A Woman's Wartime Journal Dolly Sumner Lunt, 2012-12-01 Dolly Sumner Lunt begins her diary A Woman's Wartime Journal published in 1918 by recalling her anxiety about the approach of General Sherman's Union army on January 1, 1864 While she worries about the arrival of Sherman's troops and their habit of pillaging and burning everything in their path she records stories of visits by local raiders posing as U.S. soldiers and the sleepless nights she has spent watching fires on the horizon Despite Lunt's efforts to hide her valuable possessions which include sending her mules into the woods dividing her stores of meat among the slaves and burying the silver the passing Union troops raid her house and plantation and take her slaves with them They also set fire to cotton bales in her barn but the blaze burns out before spreading largely sparing Lunt's property the widespread destruction suffered by neighboring plantations In her last entries dated December 1865 Lunt writes optimistically about the recovery of her farm her new sharecropping system and the first cheerful Christmas in years A DOCSOUTH BOOK This collaboration between UNC Press and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Library brings classic works from the digital library of Documenting the American South back into print DocSouth Books uses the latest digital technologies to make these works available in paperback and e-book formats Each book contains a short summary and is otherwise unaltered from the original publication DocSouth Books provide affordable and easily accessible editions to a new generation of scholars students and general readers

Journals: 1928-1939 André Gide, 2000 Beginning with a single entry for the year 1889 when he was twenty and continuing intermittently but indefatigably through his life the Journals of André Gide constitute an enlightening moving and endlessly fascinating chronicle of creative energy and conviction Astutely and thoroughly annotated by Justin O'Brien in consultation with Gide himself this translation is the definitive edition of Gide's complete journals The complete journals representing sixty years of a varied life testify to a disciplined intelligence in a constantly maturing thought These pages contain aesthetic appreciations philosophic reflections sustained literary criticism notes for the composition of his works details of his personal life and spiritual conflicts accounts of his extensive travels and comments on the political and social events of the day from the Dreyfus case to the German occupation Gide records his progress as a writer and a reader as well as his contacts and conversations with the bright lights of contemporary Europe from Paul Valry Paul Claudel Lon Blum and Auguste Rodin to Marcel Proust Stephen Mallarm Oscar Wilde and Nadia Boulanger Devoid of affectation alternately overtaken by depression and animated by a sense of urgency and hunger for literature and beauty Gide read voraciously corresponded voluminously and thought profoundly always questioning and doubting in search of the unadulterated truth The only drama that really interests me and that I should always be willing to depict anew he wrote is the debate of the individual with whatever keeps him from being authentic with whatever is opposed to his integrity to his integration Most often the obstacle is within him And all the rest is merely accidental Locomotive Engineers Journal ,1926
