Srednicki, 2012-12-02 At least eighty percent of the mass of the universe consists of some material which unlike ordinary matter neither emits nor absorbs light This book collects key papers related to the discovery of this astonishing fact and its profound implications for astrophysics cosmology and the physics of elementary particles The book focuses on the likely possibility that the dark matter is composed of an as yet undiscovered elementary particle and examines the boundaries of our present knowledge of the properties such a particle must possess

Astrophysical Formulae Kenneth Lang, 2013-11-11

This book is meant to be a reference source for the fundamental formulae of astrophysics. Wherever possible the original source of the material being presented is referenced together with references to more recent modifications and applications. More accessible reprints and translations of the early papers are also referenced. In this way the reader is provided with the often ignored historical context together with an orientation to the more recent literature. Any omission of a reference is of course not meant to reflect on the quality of its contents. In order to present a wide variety of concepts in one volume a concise style is used and derivations are presented for only the simpler formulae. Extensive derivations and explanatory comments may be found in the original references or in the books listed in the selected bibliography which follows. Following the convention in astrophysics the CGS centimeter gram second system of units is used unless otherwise noted. To conserve space the fundamental constants are not always defined and unless otherwise noted the following symbols have the following meaning and value:

Symbol	Meaning	Value
c	Speed of light in vacuum	$2.997924562 \times 10^{10}$ cm/s
h	Planck's constant	6.626196×10^{-27} erg s
$\hbar$	Rationalized Planck's constant	$1.0545919 \times 10^{-27}$ erg s
k	Boltzmann's constant	1.380622×10^{-16} erg/K

Astrophysical Formulae Kenneth R. Lang, 2013-06-29

A. POKROVSKII, A. V. ZASOV and Yu. K. ZEMTSOV. Supplemental references for the period 1974 to 1980 have also been added as appendix where they are included under the headings of general references and specific references for each chapter. Although specialized references come mainly from American journals, references to reviews and books are also included to help guide the reader to other sources. The author encourages suggestions for additions and corrections to possible future editions of this volume.
