Teaching, Learning, Literacy in Our High-Risk High-Tech World James Paul Gee,2017

This is a profound look at learning language and literacy It is also about brains and bodies And it is about talk texts media and society These topics though usually studied in different narrow academic silos are all part of one highly interactive process human development Gee argues that children will need to be resilient imaginative hopeful and deliberate learners to survive the deeply complex and unpredictable world in which they live In a world beset by conflicting ideologies that give rise to hatred violence and war Gee urges us to look to a broader set of ideas from seemingly unrelated disciplines for a viable vision of education This book proposes a framework of principles that can be used to reconceptualize education specifically literacy education to better prepare students to be collaborators toward peace and sustainability A highly readable tour de force on development teaching and learning in the digital age I think of Gee as an heir to Dewey David C Berliner Arizona State University This is the boldest and broadest of Gee s already expansive and influential body of work a must read for citizens parents educators and academics Glynda A Hull University of California Berkeley The world would be a better place if all educators took seriously Gee s recommendations to keep the long battle for human dignity going Diana Hess University of Wisconsin Madison
