Raincoast Chronicles 16 Time And Tide A History Of Telegraph Cove:

Raincoast Chronicles 23 Peter A. Robson, 2015-04-25 When the first edition of Raincoast Chronicles was produced by a couple of novice publishers in the unlikely location of Pender Harbour in 1972 it boldly announced that it was going to put BC character on the record Printed in sepia ink and decorated with the rococo flourishes characteristic of that extravagant era the unclassifiable journal cum serial book about life on the BC coast struck a nerve and in time became something very close to what it set out to be a touchstone of British Columbia identity Soon the term Raincoast which had been coined by the editors was appearing on boats puppet theatres interior decorating firms and at least one other publishing enterprise Raincoast Chronicles also created another publishing enterprise Harbour Publishing Many of the stories that started out as articles in the Chronicles grew into books and so the White family was more or less forced to get into book publishing to deal with them That undertaking went on to publish some six hundred books and counting about every possible aspect of BC and in 2014 celebrated its fortieth anniversary in the biz To honour that occasion this special double issue of Raincoast Chronicles takes a tour down memory lane selecting a trove of the most outstanding stories in all those Harbour books and republishing them in one volume Here are some of Canada's most exciting and iconic writers Al Purdy Anne Cameron Edith Iglauer Patrick Lane and Grant Lawrence to start a long list Here also are stories of disasters at sea scarcely believable bush plane feats eerie events at coastal ghost towns and a First Nations elder who has seen so many sasquatches he finds them sort of boring Full of great drawings and photos this jumbo anniversary edition of Raincoast Chronicles is a feast of great Pacific Northwest storytelling

Time and Tide Pat Wastell Norris, 1995 The Wastell family had much to contend with on a daily basis Besides running a sawmill and surviving in very un genteel circumstances Norris's mother a registered nurse was the only source of medical help in the community Not surprisingly she had to treat all types of ailments ranging from pneumonia to severed fingers and deliver numerous babies in all sorts of conditions The sawmill's tugboat often had to serve double duty as an emergency ambulance It was not an easy life or childhood for Norris and her younger sister but it was an exciting one She never learned how to ride a bicycle but she could row a skiff or hook a runaway log as well as any grownup As kids Norris and her sister ventured out in an open boat with a 2 hp engine to salvage wood all the time contending with tides and unpredictable weather They grew up in a world of kelp dolls and killer whales and a very odd assortment of West Coast eccentrics new Canadians with little English mill workers coastal drifters in leaky boats and jacks of all trades from the streets of Vancouver Norris's memoir full of humour hardship and remarkable events is one of the more charming and insightful portraits we have yet had of upcoast life between the wars a busy and colourful period justifiably described as the golden age of the BC coast

Boom & Bust Jennifer L. Butler, 2019-06-11 Received Honourable Mention for the 2019 Lieutenant Governor's Medal for Historical Writing Telegraph Cove one of Vancouver Island's most visited tourist destinations has humble origins as a one shack telegraph station established a century ago The community grew first with a salmon saltery and sawmill then with new industries developed by the ingenuity of the Cove's inhabitants From the 1920s Irish Chinese Japanese German Danish Italian and English community members along with other old and new Canadians were neighbours in a place accessible only by boat In this book more than 25 women tell their own stories and memories of life in the Cove They faced down the impacts of isolation hazardous terrain war occupation immigration internment social change economic development community decline and environmental degradation remarkable given that Telegraph Cove's population peaked at 60 From these lives come stories of resilience resourcefulness heartbreak humour and triumph Boom and Bust draws the reader in for an intimate view accompanied by never before published archival photographs

A Resonant Ecology Max Ritts, 2024-08-30 In A Resonant Ecology Max Ritts traces how sound's integration into the environmental politics of Canada's North Coast has paved the way for massive industrial expansion While conservationists hope that the dissemination of whale songs and other nature sounds will showcase the beauty of local wildlife for people around the world Ritts reveals how colonial capitalism can co-opt sonic efforts to protect the coast He demonstrates how digital technologies allow industry to sonically map new shipping lanes and facilitate new ways of experiencing sound premised not on listening but on sound's exploitable status as a data resource By outlining how sound can both perpetuate and refuse capitalist colonialism Ritts challenges the idea that the sonic realm is inherently liberatory and reveals sound to be a powerfully uncertain object Through a situated geographical approach he makes the case that only a decolonial and multigenerational environmental politics can counter the false promise of sustainable marine development held up by industry and the state
