Contemporary Hollywood Cinema STEVE NEALE, Murray Smith, 2013-04-15 A comprehensive overview of the film industry in Hollywood today Contemporary Hollywood Cinema brings together leading international cinema scholars to explore the technology institutions film makers and movies of contemporary American film making Hollywood's Artists Virginia Wright Wexman, 2020-07-21 Today the director is considered the leading artistic force behind a film The production of a Hollywood movie requires the labor of many people from screenwriters and editors to cinematographers and boom operators but the director as author of the film overshadows them all How did this concept of the director become so deeply ingrained in our understanding of cinema In Hollywood's Artists Virginia Wright Wexman offers a groundbreaking history of how movie directors became cinematic auteurs that reveals and pinpoints the influence of the Directors Guild of America DGA Guided by Frank Capra's mantra one man one film the Guild has portrayed its director members as the creators responsible for turning Hollywood entertainment into cinematic art Wexman details how the DGA differentiated itself from other industry unions focusing on issues of status and creative control as opposed to bread and butter concerns like wages and working conditions She also traces the Guild's struggle for creative and legal power exploring subjects from the language of on screen credits to the House Un American Activities Committee's investigations of the movie industry Wexman emphasizes the gendered nature of images of the great director demonstrating how the DGA promoted the idea of the director as a masculine hero Drawing on a broad array of archival sources interviews and theoretical and sociological insight Hollywood's Artists sheds new light on the ways in which the Directors Guild of America has shaped the role and image of directors both within the Hollywood system and in the culture at large American Film in the Digital Age Robert C. Sickels, 2010-12-08 This eclectic yet comprehensive analytical overview of the cataclysmic changes in the American film industry since 1990 shows how they have collectively resulted in a new era The Digital Age The American film industry has entered a new era American Film in the Digital Age traces the industrial changes since 1990 that have brought us to this point namely the rise of media conglomerates the proliferation of pornography through peripheral avenues of mainstream media the role of star actors and directors in distributing and publicizing their own pet projects the development of digital technology and the death of truly independent films Author Robert Sickels draws straight lines from the movies to music DVDs video games fast food digital on demand and more to demonstrate how all forms of media are merging into one He explores the irony that the success of independent films essentially killed independent cinema showing how it has become almost impossible to get a film released without the imprimatur of one of the big six media companies Fox Viacom TimeWarner Disney General Electric or CBS In the end using recent popular films as examples he explains not only how we got where we are but where we're likely headed as well The New Film History J. Chapman, M. Glancy, S. Harper, 2007-04-25 The first major overview of the field of film history in twenty years this book offers a wide ranging

account of the methods sources and approaches used by modern film historians The key areas of research are analysed alongside detailed case studies centred on well known American Australian British and European films Women Make Horror Alison Peirse, 2020-09-17 Winner of the the 2021 Best Edited Collection Award from BAFTSS Winner of the 2021 British Fantasy Award in Best Non Fiction Finalist for the 2020 Bram Stoker Award for Superior Achievement in Non Fiction Runner Up for Book of the Year in the 19th Annual Rondo Halton Classic Horror Awards But women were never out there making horror films that s why they are not written about you can t include what doesn t exist Women are just not that interested in making horror films This is what you get when you are a woman working in horror whether as a writer academic festival programmer or filmmaker These assumptions are based on decades of flawed scholarly critical and industrial thinking about the genre Women Make Horror sets right these misconceptions Women have always made horror They have always been an audience for the genre and today as this book reveals women academics critics and filmmakers alike remain committed to a film genre that offers almost unlimited opportunities for exploring and deconstructing social and cultural constructions of gender femininity sexuality and the body Women Make Horror explores narrative and experimental cinema short anthology and feature filmmaking and offers case studies of North American Latin American European East Asian and Australian filmmakers films and festivals With this book we can transform how we think about women filmmakers and genre The Evolution of Hollywood's Calculated Blockbuster Films Alexander Ross, 2023-04-24 In this book Alexander Ross highlights how creative entrepreneurs saved the Hollywood studios in the 1970s by establishing the calculated blockbuster consisting of key replicable markers of success as Hollywood s preeminent business model Ross demonstrates how visionary individuals such as Coppola Spielberg Lucas and Zemeckis helped create the modern calculated blockbuster business model BBM However with the rise of streaming giants and the studios struggling to compete many consumers of entertainment now elect to partake from the comfort of their homes making the difference between cinema and television anachronistic Revisiting the history of those 1970s blockbusters and their ongoing impact on contemporary filmmaking Ross offers distinct analysis on whether the calculated blockbuster can continue to lead or if the streamers will continue to generate their own content and eventually fully control the dissemination process For scholars and students in film pop culture and business along with aspiring filmmakers screenwriters producers and executives the book will be a valued resource Making Films in Contemporary Hollywood Alan Lovell, Gianluca Sergi, 2005-02-25 Traditionally film critics have concentrated on the director seeing feature filmmaking as a form of individual expression The authors challenge this view arguing that filmmaking is a form of collective expression They examine the idea that many individuals including editors cinematographers and sound designers contribute to the making of a film and argue that it is misleading to classify them as technicians The authors consider is how money and power determines the structure within which all those involved with filmmaking work And in challenging the accepted view of the dynamics of filmmaking the book raises questions about the nature of the feature film Is it essentially a visual form What place does it have How important is the script Making Films in Contemporary Hollywood contains analysis interviews and case studies of Chinatown Jurassic Park and When Harry Met Sally bringing a fresh perspective to the study of filmmaking that will be both informative and provocative for Media and Film Studies students at all levels
