Carnet de voyage 12x18cm Translation Revisited Mamadou Diawara, Elísio S. Macamo, Jean-Bernard Ouédraogo, 2019-01-17 How realistic is it to expect translation to render the world intelligible in a context shaped by different historical trajectories and experiences Can we rely on human universals to translate through the unique and specific webs of meaning that languages represent If knowledge production is a kind of translation then it is fair to assume that the possibility of translation has largely rested on the idea that Western experience is the repository of these human universals against the background of which different human experiences can be rendered intelligible The problem with this assumption however is that there are limits to Western claims to universalism mainly because these claims were at the service of the desire to justify imperial expansion This book addresses issues arising from these claims to universalism in the process of producing knowledge about diverse African social realities It shows that the idea of knowledge production as translation can be usefully deployed to inquire into how knowledge of Africa translates into an imperial attempt at changing local norms institutions and spiritual values Translation in this sense is the normalization of meanings issuing from a local historical experience claiming to be universal The task of producing knowledge of African social realities cannot be adequately addressed without a prior critical engagement with how translation has come to shape our ways of rendering institutional and regulatory reform to establish a more favorable environment for private initiative The fourth edition of Historical Dictionary of Benin covers its history through a chronology an introductory essay and an extensive bibliography

The dictionary section has over 900 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about d Ivoire Engaging the histories representational repertoires and performative identities of men in Abidjan and across the Black Atlantic Jordanna Matlon shows how French colonial legacies and media tropes of Blackness act as powerful axes rooting masculine identity and value within labor consumerism and commodification Through a broad chronological and transatlantic scope that culminates in a deep ethnography of the livelihoods and lifestyles of men in Abidjan s informal economy Matlon demonstrates how men s subjectivities are formed in dialectical tension by and through hegemonic ideologies of race and patriarchy A Man among Other Men provides a theoretically innovative historically grounded and empirically rich account of Black masculinity that illuminates the sustained power of imaginaries even as capitalism affords a deficit of material opportunities Revealed is a story of Black abjection set against the anticipation of male privilege a story of the long crisis of Black masculinity in racial capitalism This book has received honorable mentions by the African Studies Association Best Book Prize by the American Anthropological Association Society for the Anthropology of Work Best Book and multiple honorable mentions by the American Sociological Association Sociology of Development Section Race Gender and Class Section and Sociology of Sex and Gender Section

The Culture of Mental Illness and Psychiatric Practice in Africa Emmanuel Kwaku Akyeampong, Allan G. Hill, Arthur Kleinman, 2015-05-01 In many African countries mental health issues including the burden of serious mental illness and trauma have not been adequately addressed These essays shed light on the treatment of common and chronic mental disorders including mental illness and treatment in the current climate of economic and political instability access to health care access to medicines and the impact of HIV AIDS and other chronic illness on mental health While problems are rampant and carry real and devastating consequences this volume promotes an understanding of the African mental health landscape in service of reform

Rereading Camara Laye Adele King, 2002-01-01 Camara Laye 1928 80 traveled to France from his native Guinea in 1947 on a scholarship to study automobile mechanics While there he was encouraged by a supporter of the French Union to record the memories of his childhood The resulting book L Enfant noir was praised for its style and its uncritical attitude toward French colonization A year later Laye published Le Regard du roi a Kafkaesque story of a white man in Africa which was very different in tone style and content from L Enfant noir and from any other African literature being published at the time L Enfant noir and Le Regard du roi became seminal works of African fiction in French and were translated into English as The African Child and The Radiance of the King Adele King met Camara Laye in 1978 two years before his death and in 1980 published the principal study about him The Writings of Camara Laye In 1991 King set out to disprove rumors that Laye was not the author of one of his novels Le Regard du roi Instead she became convinced that the rumors were true and in the process unexpectedly discovered a far more interesting story about the creation of Laye as an author and public figure Rereading Camara Laye describes King s research which has taken more than ten years Her inquiry involved finding those who knew Laye in Paris in the 1950s and interviewing them when possible as well as examining documents in libraries and archives in France and Belgium King's findings provide important insights into French publishing and colonial politics in the years following World War II. She also shows how interpretations of Laye's novels have been shaped by the assumption that they were written by an African.
