Childhood and Child Labour in the British Industrial Revolution Jane Humphries, 2010-06-24 This is a unique account of working class childhood during the British industrial revolution first published in 2010 Using more than 600 autobiographies written by working men of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Jane Humphries illuminates working class childhood in contexts untouched by conventional sources and facilitates estimates of age at starting work social mobility the extent of apprenticeship and the duration of schooling The classic era of industrialisation 1790 1850 apparently saw an upsurge in child labour While the memoirs implicate mechanisation and the division of labour in this increase they also show that fatherlessness and large subsets common in these turbulent high mortality and high fertility times often cast children as partners and supports for mothers struggling to hold families together The book offers unprecedented insights into child labour family life careers and schooling Its images of suffering stoicism and occasional childish pleasures put the humanity back into economic history and the trauma back into the industrial revolution

Slips of the Mind Jennifer Soong, 2025-04-07 An audacious account of what happens when forgetting becomes a way of writing and writing becomes a way of forgetting In Slips of the Mind poet and critic Jennifer Soong turns away from forgetting's long standing associations with suppression privation and error to argue that the absence or failure of memory has often functioned as a generative creative principle Exploring forgetting not as the mere rejection of a literary past or a form of negative poetics Soong puts to the test its very aesthetic meaning What new structures forms of desires styles and long and short feelings do lapses in time allow What is oblivion s relationship to composition And how does the twentieth century poet come to figure as the quintessential embodiment of such questions Soong uncovers forgetting s influence on Gertrude Stein Lyn Hejinian Tan Lin Harryette Mullen Lissa Wolsak and New York School poets John Ashbery James Schuyler Bernadette Mayer and Ted Berrigan among others She reveals that forgetting s shapeshifting produces differences in poetic genre interest and degrees of intentionality and that such malleability is part of forgetting s nature Most provocatively Soong shows how losing track of things leaving them behind or finding them already gone resists overdetermination and causality in the name of surprise as poets leverage forgetting in order to replace identity with style Slips of the Mind is the kind of literary criticism that will reward all readers of modern and contemporary poetry The Cambridge Introduction to American Poetry since 1945 Andrew Epstein,2022-12-15 Contemporary American poetry can often seem intimidating and daunting in its variety and complexity This engaging and accessible book provides the first comprehensive introduction to the rich body of American poetry that has flourished since 1945 and offers a useful map to its current landscape By exploring the major poets movements and landmark poems at the heart of this era this book presents a compelling new version of the history of American poetry that takes into account its variety and breadth its recent evolution in the new millennium its ever increasing diversity and its ongoing engagement with politics and culture Combining illuminating close readings of a wide range of representative poems with detailed discussion of historical political and aesthetic contexts this book examines how poets have tirelessly invented new forms and styles to respond to the complex realities of American life and culture Some Of My Feelings Arif Hussain,2024-06-09 Dive into the rich tapestry of human emotion with SOME OF MY FEELINGS a captivating collection of poetry Through evocative language and vivid imagery these heartfelt verses explore the depths of love passion desire and heartbreak Each poem invites readers on a journey of self discovery offering solace inspiration and a deeper understanding of the universal human experience Whether celebrating the joy of connection or navigating the complexities of emotional turmoil SOME OF MY FEELINGS resonates with readers seeking to explore the intricate landscape of the heart Memory in German Romanticism Christopher R. Clason,Joseph D. Rockelmann,Christina M. Weiler,2023-03-31 Memory in German Romanticism treats memory as a core element in the production and reception of German art and literature of the Romantic era The contributors explore the artistic expression of memory under the categories of imagination image and reception Romantic literary aesthetics raises the subjective imagination to a level of primary importance for the creation of art It goes beyond challenging reason and objectivity two leading intellectual faculties of eighteenth century Enlightenment and instead elevates subjective invention to form and sustain memory and imagination Indeed memory and imagination both cognitive functions seek to assemble the elements of one s own experience either directed toward the past memory or toward the future imagination coherently into a narrative And like memories images hold the potential to elicit charged emotional responses those responses live on through time becoming part of the spatial and temporal reception of the artist and their work While imagination generates and images trigger and capture memories reception creates a temporal spatial context for art organizing it and rendering it memorable both for good and for bad Thus through the categories of imagination image and reception this volume explores the phenomenon of German Romantic memory from different perspectives and in new contexts
