A World Made Sexy Paul Rutherford, 2007-01-01 Eroticism is a constant presence in modern society encompassing almost every aspect of our daily lives It is a product of one of the major commercial and political enterprises of the twentieth and twenty first centuries the cultivation of desire desire for sex desire for wealth desire for entertainment Paul Rutherford's A World Made Sexy looks at modern civilization's ongoing project to manufacture and encourage public wants building a utopia where just about everyone who is affluent dreams plays and of course shops A World Made Sexy uses museum exhibitions art books magazines films and television to examine the rise and purpose of eroticism first in America but soon across the affluent world Starting with a brief foray into the representation of history as past pornography Rutherford explores a sexual liberation movement shaped by the ideas of Marx and Freud the erotic styles of Salvador Dali and pop art the pioneering use of publicity as erotica by Playboy and other products and the growing concerns of cultural critics over the emergence of a regime of stimulation In one case study Rutherford pairs James Bond and Madonna in order to examine the link between eroticism and aggression He further details how television advertising after 1980 constructed a theatre of the libido to entice the buying public and concludes by situating the Eros project in the wider context of Michel Foucault's account of the administration of life and specifically sexuality during the modern era A World Made Sexy is about power and pleasure emancipation and domination and the relationship between the personal passions and social controls that have crafted desire

Cross-Cultural Consumption David

Howes,2002-11-01 Goods are imbued with meanings and uses by their producers When they are exported they can act as a means of communication or domination However there is no guarantee that the intentions of the producer will be recognized much less respected by the consumer from another culture Cross Cultural Consumption is a fascinating guide to the cultural implications of the globalization of a consumer society The chapters address topics ranging from the clothing of colonial subjects in South Africa and the rise of the hypermarket in Argentina to the presentation of culture in international tourist hotels Through their examination of cultural imperialism and cultural appropriation of the representation of otherness and identity Howes and his contributors show how the increasingly global flow of goods and images challenges the very idea of the cultural border and creates new spaces for cultural invention Marian Bredin Concordia University Constance Classen Jean Comaroff University of Chicago Mary Crain University of Barcelona Carol Handrickson Marlboro Colleg American Culture, American Tastes Michael Kammen,2012-10-03 Americans have a long history of public arguments about taste the uses of leisure and what is culturally appropriate in a democracy that has a strong work ethic Michael Kammen surveys these debates as well as our changing taste preferences especially in the past century and the shifting perceptions that have accompanied them Professor Kammen shows how the post traditional popular culture that flourished after the 1880s became full blown mass culture after World War II in an era of unprecedented affluence and travel He charts the influence of advertising and opinion polling the development of standardized products shopping centers and mass marketing the separation of youth and adult culture the gradual repudiation of the genteel tradition and the commercialization of organized entertainment He stresses the significance of television in the shaping of mass culture and of consumerism in its reconfiguration over the past two decades Focusing on our own time Kammen discusses the use of the fluid nature of cultural taste to enlarge audiences and increase revenues and reveals how the public role of intellectuals and cultural critics has declined as the power of corporate sponsors and promoters has risen As a result of this diminution of cultural authority he says definitive pronouncements have been replaced by divergent points of view and there is as well a tendency to blur fact and fiction reality and illusion An important commentary on the often conflicting ways Americans have understood defined and talked about their changing culture in the twentieth century Rational Ritual Michael Suk-Young Chwe,2013-04-28 Why do beer commercials dominate Super Bowl advertising How do political ceremonies establish authority Why were circular forms favored for public festivals during the French Revolution This book answers these questions using a single concept common knowledge Game theory shows that in order to coordinate its actions a group of people must form common knowledge Each person wants to participate only if others also participate Members must have knowledge of each other knowledge of that knowledge and so on Michael Chwe applies this insight with striking erudition to analyze a range of rituals across history and cultures He shows that public ceremonies are powerful not simply because they transmit meaning from a central source to each audience member but because they let audience members know what other members know In a new

afterword Chwe delves into new applications of common knowledge both in the real world and in experiments and considers how generating common knowledge has become easier in the digital age From the jacket The Brand and Its History Patricio Sáiz,Rafael Castro,2022-03-16 This book delves into the origins and evolution of trademark and branding practices in a wide range of geographical areas and periods providing key knowledge for academics professionals and general audiences on the complex world of brands The volume compiles the work of twenty five prominent worldwide scholars studying the origins and evolution of trademarks and branding practices from medieval times to present days and from distinct European countries to the USA New Zealand Canada Latin America and the Soviet Union The first part of the book provides new insights on pre modern craft marks on the emergence of trademark legal regimes during the nineteenth century and on the evolution of trademark and business strategies in distinct regions sectors and contexts As industrialisation and globalisation spread during the twentieth century trademarking led to modern branding and international marketing a process driven by new economic but also cultural factors The second part of the book explores the cultural side of the brand and offers challenging studies on how luxury fashion culture associations and the consolidation of national identities played a key role in nowadays branding This edited volume will not only be of great value to scholars students and policymakers interested in trademark branding research but to marketing and legal practitioners as well aiming to delve into the origins of modern brand strategies The chapters in this book were originally published as two special issues of the journal Business History

Weapons of Mass Persuasion Paul Rutherford, 2004-12-15 With nearly sixty percent of Americans initially against a pre emptive war without sanction from the United Nations and even higher anti war numbers in most other nations of the world the 2003 war against Iraq quickly became an enormous public relations challenge for the George W Bush administration The subject of Weapons of Mass Persuasion is a war in which American patriotism became so mired in commercial jingoism that the demarcations between entertainment and political conduct disappeared completely In this engaging and disturbing book Paul Rutherford shows how the marketing campaign for the war against Iraq was constructed and carried out He argues that not only was the campaign a new chapter in the presentation of real time war as pop culture but that its deeper implications have now come to constitute part of the history of modern democracy Situating the war against Iraq within an existing tradition of war as narrative spectacle and more broadly commodity Rutherford offers a brief overview of the history of civic advertising and propaganda then examines in detail the different dimensions of three weeks of war presented to North Americans as it became a branded conflict processed and cleansed to appeal to the well established tastes of veteran consumers of popular culture Including incisive analyses of visual material speeches editorial cartoons and media political commentary but particularly news reports of such sound bite events as the bombing of Baghdad the toppling of the Hussein statue and the rescue of captured soldier Private Jessica Lynch as well as extensive polling data from around the world and interviews with the actual consumers of war Weapons of Mass Persuasion chronicles the making of a Hollywood war fast paced and heroic pitting the forces of good against the forces of evil to achieve a triumphant sanitized and commodified outcome Not since Naomi Klein's No Logo have the gods of marketing and the art of commercialism been so thoroughly disrobed
