Martin, 1997 V 1 Theory practices and transcontinental articulations v 2 Studies of national cinemas Includes bibliographical references and indexes Teaching Collection (Film Studies), 1997 Latin American Cinema Paul A. Schroeder Rodríguez, 2016-03-08 This book charts a comparative history of Latin America's national cinemas through ten chapters that cover every major cinematic period in the region: silent cinema, studio cinema, neorealism, and art cinema. The New Latin American Cinema and contemporary cinema. Schroeder Rodríguez weaves close readings of approximately fifty paradigmatic films into a lucid narrative history that is rigorous in its scholarship and framed by a compelling theorization of the multiple discourses of modernity. The result is an essential guide that promises to transform our understanding of the region's cultural history in the last hundred years by highlighting how key players such as the church and the state have affected cinema's unique ability to help shape public discourse and construct modern identities in a region marked by ongoing struggles for social justice and liberation. The New Latin American Cinema Zuzana M. Pick, 1993 During the historic 1967 festival of Latin American Cinema in Vina del Mar, Chile, a group of young filmmakers who wanted to use film as an instrument of social awareness and change formed the New Latin American Cinema. Nearly three decades later, the New Cinema has produced an impressive body of films, critical essays, and manifestos that use social theory to inform filmmaking practices. New Latin American Cinema Michael T. Martin, 1997 The New Latin American Cinema Zuzana M. Pick, 2010-01-01 During the 1967 festival of Latin American Cinema in Viña del Mar, Chile, a group of filmmakers who wanted to use film as an instrument of social awareness and change formed the New Latin American Cinema. Nearly three decades later, the New Cinema has produced an impressive body of films, critical essays, and manifestos that use social theory to inform filmmaking practices. This book explores the institutional and aesthetic foundations of the New Latin American Cinema. Zuzana Pick maps out six areas of inquiry: history, authorship, gender, popular cinema, ethnicity, and exile, and explores them through detailed discussions of nearly twenty films and their makers, including Camila, María Luisa Bemberg, The Guns of Ruy Guerra, and Frida. Paul Léduc. These investigations document how the New Latin American Cinema has used film as a tool to change society, to transform national expressions, to support international differences, and to assert regional autonomy. Cinema and Social Change in Latin America Julianne Burton, 2010-06-28 Since the late 1960s, films from Latin America have won widening audiences in North America and Europe. Until now, no single book has offered an introduction to the diverse personalities and practices that make up this important regional film movement. In Cinema and Social Change in Latin America, Julianne Burton presents twenty interviews with key figures of Latin American cinema covering three decades and ranging from Argentina to Mexico. Interviews with pioneers Fernando

Birri Nelson Pereira dos Santos and Glauber Rocha renowned feature filmmakers Tom s Guti rrez Alea and Carlos Diegues prize winning documentarists Patricio Guzm n and Helena Solberg Ladd among others endeavor to balance personal achievement against the backdrop of historical political social and economic circumstances that have influenced each director s career Presented also are conversations that cast light on the related activities of acting distribution theory criticism and film based community organizing More than their counterparts in other regions of the world Latin American artists and intellectuals acknowledge the degree to which culture is shaped by history and politics Since the mid 1950s a period of rising nationalism and regional consciousness talented young artists and activists have sought to redefine the uses of the film medium in the Latin American context Questioning the studio and star systems of the Hollywood industrial model these innovators have developed new forms content and processes of production distribution and reception The specific approaches and priorities of the New Latin American Cinema are far from monolithic They vary from realism to expressionism from observational documentary to elaborate fictional constructs from imperfect cinema to a cinema that emulates the high production values of the developed sectors from self reflexive to transparent cinematic styles from highly industrialized modes of production to purely artisanal ones What does not vary is the commitment to film as a vehicle for social transformation and the expression of national and regional cultural autonomy From early alternative cinema efforts in Argentina Brazil and Cuba to a contemporary perspective from within the Mexican commercial industry to the emerging cinema and video production from Central America Cinema and Social Change in Latin America offers the most comprehensive look at Latin American film available today New Latin American Cinema: Studies of national cinemas Michael T. Martin, 1997 Mapping the historical and cultural contexts of film practices in Latin America this two volume collection of programmatic statements essays and interviews is devoted to the study of a theorized dynamic and unfinished cinematic movement Forged by Latin America s post colonial environment of underdevelopment and dependency the New Latin American Cinema movement has sought to inscribe itself in Latin America s struggles for cultural and economic autonomy Volume One explores the formation of the New Latin American Cinema movement its national and continental implications including the diasporic exilic experience and transcontinental articulations through the writings of pioneer filmmakers and scholars Glauber Rocha Julio Garcia Espinosa Jorge Sanjines Fernando Solanas and Octavio Getino address the central question of the Latin American aesthetic a particular style and production method connected with the political and social conditions and circumstances of Latin America Ana Lopez Julianne Burton and Michael Chanan examine the movement s formation in the 1950s and its development through the 1980s in a socio historical context paying special attention to modes of production and consumption Paul Willemsen assesses the movement s relevance to radical film practice and theory in the First and Third Worlds and Antonio Skarmeta calls for a distribution network of Third World Cinema on a pan European level The volume concludes with essays by Ruby Rich and Zuzana M Pick who address from widely different approaches the issues of the movement's adaptability, renovation and identity in consideration of its evolution since the 1950s. Volume Two, this one, comprises essays on the development of the New Latin American Cinema as a comparative national project. Essays are grouped by nation into two regions: Middle and Central America and Caribbean and South America, for comparative study particularly between capitalist and post-revolutionary socialist formations. The selected essays examine the relationship between cinema and nationhood and the ambiguous categories of culture, identity and nation within the socio-historical specificities of the movement's development, especially in Cuba, Brazil, Mexico, Chile and Argentina. This collection will serve as an essential reference and research tool for the study of world cinema. The collection, while celebrating the diversity and innovation of the New Latin American Cinema, explicates the historical importance of filmmaking as a cultural form and political practice in Latin America.
