Armstrong,2013-03-22 John Frankenheimer's career as a professional director began and ended in television In the mid 1950s he won acclaim working on live productions for anthology series like Playhouse 90 and from the mid 1990s until his death in 2002 he helmed a string of Emmy winning features for cable TV including The Burning Season 1994 and Andersonville 1996 Despite these successes Frankenheimer's reputation rests primarily upon the nearly thirty feature films he directed which range from bona fide classics like Birdman of Alcatraz 1962 and The Manchurian Candidate 1962 to such lesser achievements as Prophecy 1979 and Dead Bang 1989 Unfortunately for Frankenheimer the discrepancy between his best films and his worst led many critics during his lifetime to dismiss him as someone whose talent dissipated in the late 1960s In the decade since his death

however several critics have emerged who reject the assertion that the quality of Frankenheimer's output faded after an impressive start. In John Frankenheimer: Interviews, Essays, and Profiles, Stephen B. Armstrong has collected the most interesting and insightful articles and features published on this underrated director. While question and answer exchanges make up the bulk of the items featured here, also included are journalistic profiles of the director at work and essays Frankenheimer himself wrote for magazine audiences. In addition, readers will find a series of interviews of people who worked with Frankenheimer, including actors Roy Scheider, Tim Reid, and the director's wife of 40 years, Evans. Frankenheimer. In this volume, the director and others look back on a career that included such films as Seven Days in May, The Train, Grand Prix, The Iceman Cometh, Black Sunday, and Ronin. The first collection of its kind, John Frankenheimer: Interviews, Essays, and Profiles enables those who value the director's work to develop a better understanding of the man through his own words and the words of others. Come on Everybody, Let's Sing! Lois Birkenshaw-Fleming, 2000. More than 170 songs, 85 poems, movement activities, and games for children in regular and special classes. Railways of Brazil in Postcards and Souvenir Albums João Emilio Gerodetti, 2005. Tales from Sacred Wind Cratis D. Williams, 2003-03-25. Prior to his death in 1985, Cratis Williams was a leading scholar of and spokesperson for Appalachian life and literature and a pioneer of the Appalachian studies movement. Williams was born in a log cabin on Caines Creek, Lawrence County, Kentucky, in 1911. To use his own terms, he was a complete mountaineer. This book is an edited compilation of Williams' memoirs of his childhood. These autobiographical reminiscences often take the form of a folktale, with individual titles such as Preacher Lang Gets Drunk and The Double Murder at Sledges. Schooled initially in traditional stories and ballads, he learned to read by the light of his grandfather's whiskey still and excelled at the local one-room school. After becoming the first person from Caines Creek to attend and graduate from the county high school in Louisa, he taught in one-room schools while pursuing his own education. He earned both a BA and MA from the University of Kentucky before moving to Appalachian State Teacher's College in 1942; later, he earned a Ph.D. from New York University and then returned to Appalachian State. Atlantic Reporter, 1913. Academy and Literature. Charles Edward Cutts, Birch Appleton, Charles Edward Doble, James Sutherland Cotton, Charles Lewis Hind, William Teignmouth Shore, Alfred Bruce Douglas, Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett, Thomas William Hodgson Crosland, 1913. The Book That Changed My Life Roxanne J. Coady, Joy Johannessen, 2007-10-18. Now in paperback, a delightful collection of essays on the transformative power of reading. In The Book That Changed My Life, our most admired writers, doctors, professors, religious leaders, politicians, chefs, and CEOs share the books that mean the most to them. For Doris Kearns Goodwin, it was Barbara Tuchman's The Guns of August, which inspired her to enter a field of history writing traditionally reserved for men. For Jacques P. pin, it was The Myth of Sisyphus, which taught him the importance of personal responsibility, dignity, and goodness in the midst of existentialist France. A testament to the life-altering importance of literature, this book inspires us to return to old favorites and seek out new treasures. All proceeds go to The Read to Grow.

The Acquisition of Syntactic Structure Misha Becker, 2014-04-03 This book explains a well known puzzle that helped catalyze the establishment of generative syntax how children tease apart the different syntactic structures associated with sentences like John is easy eager to please The answer lies in animacy taking the premise that subjects are animate the book argues that children can exploit the occurrence of an inanimate subject as a cue to a non canonical structure in which that subject is displaced the book is easy eager to read The author uses evidence from a range of linguistic subfields including syntactic theory typology language processing conceptual development language acquisition and computational modeling exposing readers to these different kinds of data in an accessible way The theoretical claims of the book expand the well known hypotheses of syntactic and semantic bootstrapping resulting in greater coverage of the core principles of language acquisition This is a must read for researchers in language acquisition syntax psycholinguistics and computational linguistics
