Calabrese, Paul T. Kostecki, James Dragun, 2006-11-28 Every spring the University of Massachusetts Amherst welcomes all Soils Conference Scientific Advisory Board members with open arms as we begin the planning process responsible for bringing you quality conferences year after year With this homecoming of sorts comes the promise of reaching across the table and interacting with a wide spectrum of stakeholders each of them bringing their unique perspective in support of a successful Conference in the fall This year marks the 20 anniversary of what started as a couple of thoughtful scientists interested in developing partnerships that together could fuel the environmental cleanup dialogue Since the passage of the Superfund Law regulators academia and industry have come to realize that models that depend exclusively on command and control mandates as the operative underpinning limit our collective ability to bring hazardous waste sites to productive re use It is with this concern in mind that the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection privatized its cleanup program in 1993 spurring the close out of over 20 000 sites and spills across the Commonwealth to date in a manner that is both protective of human health and the environment while also flexible and responsive to varied site uses and redevelopment goals So we gather together again this year to hear our collective stories and share success and challenges just as we share stories at a family gathering Take a read through the stories contained in these proceedings The Natural Radiation Environment VII J.P. McLaughlin, E.S. Simopoulos, F. Steinhäusler, 2005-03-30 The Natural Radiation Environment Symposium NRE VII the Seventh in the NRE series which commenced forty years ago in 1963 at Rice University Texas was held in Rhodes Greece in May 2002 During the intervening four decades the research work presented at these NRE Symposia has contributed to a deeper understanding of natural radiation and in particular of its contribution to human radiation exposures It is clear from the quality and diversity of the 143 papers in this volume of Radioactivity in the Environment series that the study of the natural radiation environment is an active and continually expanding field of research The papers in this volume fall into a number of main and topical research areas namely the measurement and behaviour of natural radionuclides in the environment cosmic radiation measurement and dosimetry the external penetrating radiation field at ground level TENR Technologically Enhanced Natural Radiation and NORM Naturally Occurring Radioactive Materials studies assessment of the health effects of radon regulatory aspects of natural radiation exposures In these papers the results of many new surveys of natural radionuclide levels in the environment and of improved methods of detection are described While some of the natural radiation sources investigated are unmodified by human activity many accounts are given here of exposures to natural sources which have been enhanced by technology Such TENR and NORM exposures are shown to range from activities such as mining oil and gas exploitation the use of industrial by products as building materials to space travel to name but a few In several cases quite high doses to some individuals are shown to occur Accounts are given here of methods to prevent and reduce exposures to such sources
