Making Of The X Film:

Making Asian American Film and Video Jun Okada, 2015-03-06 The words Asian American film might evoke a painfully earnest low budget documentary or family drama destined to be seen only in small film festivals or on PBS Public Broadcasting Service In her groundbreaking study of the past fifty years of Asian American film and video Jun Okada demonstrates that although this stereotype is not entirely unfounded a remarkably diverse range of Asian American filmmaking has emerged Yet Okada also reveals how the legacy of institutional funding and the PBS style unites these filmmakers whether they are working within that system or setting themselves in opposition to its conventions Making Asian American Film and Video explores how the genre has served as a flashpoint for debates about what constitutes Asian American identity Tracing a history of how Asian American film was initially conceived as a form of public interest media part of a broader effort to give voice to underrepresented American minorities Okada shows why this seemingly well intentioned project inspired deeply ambivalent responses In addition she considers a number of Asian American filmmakers who have opted out of producing state funded films from Wayne Wang to Gregg Araki to Justin Lin Okada gives us a unique behind the scenes look at the various institutions that have bankrolled and distributed Asian American films revealing the dynamic interplay between commercial and state run media More than just a history of Asian Americans in film Making Asian American Film and Video is an insightful meditation on both the achievements and the limitations of institutionalized multiculturalism

The Making of Horror Movies Jennifer Selway, 2021-06-09 A fascinating journey through society's changing preoccupations as reflected in horror films plus profiles of the genre's top actors and directors It wasn't until 1973 that a horror film The Exorcist was nominated for an Oscar for Best Picture and critics are still divided today many regarding them with amused condescension The public's view is also sharply divided Some cinema goers revel in the thought of being made very very afraid while others avoid horror films because they don't want to be frightened This guide which is for both the fan and the more fainthearted steers an illuminating path through a genre that has since the early days of cinema split off into many subdivisions folk horror slasher movies Hammer sci fi horror psychological thrillers zombie movies among others Times change but moviemakers can always find a way to tap into what we fear and dread whether it's blood sucking vampires or radioactive mutations evil children or the living dead This book also gives concise biographies of the many actors and directors who saw their careers for better or worse defined by their association with horror movies and who created a genre that is instantly recognizable in all its forms and continues to find new and ingenious ways of scaring us in the dark

Make Movies That Make Money! Philip R. Cable, 2009-06-08 The term low budget can refer to anything from a 10 million indie flick to a student film produced on borrowed equipment with little or no money Low budget filmmakers can range from seasoned auteurs attempting to shed the shackles of major studio control to novice talents trying to break into the industry Designed for would be filmmakers of all experience levels this book explains how to make a good commercially successful low budget movie in the current multi million dollar Hollywood climate The purpose is not only to show how to get movies made and distributed but also how to maximize a film s potential for significant profit Written in practical understandable terms the book covers everything from commercially viable genres to the most efficient film and video formats along with tips on hiring stars pursuing investors distributing and marketing a film and keeping track of expenses

How to Make Movies Kevin J. Lindenmuth,2013-02-07 The success of low budget independent films like The Blair Witch Project and Paranormal Activity have clearly demonstrated that successful movies can be made with very small budgets Still working on a tight budget requires both skill and ingenuity and is an inevitable and continuous learning experience for the filmmaker Join two dozen truly independent filmmakers those used to working and delivering within extreme limitations as they bluntly chronicle their experiences creating features from the trenches They cover the major stages of the filmmaking process from financing technical decisions and handling actors and crew to music production and distribution With loads of practical advice actual case studies and many behind the scenes photographs this collection of war stories from the micro budget front lines will benefit aspiring and experienced independent filmmakers alike Sex, Class and Realism John Hill,2019-07-25 Hugely impressive in its scope with introductory chapters on social history the film industry and theories of realism this indispensable history of these vital years contains unusually fresh discussions of films justly regards as important alongside those unjustly ignored The extensive filmography which accompanies Sex Class and Realism will also prove to be an invaluable reference source in the teaching of British cinema history How to Make Good Pictures The Eastman Kodak Company,2007-09-01 Designed for the novice photographer this book from the Eastman Kodak Company was offered as an instructional manual on the art and techniques of professional photographers Filled with pictures and illustrations it remains an essential beginner s guide Elementary and Dental Radiography Howard Riley Raper,1918 Photo-era ,1913
