New Gender Studies From Cameroon And The Caribbean Gender Issues In Development:

New Gender Studies Joyce Bayande Mbongo Endeley, Richard A. Goodridge, Eudine Barriteau, 2004 This collection of studies is the first title published by the Department of Women the voices representing a wide range of men and women of the faith communities The volume provides examples of research undertaken by the Department of Women Gender Studies in different parts of Cameroon on poverty reduction women plantation workers gender relations within the university and on masculinity in a major city Douala The papers further consider the role of international NGOs and work done by the church in and conclude with two papers on labour relations in Barbados The book is the result of a collaborative international research project Two of the editors both of whom have had long association with Cameroon are from Oxford University and the University of the West Indies Civil Society and the Search for Development Alternatives in Cameroon Yenshu

Vudo, 2008-03-15 This book is a call to reform the framework of civil society and assess its components and roles in shaping the future of Africa The English Speaking Mbos of Cameroon G. Fonsah, F. Fonkeng, 2016-06-13 The Mbos are a large ethnic group in present day Cameroon and an important and powerful group until the Anglo French partition Following the defeat of the colonial power Germany in the First World War WWI the League of Nations in a March 1916 Mandate partitioned the territory into two unequal halves among the victorious imperial powers of England and France to be governed in trust as from 1922 As a result of the partition the Mbos who happened to find themselves right along the lines of division were thrust under French and English administration respectively Roughly two thirds of the Mbos found themselves in what had then become French East Cameroon while the remaining one third was thrust under British West Cameroon rule Today the Mbos as a whole occupy parts of the Littoral and Western Francophone and Southwest Anglophone regions of Cameroon While the Francophone Mbos have over the decades benefited from all aspects of economic social political and agricultural development the Anglophone Mbos have been isolated and deprived of all the outward and physical tangible aspects of socio economic and political progress The persistence of such colonial divisions makes for inequality among the Mbos despite their common ancestry ethnicity and cultural heritage This book seeks to update on diverse aspects of the study conducted on the British Mbos by J W C Rutherford and others as a first step toward a comprehensive publication on the Anglophone Mbos

The Challenges of Nongovernmental Organisations in Anglophone Cameroon Lotsmart N. Fonjong, 2007 It is widely recognised that non governmental organisations NGOs have undertaken an increasingly important role in both human development and environmental conservation efforts in the less developed nations during the past three decades Much of the literature on NGOs focuses on or is sponsored by large Western based international NGOs which themselves undertake or direct many of the development and conservation efforts This book cuts through sensitive subjects including government corruption and manipulation the misuse of NGOs and the limitations of small under funded local development organisations to identify the crucial role of local NGOs in the challenging context of rural development in Sub Saharan African His observations and insights are highly useful and provide important contextual understanding for future human development and environment conservation projects in rural African settings

Identity and Networks Deborah Fahy Bryceson, Judith Okely, Jonathan Meir Webber, 2007 Contrary to the negative assessments of the social order that have become prevalent in the media since 9 11 this collection of essays focuses on the enormous social creativity being invested as collective identities are reconfigured It emphasizes on the reformulation of ethnic and gender relationships and identities in public life

English - Lekongho Dictionary Mehpah, Sentemong, Fonsah, Esendugue Greg, 2019-10-22 In 2005 a United Nations study reported that half of the world's languages estimated at 6 000 would disappear by the end of this century A third of these endangered languages are in Africa where according to the same study nearly 250 languages have disappeared in the last century Language is the heart identity storage system for the collective and unique memory and experience of every culture people including their natural habitat Loss of language means loss of the ability to retain and pass on not just a belief system but also invaluable knowledge to future generations This English Lekongho Lekongho English Dictionary is a modest first attempt to minimize the envisaged sad phenomenon of language loss Nkongho Mbo people speak Lekongho one of the five variants of the Mbo language of the Mbo ethnic group of Cameroon with their ancestral home in the Kupe Muanenguba Administrative Area of the South west Region With this book the authors fervent hope is that there will no longer surface any justification to continue to refrain from speaking Lekongho on a daily basis This effort will help to regionalize nationalize and internationalize the Lekongho language since Nkongho people are spread all over the country Africa and the world

Encounter, Transformation, and Identity Ian Fowler, Verkijika G. Fanso, 2009-07-01 Bringing together key historical and innovative ethnographic materials on the peoples of the South West Province of Cameroon and the Nigerian borderlands this volume presents critical and analytical approaches to the production of ethnic political religious and gendered identities in the region The contributors examine a range of issues relating to identity including first encounters and conflict as well as global networking trans national families enculturation gender resistance and death In addition to a number of very striking illustrations of ethnographic and material culture this volume contains key maps from early German sources and other original cartographical materials

Gender and Plantation Labour in Africa Piet Konings, 2012-07-27 This book explores the relationship between plantation labour and gender in Africa Such a study is the more opportune because most of the existing works on plantation labour in Africa seem to have either under studied or even ignored the changing conceptions of gender on the continent in recent times One of the books major concerns is to demonstrate that the introduction of plantation labour during colonial rule in Africa has had significant consequences for gender roles and relations within and beyond the capitalist labour process The book focuses on two tea estates in Anglophone Cameroon A study of these estates is particularly interesting in that one of them employs mainly female pluckers while the other employs mainly male pluckers This allows for an examination of any variations in male and female workers modes of resistance to the control and exploitation they meet in the labour process Such a comparative analysis is helpful in assessing the widespread managerial assumption on tea estates that female pluckers tend to be more productive and docile than male pluckers Saving the Environment in Sub-Saharan Africa William T. Markham, Lotsmart Fonjong, 2016-04-29 This book describes how NGOs efforts to promote sustainable development are affected by their funding management strategies and relationships with government communities and other NGOs The authors explore implications for theory and offer suggestions for increasing NGO effectiveness The African Book Publishing Record ,2005
