Making Of Modern Intellectual Property Law:

The Making of Modern Intellectual Property Law Brad Sherman, Lionel Bently, 1999-07-08 One of the common themes in recent public debate has been the law's inability to accommodate the new ways of creating distributing and replicating intellectual products In this book the authors argue that in order to understand many of the problems currently confronting the law it is necessary to understand its past This is its first detailed historical account In this book the authors explore two related themes First they explain why intellectual property law came to take its now familiar shape with sub categories of patents copyright designs and trade marks Secondly the authors set out to explain how it is that the law grants property status to intangibles In doing so they explore the rise and fall of creativity as an organising concept in intellectual property law the mimetic nature of intellectual property law and the important role that the registration process plays in shaping intangible property

The Making of Modern Intellectual Property Law Brad Sherman, Lionel Bently, 1999 This book is the first detailed historical account of why intellectual property law with its sub categories of patents copyright designs and trade marks took the shape that it did over the course of the nineteenth century The authors also discuss ways in which the law grants property status to intangibles

The Making of Intellectual Property Law in Vietnam Tran Kien, 2025-09-03 This book is about the making of intellectual property law in Vietnam across colonial and socialist space and time from 1864 to 1994 It provides a completely new provoking narrative disproving previously published scholarship which claimed that there was no intellectual property law in Vietnam during the colonial and socialist periods In doing so the book engages with an emerging field of historiographical inquiry into the intellectual property law history in Vietnam and worldwide which investigates how and why the scholarship about the history of intellectual property law has been construed and framed as such within a specific period and space This book is comprised of three knowledge components The first involves the reconstruction of the lost intellectual property law from 1864 to 1994 in Vietnam doctrinally Relying on newly discovered archives in Vietnam and worldwide it unravels a corpus of statutory and regulatory provisions and interesting at times contradictory juridical decisions that governed and interpreted copyright patent and trademark The second is the historiographical inquiry of the making of the intellectual property law history scholarship in Vietnam This will answer the questions of how and why the particular histories had been construed and framed as such at a particular time This involves the debate about sociopolitical ideologies underlying the meaning and application of the laws most notably colonialism and socialism Finally the third engages with the theory of legal transplantation It addresses a hypothetical question of colonial laboratory as a form of legal transplantation a new concept that this book offers to the global scholarship It demonstrates that the colonial empire had tried to use Vietnam as a laboratory for its legal reform and then transplanted the successful and feasible results back to the empire This book explains the distinctively ideological principles underlying the understanding and application of the law

Authors and Apparatus Monika Dommann, 2019-03-15 Copyright is under siege From file sharing to vast library scanning projects new technologies actors and attitudes toward intellectual property threaten the value of creative work However while digital media and the Internet have made making and sharing perfect copies of original works almost effortless debates about protecting authors rights are nothing new In this sweeping account of the evolution of copyright law since the mid nineteenth century Monika Dommann explores how radical media changes from sheet music and phonographs to photocopiers and networked information systems have challenged and transformed legal and cultural concept of authors rights Dommann provides a critical transatlantic perspective on developments in copyright law and mechanical reproduction of words and music charting how artists media companies and lawmakers in the United States and western Europe approached the complex tangle of technological innovation intellectual property and consumer interests From the seemingly innocuous music box invented around 1800 to BASF's magnetic tapes and Xerox machines she demonstrates how copyright has been continuously destabilized by emerging technologies requiring new legal norms to regulate commercial and private copying practices Without minimizing digital media's radical disruption to notions of intellectual property Dommann uncovers the deep historical roots of the conflict between copyright and media a story that can inform present day debates over the legal protection of authorship
