New Industrial Policy For Village And Small Enterprises:

Essays on Industrial Policy Rabindra Kishen Hazari, 1986 Micro and Small Enterprises in India Keshab

Das, 2011-04-26 This book presents a set of analytical and deeply policy oriented articles on the dynamics of growth and performance of micro and small enterprises in India during the period of reforms. It provides fairly detailed analyses of policy changes for the micro and small enterprises sector as well as empirical analyses of performance and efficiency of the unorganised manufacturing sector. It examines a range of emerging and persistent complex issues facing this crucial sector including credit exports trade regulations capacity building subcontracting clustering entrepreneurship and rural industrialisation. Focusing on the constraints facing this sector even during the economic reforms, most of the articles analyse how and why special attention particularly by the state needs to be paid towards enhancing firm competitiveness. Broad basing the benefits of policy interventions to the overwhelmingly present yet left out micro enterprises including rural areas forms an important concern. This volume attempts to critically examine critical areas of intervention that could open up possibilities of developing a strong micro and small enterprises sector in India.

Concept and Strategy of Rural

Industrial Development Ajmer Singh Malik, 1995 Dr Malik has been actively associated with various academic bodies in the discipline of Public Administration. Dr Malik has specialized in Rural Development and Personnel Administration.

Rural

Industrialisation T. M. Dak, 1989 Viewed mainly as the growth of manufacturing sector as opposed to agriculture and the increased use of inanimate sources of power in the production of goods and services, rural industrialization offers the greatest scope for absorbing the existing and growing labour force outside the field of agriculture. However, the rural industrial scene continues to be characterised by the concentration of labour force in agriculture, predominance of traditional crafts, low levels of technology, hereditary mode of production, poor productivity and returns and low labour efficiency and utilisation. Besides glorification of traditional crafts and self employment, caste industry nexus and above all policy bias in favour of agriculture as against industry and large and medium capital intensive industries as against small village and cottage industries also worked as strong impediments to the development of rural crafts. Drawing from the nationwide experiences, this book examines the problems of the growth and modernisation of rural industries from socio-economic perspectives and probes into the organisational and technology system underlying their production structure with all its implications and ramifications. The reversal of the policy favouring large modern industry sector and the spread of tiny small industries throughout the country with full package of organisational, technical, financial and marketing support in adequate measure have been strongly advocated. In addition, the integration of the development of rural industries with the overall programme of industrialisation was emphasized.
