New Creation Christian Feminism The Renewal Of The Earth:

New Creation Catharina J. M. Halkes, 1991-01-01 A bold and visionary book that reveals the false and catastrophically damaging images at the root of the oppression of women and the rape of Earth's resources this book shows the complex link between feminist theology and the ecology movement

Feminism and Christian Tradition Mary-Paula Walsh, 1999-05-30 This annotated bibliography a volume in the Greenwood series Bibliographies and Indexes in Religious Studies provides access to the numerous writings from the 1960s through the 1990s on feminism and Christian tradition Major feminist theologians and sociologists are represented As a guide to further research this cross disciplinary approach presents themes and issues in both a historical and a topical framework An extensive overview of feminism in relation to the women's movement women's studies sociology and American religion introduces the literature and provides a historical context for the nearly one thousand entries that follow Cross referenced throughout the literature is presented in six thematic categories that include introductory and background materials feminism and the development of feminist theology topical literatures in feminist theology feminism and womanist theology religious leadership of women and responses and recent developments Separate author subject and title indexes complete the volume

Animal Theology Andrew Linzey, 1995 Animal rights is animal theology The author argues that historical theology creatively defined must reject humanocentricity He questions the assumption that if theology is to speak on this issue it must only do so on the side of the oppressors His theological query investigates not only the abstractions of theory but also the realities of hunting animal experimentation and genetic engineering He is an important pioneering Christian voice speaking for those who cannot speak for themselves

The Cambridge Companion to Feminist Theology Susan Frank Parsons, 2002-07-04 Feminist theology is a significant movement within contemporary theology The aim of this Companion is to give an outline of feminist theology through an analysis of its overall shape and its major themes so that both its place in and its contributions to the present changing theological landscape may be discerned The two sections of the volume are designed to provide a comprehensive and critical introduction to feminist theology which is authoritative and up to date Written by some of the main figures in feminist theology as well as by younger scholars who are considering their inheritance it offers fresh insights into the nature of feminist theological work The book as a whole is intended to present a challenge for future scholarship since it critically engages with the assumptions of feminist theology and seeks to open ways for women after feminism to enter into the vocation of theology

Feminist Theology Watson, 2003-12-08 Rethinking the Christian faith from a woman's perspective has been an important advancement in modern theology This book introduces the methods ideas and contributions of recent feminist theology to readers encountering the subject for the first time Natalie Watson explores the historical background of feminist theology discusses the value of reading Scripture from a feminist perspective and shows how this approach can offer a critical creative and constructive rereading of the Christian tradition She also sets forth some fresh ideas encouraging people to see feminism not as a threat to the church but as a challenging perspective that actually enhances its life in today's world. An extensive annotated bibliography invites readers to further study, presenting a wealth of books on feminist theology by many well-known authors. Ideal for classroom instruction, discussion groups, and personal study, this volume is an exceptional user-friendly guide to contemporary feminist thought. EcoGothic Andrew Smith, William Hughes, 2015-11-01

This book will provide the first study of how the Gothic engages with ecocritical ideas. Ecocriticism has frequently explored images of environmental catastrophe, the wilderness, the idea of home, constructions of nature, and images of the post-apocalypse, which are also central to a certain type of Gothic literature. By exploring the relationship between the ecocritical aspects of the Gothic and the Gothic elements of the ecocritical, this book provides a new way of looking at both the Gothic and ecocriticism. Writers discussed include Ann Radcliffe, Mary Shelley, Ambrose Bierce, Algernon Blackwood, Margaret Atwood, Cormac McCarthy, Dan Simmons, and Rana Dasgupta. The volume thus explores writing and film across various national contexts, including Britain, America, and Canada, as well as giving due consideration to how such issues might be discussed within a global context. Women and Planning Clara H. Greed, 2003-09-02

The first comprehensive history and analysis of women and the planning movement, covering the philosophical, practical, and policy dimensions. A central theme is how men have rewritten planning in their own image in creating modern urban space. The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theology Mary McClintock Fulkerson, Sheila Briggs, 2012

This volume highlights the relevance of globalization and the insights of gender studies and religious studies for feminist theology. It focuses on the changing global contexts for the field and its movement towards new models of theology, distinct from the forms of traditional Christian systematic theology and of secular feminism. Introducing Feminist Christologies Lisa Isherwood, 2002-03-01

This volume critically engages with the problems traditional Christology raises for feminist theology. It also explores the creative engagements of feminist theologians with the person of Jesus. The Integrated Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Environmentalism S. Steiner-Aeschliman, 1999

The theory and data of environmental science suggest that growth in rates of population, consumption, and environmental degradation as a result of the activities of industrialized societies has created an ecological crisis to which modern societies must adapt. However, adaptation is problematic. Max Weber studied adaptive social change during the industrial revolution. The evolution of this new way of life was initially problematic because individuals who established industrialism were socialized under feudalism. In this dissertation, I consider The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism as a theoretical treatise framed by modern human ecology in order to study social change in the context of the ecological crisis of industrialism. The Protestant Ethic is known for describing how religious ideas influenced the unfolding of modern capitalism in the West. However, there is nothing inherent in Protestantism that requires linkage to industrialism. I argue that Protestantism has evolved and that it need not necessarily promote environmental exploitation, although under industrialism it has. I identify a green subculture within Protestantism and consider how Protestantism's weakness may also be its strength The very sociological structure that in the absence of ecologically realistic norms permits widespread ecosystem degradation by industrial capitalism may also generate ecologically realistic norms for a natural capitalism Weber contended that rationality was problematic because it paradoxically results in a dual crisis of management and meaning where human agency becomes imprisoned as if in an iron cage The irrational continuation of environmentally degrading social practices eventually contributes to a legitimation crisis People turn to religion as an alternative authority If science and religion converge on environmental values they might catalyze social change unless they are too distorted by ideological bias Adaptive social change only occurs if ethical and ecological values are in accordance with the sustainability of ecosystems Hence to adapt to the ecological crisis sociocultural systems require socialization into ecological realism because ecologically rational societies may still be maladaptively organized around environmentally unsustainable trajectories
