Long, 2010-11 This book examines the social formation and ideological practices of William Foxwell Albright the gifted Johns Hopkins linguist and archaeologist who along with a fiercely loyal and organized group of former students exerted uncommon influence on the substance and direction of mid twentieth century biblical studies Albright and these devoted students such as G Ernest Wright Frank Moore Cross Jr David Noel Freedman John Bright George E Mendenhall came to be known as the Albright School Burke Long here treats the field of biblical studies not as a repository of objective knowledge but as a culture created by like minded people whose knowledge is mediated through the ideologically charged give and take of social interactions A first of its kind for biblical studies Planting and Reaping Albright draws on private letters interviews and published work to expose ideological presuppositions and political machinations embedded in historical knowledge about the Bible that this group of scholars constructed and disseminated through its various activities Long investigates Albright s many assumptions about the way things really are and the ways in which his students describing themselves as sons of Albright embarked on a crusade to secure political and ideological dominance of the landscape of American biblical scholarship The Albright School constituted a sociological phenomenon that had lasting consequences for American intellectual history and scholarship Accordingly this book suggests ways in which Albright or a social realization of Albright was present in and presented to a culture of generational and ideological solidarity The World and the Word Eugene H. Merrill, Mark F. Rooker, Michael A. Grisanti, 2011 Three esteemed Old Testament professors introduce students to the first eighty percent of the Bible freshly illuminating the text as a rich source of theology and doctrine packed with practical principles for modern times Unearthing Jerusalem Katharina Galor, Gideon Avni, 2011-06-30 On a cold winter morning in January of 1851 a small group of people approached the monumental facade of an ancient rock cut burial cave located north of the Old City of Jerusalem The team consisting of two Europeans and a number of local workers was led by Louis F licien Caignart de Saulcy descendant of a noble Flemish family who later was to become a distinguished member of the French parliament As an amateur archaeologist and a devout Catholic de Saulcy was attracted to the Holy Land and Jerusalem in particular and was obsessed by his desire to uncover some tangible evidence for the city s glorious past However unlike numerous other European pilgrims researchers and adventurers before him de Saulcy was determined to expose the evidence by physically excavating ancient sites His first object of investigation constitutes one of the most attractive and mysterious monumental burial caves within the vicinity of the Old City from then onward to be referred to as the Tomb of the Kings Kubur al Muluk By conducting an archaeological investigation de Saulcy tried to prove that this complex represented no less than the monumental sepulcher of the biblical Davidic Dynasty His brief exploration of the burial complex in 1851 led to the discovery of several ancient artifacts including sizeable marble fragments of one or several sarcophagi It would take him another 13 years to raise the funds for a more comprehensive investigation of the site On November 17 1863 de Saulcy returned to Jerusalem with a larger team to initiate what would later be referred to as the first archaeological excavation to be conducted in the city from the Preface In 2006 some two dozen contemporary archaeologists and historians met at Brown University in Providence RI to present papers and illustrations marking the 150th anniversary of modern archaeological exploration of the Holy City The papers from that conference are published here presented in 5 major sections 1 The History of Research 2 From Early Humans to the Iron Age 3 The Roman Period 4 The Byzantine Period and 5 The Early Islamic and Medieval Periods The volume is heavily illustrated with materials from historical archives as well as from contemporary excavations It provides a helpful and informative introduction to the history of the various national and religious organizations that have sponsored excavations in the Holy Land and Jerusalem in particular as well as a summary of the current status of excavations in Jerusalem

Qumran and predestination E.H. Merrill,2018-11-01

Paul's Visual Piety J. M. F. Heath,2013-05-02 This book is at the interface between Visual Studies and Biblical Studies and is the only monograph to date on St Paul s visual piety Heath argues that biblical scholarship has downplayed this worldly visuality in Christian culture and that the exegesis of Paul is both a partial cause and a symptom of this disciplinary blind spot

A Bibliography of the Finds in the Desert of Judah, 1970-95 Donald Parry,Florentino García Martínez,2018-11-26 This volume contains a bibliography of the research on the Dead Sea Scrolls published during the last 25 years and as such it provides scholars with an indispensable tool for further research Although originally planned as a continuation of B Jongeling s A Classified Bibliography of the Finds of the Desert of Judah 1958 1969 the materials are presented in a different way in order to avoid unnecessary duplications of entries Each bibliographical entry is alphabetically listed in the first part of the book and is provided with an identification number which allows for multiple classifications The second part offers a sophisticated classification of the materials by themes topics and key words but also by manuscript
