone Caribbean challenge conventional Western narratives through innovative use disruption and reconfiguration of form Russell s in depth analysis of the work of James Weldon Johnson Audre Lorde Michelle Cliff Earl Lovelace and John Edgar Wideman is framed in light of the West African aesthetic principle of she a quality ascribed to art that transcends the prescribed boundaries of form she is linked to the characteristics of improvisation and flexibility that are central to jazz and other art forms Russell argues that African Atlantic writers self consciously and self reflexively manipulate dominant forms that prescribe a certain trajectory of for example enlightenment civilization or progress She connects this seemingly postmodern meta analysis to much older West African philosophy and its African Atlantic iterations which she calls the Legba Principle

Inside Tenement Time Kezia Page, 2024 Inside Tenement Time is a study of Jamaican literary and cultural texts presenting surveillance in the Caribbean The project introduces two Afro Indigenous variations on surveillance sussveillance and spiritveillance as exemplars of vernacular arts and shows that Caribbean hegemonies are flexible The book reads the Smile Jamaica concert 1976 and the Tivoli Incursion 2010 as states of high surveillance emergency

Popular Postcolonialisms Nadia Atia, Kate Houlden, 2018-07-04 Drawing together the insights of postcolonial scholarship and cultural studies Popular Postcolonialisms questions the place of the popular in the postcolonial paradigm Multidisciplinary in focus this collection explores the extent to which popular forms are infused with colonial logics and whether they can be employed by those advocating for change It considers a range of fiction film and non hegemonic cultural forms engaging with topics such as environmental change language activism and cultural imperialism alongside analysis of figures like Tarzan and Frankenstein Building on the work of cultural theorists it asks whether the popular is actually where elite conceptions of the world may best be challenged It also addresses middlebrow cultural production which has tended to be seen as antithetical to radical traditions asking whether this might in fact form an unlikely realm from which to question critique or challenge colonial tropes Examining the ways in which the imprint of colonial history is in evidence interrogated mythologized or sublimated within popular cultural production this book raises a series of speculative questions exploring the interrelation of the popular and the postcolonial

Black Internationalist Feminism Cheryl Higashida, 2011-12-01 Black Internationalist Feminism examines how African American women writers affiliated themselves with the post World War II Black Communist Left and developed a distinct strand of feminism This vital yet largely overlooked feminist tradition built upon and critically retheorized the postwar Left's nationalist internationalism which connected the liberation of Blacks in the United States to the liberation of Third World nations and the worldwide proletariat. Black internationalist feminism critiques racist heteronormative and masculinist articulations of nationalism while maintaining the importance of national liberation movements for achieving Black women's social, political, and economic rights. Cheryl Higashida shows how Claudia Jones, Lorraine Hansberry, Alice Childress, Rosa Guy, Audre Lorde, and Maya Angelou worked within and against established literary forms to demonstrate that nationalist internationalism was linked to struggles against heterosexism and patriarchy. Exploring a diverse range of plays, novels, essays, poetry, and reportage, Higashida illustrates how literature is a crucial lens for studying Black internationalist feminism because these authors were at the forefront of bringing the perspectives and problems of Black women to light against their marginalization and silencing. In examining writing by Black Left women from 1945-1995, Black Internationalist Feminism contributes to recent efforts to rehistoricize the Old Left, Civil Rights, Black Power, and second wave Black women's movements. Naipaul Romantic Revisions in Novels from the Americas Lauren Rule Maxwell, 2013

Returning to British Romantic poetry allows the novels to extend the Romantic poetics of landscape that traditionally considered the British subject's relation to place. By recasting Romantic poetics in the Americas, these novels show how negotiations of identity and power are defined by the legacies of British imperialism, illustrating that these nations, their peoples, and their works of art are truly postcolonial. While many postcolonial scholars and critics have dismissed the idea that Romantic poetry can be used to critique colonialism, Maxwell suggests that on the contrary, it has provided contemporary writers across the Americas with a means of charting the literary and cultural legacies of British imperialism in the New World. The poems of the British Romantics offer postcolonial writers particularly rich material, Maxwell argues, because they characterize British influence at the height of the British empire.
