Living with His Camera Jane Gallop, 2003 Photography is usually written about from the point of view of either the photographer or the viewer Living with His Camera offers a perspective rarely represented that of the photographed subject Dick Blau has been making art photographs of the people he lives with for more than thirty years cultural theorist Jane Gallop has been living with him and his camera for twenty years Living with His Camera is Gallop's nuanced meditation on photography and the place it has in her private life and in her family A reflection on family it attempts like Blau's photographs themselves to portray the realities of family life beyond the pieties of conventional representations Living with His Camera is about some of the most pressing issues of visibility and some of the most basic issues of daily life Gallop considers intimate photographs of moments both dramatic and routine of herself giving birth to son Max or crying in the midst of an argument with Blau pouring herself cereal as Max colors at the breakfast table
