Parsons, 2005-09-23 Much of the twentieth century saw broad political support for public funding of American higher education Liberals supported public investment because it encouraged social equity conservatives because it promoted economic development Recently however the politics of higher education have become more contentious Conservatives advocate deep cuts in public financing liberals want to expand enrollment and increase diversity Some public universities have embraced privatization while federal aid for students increasingly emphasizes middle class affordability over universal access In Public Funding of Higher Education scholars and practitioners address the complexities of this new climate and its impact on policy and political advocacy at the federal state and institutional levels Rethinking traditional rationales for public financing contributors to this volume offer alternatives for policymakers administrators faculty students and researchers struggling with this difficult practical dynamic Contributors M Christopher Brown II Pennsylvania State University Jason L Butler University of Illinois Choong Geun Ching Indiana University Clifton F Conrad University of Wisconsin Madison Saran Donahoo University of Illinois James Farmer JA SIG uPortal James C Hearn Vanderbilt University Janet M Holdsworth University of Minnesota Don Hossler Indiana University John R Thelin University of Kentucky Mary Louise Trammell University of Arizona David J Weerts University of Wisconsin Madison William Zumeta University of Washington

Policy-Making in Education Miriam Ben-Peretz, 2009-04-16 This book is based on the notion that an adequate response to globalization challenges requires a holistic approach to several different dimensions immigration technology economy and environment as well as effective collaboration and coordination among the central domains of education curriculum teaching and teacher education Several cases of policy making are presented in order to elicit common features as guidelines for the holistic policy making model proposed in this book First this central framework views the different dimensions of globalization as requiring connection and integration Second the proposed approach asserts that three major aspects of education that are vital for policy in education curriculum teaching and teacher education must also be integrated Finally the process of policy making is perceived as requiring close interaction and coordination between diverse stakeholders and representatives of the different aspects of globalization The book presents a conceptual model for policy making as well as details of operational steps in this process Management Innovations for Healthcare Organizations Anders

Örtenblad, Carina Abrahamson Löffström, Rod Sheaff, 2015-11-19 Innovations in management are becoming more numerous and diverse and are appearing in organizations providing many different kinds of products and services The purpose of this book is to examine whether some widely promoted examples of these management innovations ranging from techniques such as Kaizen to styles of leadership and the management of learning can usefully be applied to organizations which provide healthcare and applied in different kinds of health systems Management Innovations for Healthcare Organizations is distinctive in selecting a wide and diverse range and selection of managerial innovations to examine No less distinctively it makes an adaptive critical scrutiny of these innovations Neither evangelist nor nihilist the book instead considers how these innovations might be adapted for the specific task of providing healthcare Where evidence on these points is available the book outlines that too Consequently the book takes an international approach with contributions from Europe the Middle East Australia and North America Each contributor is an expert in the management innovation which they present This combination of features makes the book unique
