a long time he wonders by seeing a village full of women look completely opposite as described in his forefather's book. When he compares women of his book and village next to the landlord Ragvendra Singh by singing his glorious past and bravery how his forefather saved women whereas women back stabbed them. He persuades him to impose all those rules again which describes in the books of his forefather. Before Hanja Ragvendra's wife opposes his plan and tries to stop him. Ratnakar already spoils all mind of men which led all women out of the village. Hanja leaves his house leaving his son Prithvi Singh here. Ratnakar successfully implements all those evil customs which is old and defunct. He starts killing newly born baby girls, force them to marry at age of five Sati widows and stop women to go to school. She confines in her home and all the evils of society back in a village. Prithvi Singh a son of Hanja and Ragvendra Singh who created a gang of village boys against Ratnakar by collecting all boys who desperate to marry. He stops everything which brings happiness in a village whether it is marriage or any happy events he disturbs all. When Ratnakar informs about his son to Ragvendra Singh both father and son fight and their fight leads them nothing but dig out all the facts about the Ambet and their parental village Roop Nagar which even Ratnakar do not know. And by knowing its glorious past where women were divine and equal and ahead of men.

From the Reservation to Washington Debra Goodrich, 2024-10-15. The first person of color to serve as vice president Charles Curtis was once a household name but has become a footnote in American history. As a mixed race person who became a public figure in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries his story is more relevant today than ever. He was constantly forced to choose whether to be Indian or white. Society would not let him be both. When his temper flared it was his savage nature coming through when he presided over the United States Senate with an unprecedented knowledge of the rules and procedures it was evidence of his civilized ancestry. Charles Curtis was born into Bleeding Kansas and came of age during the most turbulent of times. His father participated in the violence as a Kansas Redleg avenging the actions of Missouri bushwhackers. As Civil War evolved into the Plains Indian Wars Curtis was an eyewitness as his own people were starving and even the most powerful of tribes were confined to reservations. These forces shaped his philosophy and perspective. To this day he holds the distinction of being the only person of Native American heritage to be elected the second highest office in the land. He served as the 31st vice president of the United States from 1929 to 1933 under Herbert Hoover. Private and pragmatic he became a respected statesman championing citizenship for Native Americans and rights for women. But his path of inclusion was perceived by others as destroying tribal sovereignty. Perhaps he realized that. But in his experience the most powerful force on earth was the federal government and he learned to play the government game and to be better at it than almost anyone else.
