Luis de Miranda,2023-12-28 Bringing together leading international and interdisciplinary scholars this ground breaking volume examines the theory and practice of philosophical health in contemporary contexts of care broadly understood care for the self care for the other and care for the world But what do we mean by philosophical health Whilst this book does not seek to provide a normative definition as it explores disparate perspectives and encourages pluralism in philosophical ways of life one may envision philosophical health as a state of creative coherence between a person s or a group s way of thinking and their way of acting such that the possibilities for a good life are increased and the needs for flourishing satisfied An idea central to philosophical health is the concept of possibility Without a sense of self possibility and openness to the future health loses meaning and conversely pathologies are defined by various kinds of impossibilities As such philosophical health reconsiders care as a process of cultivating or pruning the compossible in embodied psychological and social terms of allowing things to re generate or in some cases to vanish Drawing on the history of philosophy phenomenology new materialism post colonialism but also a wide range of contemporary approaches to philosophical practice Philosophical Health sheds light on the understudied philosophical dimension of care and the healing dimension of philosophizing Advocating philosophy as a lived practice it uncovers the increasing relevance of philosophical health to contemporary debates on well being well belonging counselling and development Time To Know Them Marilyn S.

Sternglass,2017-09-25 In a time of declining resources in institutions of higher education we grapple with how priorities are to be set for the limited resources available Most vulnerable are those students labeled underprepared by colleges and universities Should we argue that the limited resources available ought to be used to support these students through their undergraduate years And if we decide that we want to do that what evidence of their potential for success can we provide that will justify the use of these resources Through longitudinal research that follows students who have been so labeled over all their college years we can begin to find answers to these questions Time to Know Them is the first book that follows the experiences of a group of students over their entire academic experience No previous studies have brought together the factors incorporated in this study examining writing and learning on a true longitudinal basis studying a multicultural urban population investigating the relationship between writing and learning by examining papers written over time for regularly assigned academic courses across a range of disciplines and taking into consideration non academic factors that influence academic performance such as race gender socio economic status and ideological orientation Through interviews twice a semester over six years the collection of papers written for all courses observations of instructional settings and analysis of required institutional tests of writing the author has been able to pull together a more complete picture of writing and intellectual development over the college years than has previously been available in any study Students are seen to acquire the ability to handle more complex reasoning tasks as they find themselves in more challenging intellectual settings and where risk taking and exploration of new ideas are valued The integration of students previous life experiences into their academic studies allows them to analyze critique modify and apply their previously held world views to their new learning These changes are seen to occur over time with instructional settings and support providing key roles in writing development Personal factors in students lives present difficulties that require persistence and dedication to overcome Never before have the complexities of real individual lives as they affect academic performance been so clearly presented

Experiments in Mystical Atheism Brook Ziporyn, 2024-10-30 A new approach to the theism scientism divide rooted in a deeper form of atheism Western philosophy is stuck in an irresolvable conflict between two approaches to the spiritual malaise of our times either we need more God the turn to religion or less religion the New Atheism In this book Brook Ziporyn proposes an alternative that avoids both totalizing theomania and atomizing reductionism What we need he argues is a deeper more thoroughgoing even religious rejection of God an affirmative atheism without either a creator to provide meaning or finite creatures in need of it a mystical atheism In the legacies of Daoism and Buddhism as well as Spinoza Nietzsche and Bataille Ziporyn discovers a critique of theism that develops into a new positive sensibility at once deeply atheist and richly religious Experiments in Mystical Atheism argues that these godless epiphanies hold the key to renewing philosophy today multiple object tracking situations Are there separate what and where processing streams for haptic and auditory perception Are there haptic and or auditory equivalents of the visual object file Are there equivalents of the visual object token How are object identification conflicts between different perceptual systems resolved Is the common assumption that persistent object is a fundamental innate category justified How does the ability to identify and categorize objects relate to the ability to name and describe them using language How are features that an individual object had in the past but does not have currently represented How are categorical constraints on how objects move or act represented and how do such constraints influence categorization and the re identification of individuals How do human beings re identify objects including each other as persistent individuals across changes in location context and features even after gaps in observation lasting months or years How do human capabilities for object categorization and re identification over time relate to those of other species and how do human infants develop these capabilities What can modeling approaches such as cognitive robotics tell us about the answers to these questions Primary research reports reviews and hypothesis and theory papers addressing questions relevant to the understanding of perceptual object segmentation categorization and individual identification at any scale and from any experimental or modeling perspective are solicited for this Research Topic Papers that review particular sets of issues from multiple disciplinary perspectives or that advance integrative hypotheses or models that take data from multiple experimental approaches into account are especially encouraged
