Making A Living Changing Livelihoods In Rural Africa:

Making a Living Elizabeth Francis, 2000 Livelihoods in rural Africa are changing to respond to disappearing job prospects falling agricultural output and collapsing infrastructure The responses to these challenges vary in different parts of Africa This book explains why

Making a Living Elizabeth Francis, 2019-05-20 Livelihoods in rural Africa are changing in response to disappearing job prospects falling agricultural output and collapsing infrastructure This book explains why the responses to these challenges are so different in different parts of Africa Making a Living uses case studies from commercial farming regions in Kenya Tanzania and Zimbabwe and from much poorer areas within eastern and southern Africa to give a broad comparative study of rural livelihoods These case studies reveal how household relations poverty and gender all play a part in the changing political economy of rural Africa

Livelihoods and Landscapes Paul Hebinck, Peter Lent, 2007-07-30 Drawing on original data secondary literature aerial photographs and archives this book analyzes changes in the use of the landscape and the nature of rural livelihoods in two South African villages Taking an interdisciplinary approach on how livelihoods and landscapes in the Eastern Cape link the text provides a comprehensive study of the patterns of land use over time Three separate chapters focus on cropping and cultivation practices livestock and foraging as well as the gathering of wild plants The book gives a vivid picture of the social dynamics and the interaction between urban and rural It depicts the steady deterioration in agricultural production and the corresponding increase in dependence on social grants and wages Despite this trend remnants of a peasantry do exist

Mothers and Schooling Fibian Lukalo, 2021-11-29 This ground breaking book opens new horizons in understanding educational decision making and how schooling patterns are shaped by and reshape rural communities It provides a humane portrait of the struggles faced by mothers in rural Kenya to educate their children despite the free education policy Based on a prize winning study examining mothers attitudes to education in a rural Kenyan community this vividly nuanced ethnographic work draws upon African feminist perspectives to describe the livelihoods and aspirations of 32

mothers responsible for over 180 children It explores the effects of mothers school histories and the constraining effects of land practices and patriarchal culture on their actions Their school choice and engagement strategies reflect different facilitating environments their educational values the use of social mothering practices and reliance on kinship reciprocity The findings illustrate the importance of recognising the diversity of mothers situations within this small community and the pressures they face to be good mothers who school their children Mothers and Schooling highlights the importance of mothers educational agency and is essential reading for anthropologists of education those working in gender studies poverty alleviation strategists educational researchers teachers and policy makers who wish to improve the success of Education for All for the children of women living in Southern rural poverty Food Remittances: Migration and Food Security in Africa

Crush, Jonathan, Caesar, Mary, 2017-01-17 There is considerable evidence from across the African continent that a significant proportion of cash remittances to rural areas is spent on food However bidirectional food remitting its drivers dimensions and impacts is an underdeveloped research and policy area This report therefore reviews the current state of knowledge about food remittances in Africa and aims to make a number of contributions to the study of the relationship between migration and food security Livelihood and Microfinance Hotze B. Lont, Otto Hospes, 2004 Publisher Description

'Good Women do not Inherit Land' Nitya Rao, 2017-08-03 Land for the adivasi Santal women in Dumka Jharkhand stands for security social position and identity and in this men have a distinct advantage The time period covered is from historic times to the present The role of government administrative bodies NGOs and political leaders is also emphasized Please note Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India Pakistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka

The Myth of Self-Reliance Naohiko Omata, 2017-06-01 For many refugees economic survival in refugee camps is extraordinarily difficult Drawing on both qualitative and quantitative research this volume challenges the reputation of a self reliant model given to Buduburam refugee camp in Ghana and sheds light on considerable economic inequality between refugee households By following the same refugee households over several years The Myth of Self Reliance also provides valuable insights into refugees experiences of repatriation to Liberia after protracted exile and their responses to the ending of refugee status for remaining refugees in Ghana Delivering Development E. Carr, 2011-02-10 Calls into question the very universal unquestioned assumptions about globalization development and environmental change that undergird much of development and economic policy Compels the reader to question conventional wisdom and explores alternative ways of achieving meaningful enduring improvements to human well being

Food Remittances: Migration and Food Security in Africa Jonathan Crush, Mary Caesar, 2016-12-29 There is considerable evidence from across the African continent that a significant proportion of cash remittances to rural areas is spent on food However bidirectional food remitting its drivers dimensions and impacts is an underdeveloped research and policy area This report therefore reviews the current state of knowledge about food remittances in Africa and aims to make a number of contributions to the study of the relationship between migration and food security At Risk Piers Blaikie,Terry Cannon,Ian Davis,Ben Wisner,2014-01-21 The term natural disaster is often used to refer to natural events such as earthquakes hurricanes or floods However the phrase natural disaster suggests an uncritical acceptance of a deeply engrained ideological and cultural myth At Risk questions this myth and argues that extreme natural events are not disasters until a vulnerable group of people is exposed The updated new edition confronts a further ten years of ever more expensive and deadly disasters and discusses disaster not as an aberration but as a signal failure of mainstream development Two analytical models are provided as tools for understanding vulnerability One links remote and distant root causes to unsafe conditions in a progression of vulnerability The other uses the concepts of access and livelihood to understand why some households are more vulnerable than others Examining key natural events and incorporating strategies to create a safer world this revised edition is an important resource for those involved in the fields of environment and development studies

The Complex Interplay between Power, Politics, and African Agency Serges Djoyou Kamga,2024-11-15 The Complex Interplay between Power Politics and African Agency The Philosophy of Toyin Falola by Serges Djoyou Kamga examines the impact of colonialism by using Toyin Falola s philosophy as a framework It delves into the evolution of African political culture under colonial rule This book offers a unique perspective on the intricate dynamics of African society providing a deeper understanding of how power and politics have shaped African culture Kamga emphasizes the complex interplay between these elements and highlights the significance of African voices in determining their own destiny Using Falola s works this book analyzes and critiques the influence of Europe and establishes the ongoing unequal relationship between ex colonized African countries and their imperialist colonizers This book is highly recommended for scholars of African studies political science and anyone interested in African history and culture

Food Policy for Developing Countries Per Pinstrup-Andersen, Derrill D. Watson II, 2011-09-15 Despite technological advances in agriculture nearly a billion people around the world still suffer from hunger and poor nutrition while a billion are overweight or obese This imbalance highlights the need not only to focus on food production but also to implement successful food policies In this new textbook intended to be used with the three volumes of Case Studies in Food Policy for Developing Countries also from Cornell the 2001 World Food Prize laureate Per Pinstrup Andersen and his colleague Derrill D Watson II analyze international food policies and discuss how such policies can and must address the many complex challenges that lie ahead in view of continued poverty globalization climate change food price volatility natural resource degradation demographic and dietary transitions and increasing interests in local and organic food production Food Policy for Developing Countries offers a social entrepreneurship approach to food policy analysis Calling on a wide variety of disciplines including economics nutrition sociology anthropology environmental science medicine and geography the authors show how all elements in the food system function together

Insights Into Gender Equity, Equality and Power Relations in Sub-Saharan Africa Mansah Prah, 2013 Since gender entered the development discourse in the Seventies African countries have increasingly taken the concept on board in policy and practice This concern may be due to either one or a combination of the following factors the ideological positioning of African countries demands by their donors and development partners and demands by organised local groups and NGOs Gender in the development discourse ought to transform power relations between men and women and shift them to social relations that reflect their equal access to productive resources opportunities and social and material benefits The result of such actions should be an achievement of comparable status of women and men This volume initiated by OSSREA seeks to examine in more depth issues regarding the gender power imbalance in sub Saharan African countries with a specific focus on the eastern and southern African regions The chapters in this book present research that examines and analyses the effectiveness and efficiency of gender mainstreaming policies strategies and projects developed and implemented by national and international actors. The themes interweave with each other although they address gender issues in specific countries and specific contexts. This can be explained by the shared colonial and post colonial heritage of African countries. It is useful therefore to view the structure of the book as a spiral of inter connected issues that address similar themes approaching them from different levels. Purely for ease of reading the contributions have been organised into three parts with overarching themes that at first glance may seem not to fit well together. A theme that runs through all the chapters is the persistence of patriarchal values and attitudes in Africa and its constraining effect on the achievement of gender equity and equality.

The Nature of Entrustment Parker MacDonald Shipton, 2007-01-01. This groundbreaking book addresses issues of the keenest interest to anthropologists, specialists on Africa and those concerned with international aid and development. Drawing on extensive research among the Luo people in western Kenya and abroad over many years, Parker Shipton provides an insightful general ethnography. In particular, he focuses closely on nonmonetary forms of exchange and entrustment, moving beyond anthropology's traditional understanding of gifts, loans and reciprocity. He proposes a new view of the social and symbolic dimensions of economy over the full life course, including transfers between generations. He shows why the enduring cultural values and aspirations of East African people and others around the world complicate issues of credit, debt and compensation. The book examines how the Luo assess obligations to intimates and strangers, including the dead and the not yet born. Borrowing, lending and serial passing along have ritual, religious and emotional dimensions no less than economic ones. Shipton shows that insight into these connections demands a broad rethinking of all international aid plans and programs.
