Thirty Years of My Life I think I wanted to be a teacher because I thought it was important I wanted to do something important I stayed teaching because much of the time it was fun and I was I never bored Think about the times you have watched a little kid do something miraculous amazing or hilarious Kids are fun to watch They surprise you and keep you young You cannot help but remember the good and hard times of growing up without actually having to do it over The flip side to this is the number of times you may have been annoyed with your own child teenager adult daughter or son and of course the times you were so angry you couldn't function Well multiply that feeling by seventy five kids each year for thirty years I'd like to say a thing or two about state and federal mandated tests Actually I'd like to say a lot Thus far no one has asked for my opinion but here it is The feds and the states want the public schools to be accountable Our society wants assurances the tax dollars they spend will produce educated kids I get it Side note The conspiracy part of my brain cannot help but wonder if the anti public school fringe has found a way to target the public school system and reduce tax dollars going to this endeavor Is it possible the people doling out the funds and the mandates for public schools are hoping for failure Or maybe they just have no clue as to what is needed to educate all of America's children not just a very few privileged children All our children must receive a great education if America wants to remain a worldwide powerhouse It's amazing to me all the talk about evaluating teachers on student test scores especially if that measurement is based on an arbitrary cut score 80 percent pass 79 percent fail Students are not piece parts Students cannot and should not be measured like bolts on an assembly line in tolerance out of tolerance People are multi dimensional A test will never tell us all that a child knows or doesn't know In the kindest words this idea of measuring students and evaluating teachers on a single high stakes test is very misguided More to the point this is a really stupid idea and a very dangerous practice Whatever happened to the notion All kids can learn but not always at the same time or same rate When did we ever want people in America to be the same We all benefit from our differences When I look over and reflect on the variety and diversity new buzz word of the decade of my fellow teachers not one of us is like the other Our teaching styles are vastly different We relate to students differently We relate with each other differently We all work together to teach and maximize our students time with us I might be less annoyed if student improvement was used as a measure of teacher effectiveness Even this approach has major flaws A teacher has a student for nine months In my case students are thirteen or fourteen years old They have had thirteen or fourteen years of prior experiences and baggage before getting to me Five of those years school was not even a part of their lives Research tells us when kids come to school in kindergarten the variances are huge The thought is as a school we should be able to narrow the variances What actually happens is these variances increase Is the school or the teachers responsible for this No What is going on Teachers usually have students for about six to seven hours a day and 180 days a year In the state of Kansas this equates to at least 1116 hours each year Even if we as a nation ever went to year round school the number of days probably wouldn't increase significantly the days would just be spread out This might help might not Most of the research I've read is not conclusive one way or the other Time allocated for school learning amounts to just under twenty percent of the hours in a year 365 days Teachers can't see The Time of My Life Willard Van Orman Quine, 1985 Some Power did us the giftie grant To see ourselves as others can't With that play on Burns' famous line as a preface Willard Van Orman Quine sets out to spin the yarn of his life so far And it is a gift indeed to see one of the world's most famous philosophers as no one else has seen him before To catch an intimate glimpse of his seminal and controversial theories of philosophy logic and language as they evolved and to hear his warm and often amusing comments on famous contemporary philosophers From his beginnings in Akron Ohio in the early 1900s Quine takes us on a tour of over 100 countries over three quarters of a century including close observations of the Depression and two world wars Far from a philosophical tract it is an ebullient folksy account of a richly varied and rounded life When he does dip into philosophy it is generally of the armchair sort and laced with a gentle good humor There is that which one wants to do for the glory of having done it and there is that which one wants to do for the joy of doing it One can want to be a scientist because he wants to see himself as a Darwin or an Einstein and one can want to be a scientist because he is curious about what makes things tick In normal cases the two kinds of motivation are in time brought to terms In me the glory motive lingered In this book Quine approaches the details of his life the way he has always approached them with a sharp sense of interest adventure and fun And he has a skill for picking a word that is just off center enough to pull an ordinary event out of the humdrum of daily life and evoke its personal meaning The result is a book of memories that is utterly mesmerizing Willard Van Orman Quine is the author of numerous books including Word and Object published by The MIT Press in 1960 A Bradford Book In My Life Opiew O. Cham, 2011-10-13 The idea that I write my memoirs came to me when I had barely begun to live in Kaufman Texas and continued all through the years But I never paid heed to the plan I was living my life intensely what need to write about it Another reason for my reluctance was the conviction I entertained that one should write about one's life only when one had ceased to stand in the very torrent of it When one has reached a good philosophic age I used to tell my friends capable of viewing the tragedies and comedies of life impersonally and detachedly particularly one's own life one is likely to create an autobiography worthwhile Still feeling adolescently young in spite of advancing years I did not consider myself competent to undertake such a task Moreover I always lacked the necessary leisure for concentrated writing I discovered much to my discomfiture that old age far from ripening wisdom and mellowness is too often fraught with senility narrowness and petty rancor I would not risk such a calamity and I began to think seriously about writing my life biography I am a very nostalgic person As long as I can remember I have enjoyed thinking about the past and how it melded into the present especially in reference to my own life and my own family history This life story is about over all my life in Africa and United States of America I had included the stories about my parents relatives what life was like for them and what they were doing when they were alive I like looking at old pictures and other mementos that help bring some of that past back to life or just evoke the spirit of the memories This story is about my childhood life I had in Ethiopia refugee camp and United States of America and my family as seen through my eyes It is my snapshot my memories to share with the world Now I do not know why anyone would be interested in my life but I hope a few people especially family will find it interesting and to help keep it interesting I promise to keep chapters and stories short concise and to the point After all nothing is more boring than someone s tedious diatribe about something so entirely mundane If you get to that point just skip to another story and just try to find something interesting and of value to you If you still can t find anything of value in the reading then I apologize but still thank you for trying As for me I believed I had more fun writing this than anyone would ever have reading it
