30 Years Among the Dead Dead Carl Wickland, 2023-12-21 In 30 Years Among the Dead Dead Carl Wickland presents a compelling exploration of psychical research and the realm of spirits drawn from his extensive experience as a psychiatrist. The book intricately weaves anecdotal evidence with rigorous observations drawing upon Wickland's encounters with deceased entities through mediums and his own innovative therapeutic practices. Literary in its approach, Wickland's style is both accessible and scholarly, situating his findings within the broader context of early 20th century spiritualism and mental health discourse which often intersected with supernatural beliefs during that era. Wickland, a pioneering figure in the field of spirit release therapy, was influenced by his encounters with patients suffering from what he termed spirit possession. His professional background as a psychiatrist armed him with a unique perspective allowing him to approach spiritual phenomena with a scientific rigor rarely seen in his contemporaries. His dedication to understanding the intersection of the mental and the metaphysical led him to document his experiences extensively, culminating in this revealing work. Highly recommended for those with an interest in the paranormal, psychical research, and the philosophical implications of life after death, 30 Years Among the Dead serves as both an enlightening account and a unique methodological contribution to the discourse surrounding the spiritual and psychological dimensions of human experience. A Handbook on Hanging

Charles Duff, 1999-10-31 A Handbook on Hanging is a Swiftian tribute to that unappreciated mainstay of civilization, the hangman. With barbed insouciance, Charles Duff writes not only of hanging but of electrocution, decapitations, and gassings of innocent men executed and of executions botched, of the bloodlust of mobs and the shabby excuses of the great. This coruscating and in contemporary America very relevant polemic makes clear that whatever else capital punishment may be said to be, justice, vengeance, a deterrent, it is certainly killing. Commentary on the New Testament from the Talmud and Midrash

Hermann Strack, Paul Billerbeck, 2023-02-01 Hermann L. Strack and Paul Billerbeck's Commentary on the New Testament from the Talmud and Midrash is an important reference work for illustrating the concepts, theological background, and cultural assumptions of the New Testament. The commentary walks through each New Testament book, verse by verse, referencing potentially illuminating passages from the Talmud and Midrash and providing easy access to the rich textual world of rabbinic material. Volume 1 comments on the Gospel of Matthew. Originally published between 1922 and 1928 as Kommentar zum Neuen Testament aus Talmud und Midrasch, Strack and Billerbeck's commentary has been unavailable in English until now. Dead Woman Walking

Anette Ballinger, 2019-05-24 This title was first published in 2000. Between 1900 and 1950, 130 women were sentenced to death for murder in England and Wales. Only 12 of these women were actually executed. Thus, 91 per cent of women murderers had their sentence commuted, whereas if we examine the corresponding figures for men, only 39 per cent had their sentence commuted. It would appear that state servants working within the criminal justice system were far more reluctant to hang women than men. However, this text argues that a closer examination of this apparent discrepancy reveals it to be a misconception which has come about as a result of the statistics regarding infanticide That is to say unlike men the vast majority of women murderers have killed their own child or children Once this is taken into account we find that women who had murdered an adult had less hope of a reprieve than men Thus the author shows that the large proportion of women murderers as killers of their own children has created a false impression of how female murderers fared inside the criminal justice system

Women and Capital Punishment in America, 1840-1899

Kerry Segrave, 2008-04-30 Perhaps the single medium in which women have been consistently treated as equal to men is the American judicial system Although the system has met with enormous public condemnation equality under the law has justified the legal execution of nearly six hundred American women since 1632 This book profiles the lives and cases of selected women sentenced to capital punishment in America between 1840 and 1899 most of whom were executed by hanging The book is divided into chapters by decades chronologically following a summary of the long and heated debate regarding women and capital punishment Also evident is the influence of the 1870s women's rights movement on the issue Each chapter concludes with a comprehensive list of all women executed in the United States during the respective decade specifying age ethnicity and criminal conviction

Parliamentary Debates New South Wales. Parliament, 1888

Hanging in the Balance Brian P. Block, John Hostettler, 1997-09-30 Hanging in the Balance traces the history of capital punishment in the United Kingdom from ancient times to the modern day through periods of reform until hanging for murder was finally abolished by Parliament in 1969 It describes in detail the Parliamentary and public debates and notes the stance taken by organizations and individuals including the tenacious and persistent Sydney Silverman MP The book collates data and references not previously brought together in one place and in exploring the underlying issues and the recurring arguments about deterrence retribution and expediency it provides an invaluable resource vis a vis the same debate in the many countries where capital punishment still exists Lord Callaghan was home secretary at the time of abolition His Foreword conveys how strong his personal feelings were concerning the death penalty from the time he entered Parliament in 1945 The book's closing chapters record how his insistence that abolition should become permanent ultimately overcame the still considerable opposition Capital punishment was finally abolished in 1999 throughout the UK For all practical purposes this had already happened in 1969 when the Murder Abolition of Death Penalty Act 1965 was made fully effective into following a trial period
