Proceedings of the conference held in Bandar Seri Begawan April 1993 Peopled Landscapes Simon Haberle,Bruno David,2012-01-01 This volume brings together a collection of papers from a diverse field of international scholars exploring the multiple ways that East Timorese communities are making and remaking their connections to land and places of ancestral significance The work is explicitly comparative and highlights the different ways Timorese language communities negotiate access and transactions in land disputes and inheritance especially in areas subject to historical displacement and resettlement Consideration is extended to the role of ritual performance and social alliance for inscribing connection and entitlement Emerging through analysis is an appreciation of how relations to land articulated in origin discourses are implicated in the construction of national culture and differential contributions to the struggle for independence Publisher s description

Phytochemistry of Australia's Tropical Rainforest Cheryll J. Williams,2021-12-01 Rare unique and irreplaceable precious native rainforests occupy a precariously small part of Australia while retaining a remarkable level of both biological and chemical diversity unrivalled by any other ecosystem Australia s ancient history and traditions are intimately intertwined with the rainforest plants that humans have utilised as both food and medicine Phytochemistry of Australia s Tropical Rainforest is a record of this history and details how our understanding of these plants has led to the discovery of anaesthetics analgesics steroids antimalarials and more It provides an insight into the habitat ecology and family associations of hundreds of species and explores their future therapeutic potential alongside phytochemical studies of the ancient plant lineages Toxicological evaluations of important poisonous plants are also included Rainforests provide shelter for unique flora and fauna that are counted among the rarest species on Earth many of which are illustrated in this book This comprehensive work is an essential reference for phytochemists ethnobotanists and those with an interest in rainforests and their medicinal and botanical potential Journal of the Royal Society of New Zealand ,1993-12 The Invertebrate

World of Australia's Subtropical Rainforests Geoff Williams,2020-09-01 The Invertebrate World of Australia s Subtropical Rainforests is a comprehensive review of Australia s Gondwanan rainforest invertebrate fauna covering its taxonomy distribution biogeography fossil history plant community and insect plant relationships This is the first work to document the invertebrate diversity of this biologically important region as well as explain the uniqueness and importance of the organisms This book examines invertebrates within the context of the plant world that they are dependent on and offers an understanding of Australia s outstanding but still largely unknown subtropical rainforests All major and many minor invertebrate taxa are described and the book includes a section of colour photos of distinctive species There is also a strong emphasis on plant and habitat associations and fragmentation impacts as well as a focus on the regionally inclusive

Bradstock, Jann E. Williams, Malcolm A. Gill, 2002 Fire is pivotal to the functioning of ecosystems in Australia affecting the distribution and abundance of the continent s unique and highly diverse range of plants and animals Conservation of this natural biodiversity therefore requires a good understanding of scientific processes involved in the action of fire on the landscape This book provides an up to date synthesis of current knowledge in this area and its application in contemporary land management Central to the discussion is an exploration of the concept of the fire regime and its interactions with biodiversity Australian Palms John L. Crow, 2008-08-30 Increasing evidence suggests that the composition and spatial configuration the pattern of forest landscapes affect many ecological processes including the movement and persistence of particular species the susceptibility and spread of disturbances such as fires or pest outbreaks and the redistribution of matter and nutrients Understanding these issues is key to the successful management of complex multifunctional forest landscapes and landscape ecology based on a foundation of island biogeography and meta population dynamic theories provides the rationale to deal with this pattern to process interaction at different spatial and temporal scales This carefully edited volume represents a stimulating addition to the international literature on landscape ecology and resource management It provides key insights into some of the applicable landscape ecological theories that underlie forest management with a specific focus on how forest management can benefit from landscape ecology and how landscape ecology can be advanced by tackling challenging problems in forest landscape management It also presents a series of case studies from Europe Asia North America Africa and Australia exploring the issues of disturbance diversity management and scale and with a specific focus on how human intervention affects forest landscapes and in turn how landscapes influence humans and their culture An important reference for advanced students and researchers in landscape ecology conservation biology forest ecology natural resource management and ecology across multiple scales the book will also appeal to researchers and practitioners in reserve design ecological restoration forest management landscape planning and landscape architecture
