The Books that Shaped Art History: From Gombrich and Greenberg to Alpers and Krauss Richard Shone, John-Paul Stonard, 2013-04-05. An exemplary survey that reassesses the impact of the most important books to have shaped art history through the twentieth century. Written by some of today's leading art historians and curators, this new collection provides an invaluable road map of the field by comparing and reexamining canonical works of art history. From Michelangelo's magisterial study of thirteenth-century French art, first published in 1898, to Hans Belting's provocative Likeness and Presence: A History of the Image before the Era of Art, the book provides a concise and insightful overview of the history of art told through its most enduring literature. Each of the essays looks at the impact of a single major book of art history, mapping the intellectual development of the writer under review, setting out the premises and argument of the book, considering its position within the broader field of art history, and analyzing its significance in the context of both its initial reception and its afterlife. An introduction by John Paul Stonard explores how art history has been forged by outstanding contributions to scholarship and by the dialogues and ruptures between them.

Seeing and Beyond Deborah J. Johnson, David Ogawa, Kermit Swiler Champa, 2005. This volume is an exciting, eclectic collection of essays in honor of Kermit S. Champa, a leading scholar of impressionism and critic of twentieth-century art. The lead essay by David Carrier is followed by others from several generations of scholars and museum curators trained by Professor Champa. Together they cover an extremely wide historical range from the eighteenth to the twenty-first centuries and honor Professor Champa's own scholarly rigor, methodological diversity, and intellectual breadth through topics ranging from art history to cultural studies.

Jacket: Aesthetics After Modernism Diarmuid Costello, 2024. Aesthetics after Modernism argues for the ongoing relevance of aesthetics to art after modernism. In it, I show that even what are typically taken to be the hardest of hard cases engage us in recognisably aesthetic ways and as such remain amenable to aesthetic analysis. Why, if that is true, do so many art theorists, critics, and sometimes even artists appear to think otherwise? I trace the artworld's rejection of aesthetic theory to Clement Greenberg's success in co-opting the discourse of aesthetics, notably Kant's aesthetics, to underwrite his own formalism about modernist art. Not only has this led to Kant being tarred with the brush of Greenbergian formalism, it has also led critics and theorists of later art to miss the resources of the aesthetic tradition, perhaps especially Kant, for capturing what is distinctive about our cognitive relation to the kinds of art that interest them. There is a tendency simply to assume that Kant's aesthetics cannot speak to the more conceptual aspects of our interactions with art. I trace the legacy of Greenberg's modernism and formalism for later art criticism and theory, before offering an interpretation of Kant's theory of art that seeks to show otherwise I take Conceptual Art as my test case here is a form of art that often claims to forgo sensible properties altogether But if Kant's aesthetics can accommodate to our cognitive relation to art with no sensible features relevant to its appreciation as art then it should in principle withstand the challenge of any form of art Great Art Critics (1750-2000) J. Pedro Lorente, 2020-04-01 The art world has become a point of contention within a range of debates and yet strangely enough while art criticism has been discussed at length very little is said about art critics Following in the footsteps of Lionello Venturi's History of Art Criticism in the current volume Lorente provides an updated reassessment of the great art critics from the Enlightenment down to the turn of the millennium Conceived as a didactic handbook with a recommended bibliography at the end of each chapter this concise work tells the history of a profession in permanent crisis while also paying homage to its most influential practitioners in different cultural contexts Beyond the Essay Film Julia Vassilieva, Deane Williams, 2025-10-01

In the wake of the explosion in the production of essay films over the last 25 years and its subsequent theorization in scholarly literature this volume seeks to historicize these intertwined developments within the long duration of the 20th century and into the 21st By raising the issue of beyond the essay film this collection seeks not only to acknowledge the influential predecessors of this in the view of many critics the most interesting type of contemporary filmmaking but also to speculate about its possible transformation as we move forward into the uncharted waters of the 21st digital century Beyond the Essay Film focusses on three specific axes that underpin and shape the articulation of the essay film as a specific cultural form subjectivity textuality and technology to explore how changes along and across these dimensions affect historical shifts within the essay film practice and its relation to other types of cinema and neighbouring art forms

Systems We Have Loved Eve Meltzer, 2013-07-02 By the early 1960s theorists like Lévi Strauss Lacan Foucault and Barthes had created a world ruled by signifying structures and pictured through the grids of language information and systems Artists soon followed turning to language and its related forms to devise a new conceptual approach to art making Examining the ways in which artists shared the structuralist devotion to systems of many sorts Systems We Have Loved shows that even as structuralism encouraged the advent of conceptual art it also raised intractable problems that artists were forced to confront Considering such notable art figures as Mary Kelly Robert Morris Robert Rauschenberg and Rosalind Krauss Eve Meltzer argues that during this period the visual arts depicted and tested the far reaching claims about subjectivity espoused by theorists She offers a new way of framing two of the twentieth century's most transformative movements one artistic one expansively theoretical and she reveals their shared dream or nightmare of the world as a system of signs By endorsing this view Meltzer proposes these artists drew attention to the fictions and limitations of this dream even as they risked getting caught in the very systems they had adopted The first book to describe art's embrace of the world as an information system Systems We Have Loved breathes new life into the study of conceptual art Weak Painting After Modernism Craig Staff, 2023-09-01 This book examines the terms upon which painting in the United States sought to negotiate with the legacy of American formalist aesthetics and by extension the understanding of modernist painting it had become most readily associated with In so doing a separate set of possibilities for painting gradually began to emerge The salient debates and practices that collectively worked to establish such a response are approached through the philosopher Gianni Vattimo's idea of pensiero debole or so called weak thought To this end the proposed study both identifies and seeks to examine a type of weak painting which like Vattimo's idea took as its critical point of departure the exhaustion but not the vanishing of the project of modernism the belief in reason progress history the nation state etc Craig Staff explores particular instances wherein artists sought to extend the parameters of the object beyond what had been called into question namely the proclivity for modernist painting's strength to be understood as denoting amongst other things a perceived set of universal essences This book will be of interest to scholars working in art history fine art cultural studies critical theory curatorial studies and philosophy

End-of-Art Philosophy in Hegel, Nietzsche and Danto Stephen Snyder, 2018-11-04 This book examines the little understood end of art theses of Hegel Nietzsche and Danto The end of art claim is often associated with the end of a certain standard of taste or skill However at a deeper level it relates to a transformation in how we philosophically understand our relation to the world Hegel Nietzsche and Danto each strive philosophically to overcome Cartesian dualism redrawing the traditional lines between mind and matter Hegel sees the overcoming of the material in the ideal Nietzsche levels the two worlds into one and Danto divides the world into representing and non representing material These attempts to overcome dualism necessitate notions of the self that differ significantly from traditional accounts the redrawn boundaries show that art and philosophy grasp essential but different aspects of human existence Neither perspective however fully grasps the duality The appearance of art's end occurs when one aspect is given priority for Hegel and Danto it is the essentialist lens of philosophy and in Nietzsche's case the transformative power of artistic creativity Thus the book makes the case that the end of art claim is avoided if a theory of art links the internal practice of artistic creation to all of art's historical forms
