History of the Inductive Sciences William Whewell, 1837 History of the inductive sciences from the earliest to the present time v. 1 William Whewell, 1858 Pursuing the Unity of Science Harmke Kamminga, Geert Somsen, 2016-05-20 From 1918 to the late 1940s a host of influential scientists and intellectuals in Europe and North America were engaged in a number of far reaching unity of science projects In this period of deep social and political divisions scientists collaborated to unify sciences across disciplinary boundaries and to set up the international scientific community as a model for global political co operation They strove to align scientific and social objectives through rational planning and to promote unified science as the driving force of human civilization and progress This volume explores the unity of science movement providing a synthetic view of its pursuits and placing it in its historical context as a scientific and political force Through a coherent set of original case studies looking at the significance of various projects and strategies of unification the book highlights the great variety of manifestations of this endeavour These range from unifying nuclear physics to the evolutionary synthesis and from the democratization of scientific planning to the utopianism of H G Wells s world state At the same time the collection brings out the substantive links between these different pursuits especially in the form of interconnected networks of unification and the alignment of objectives among them Notably it shows that opposition to fascism using the instrument of unified science became the most urgent common goal in the 1930s and 1940s In addressing these issues the book makes visible important historical developments showing how scientists participated in and actively helped to create an interwar ideology of unification and bringing to light the cultural and political significance of this enterprise History of the Inductive Sciences from the Earliest to the Present Time by William Whewell , 1847 Role of National Laboratories in Science, Mathematics and Engineering Education United States. , 1998      Network Science National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Board on Army Science and Technology, Committee on Network Science for Future Army Applications, 2005-12-15 The military is currently attempting to develop itself into a force capable of networkcentric operations While this effort has highlighted the military's dependence on interacting networks it has also shown that there is a huge gap between what we need to know about networks and our fundamental knowledge about network behavior This gap makes the military vision of NCO problematic To help address this problem the Army asked the NRC to find out whether identifying and funding a new field of network science could help close this gap This report presents an examination of networks and the military an analysis of the promise content and challenges of network science and an assessment of approaches to creating value from network science
