Grimm, 1973 The Reformation Era 1500-1650 Harold J. Grimm, 1971 China and the West to 1600 Steven Wallech, 2016-03-30 A comparative history of Chinese and Western Civilization from the dawn of agriculture to the dawn of modernity in Europe China and the West to 1600 explores the factors that led to the divergent evolution of two major cultures of the ancient world and considers how the subsequent developments saw one culture cling to tradition even as the other failed to do so inadvertently setting the stage for the birth of the Modern Era An accessible and inventive comparative history suitable for all students at the college level as well as general readers Compares the history of Chinese civilization with Western civilization from the rise of agriculture to the dawn of the modern period Explores the ways in which Western failures in the Middle Ages after the Roman Empire s collapse and China s successes in the same period laid the groundwork for each culture s divergent path in the modern period Makes meaningful connections between cultures and over time through the use of themes such as agriculture philosophy religion and warfare and invasion Bridges the gap between antiquity and modernity looking at many factors of the global Middle Ages that influenced the development of the modern world Features a timeline maps endnotes and complete index History of the Church: Reformation and Counter Reformation Hubert Jedin, John Patrick Dolan, 1980 Early Modern Europe, 1450-1789 Merry E. Wiesner, 2006-03-06 Accessible engaging textbook offering an innovative account of people s lives in the early modern period The What and the Why of History Goldstein, 2021-12-06 The What and the Why of History deals with history as a cognitive discipline concerned to establish justifiable knowledge about a past we can never experience It is divided into three parts The first focuses on the conditions that are presupposed when historians offer explanations of what they have come to know But whatever is to be explained must first come to be known and the second part is concerned with the character of the cognitive activity which is the constitution of the historical past The point is that we must attend to the historical enterprise on its own terms and not try to make it fit the epistemology of natural science or of common sense The last section deals with Collingwood It is shown that his characteristic positions contribute to an account of historical knowing not historical explanation The Anabaptist View of the Church Franklin H. Littell, 2001-04
