The Reform'd Coquet, Familiar Letters Betwixt a Gentleman and a Lady, and The Accomplish'd Rake Mary Davys, 2014-07-11 The Reform'd Coquette 1724 tells the story of Amoranda a good but flighty young woman whose tendency toward careless behavior is finally tamed Familiar Letters Betwixt a Gentleman and a Lady 1725 a satire of both political debate and women's place in society portrays a Tory man and a Whig woman who find themselves discussing love even though they have pledged to remain platonic friends The Accomplish'd Rake 1727 follows the exploits of Sir John Galliard from youth to manhood when he is forced to accept responsibility for his actions Mary Davys 1674 1732 was one of the earliest female novelists in Britain and after the death of her husband she supported herself by writing and running a coffeehouse Her writing sparkles especially in its witty dialogue Although these three short epistolary novels are framed in a clear moral universe in which virtue is rewarded and transgressions is punished her works are not overtly religious and punishment is as likely to come from society as from providence

Engendering Legitimacy Susan Glover, 2006

Engendering Legitimacy Law Property and Eighteenth Century Fiction is a study of the intersecting of law land property and gender in the prose fiction of Mary Davys Daniel Defoe Eliza Haywood and Jonathan Swift The law of property in early modern England established relations for men and women that artificially constructed altered and ended their connections with the material world and the land they lived upon The cultural role of land and law in a changing economy embracing new forms of property became a founding preoccupation around which grew the imaginative prose fiction that would develop into the English novel Glover contends that questions of political and legal legitimacy raised by England's Revolution of 1688-89 were transposed to the domestic and literary spheres of the early 1700s

The History of British Women's Writing, 1690 - 1750 R. Ballaster, 2010-09-10 This volume charts the most significant changes for a literary history of women in a period that saw the beginnings of a discourse of enlightened feminism It reveals that women engaged in forms old and new seeking to shape and transform the culture of letters rather than simply reflect or respond to the work of their male contemporaries

"Cultures of Whiggism" David Womersley, Paddy Bullard, Abigail Williams, 2005 In the preface to his edition of Shakespeare Alexander Pope noted that his age was one of Parties both in Wit and State Much scholarship has been devoted to the complexities of the political parties of the eighteenth century but there has been a surprising reluctance to explore what Pope implied were the corollaries of those parties namely parties in literature The essays collected here explore the literary culture that arose from and supported what Pitt the Elder referred to as the great spirit of Whiggism that animated English politics during the eighteenth century From the prehistory of Whiggism in the court of Charles II to the fractures opened up within it by the French Revolution in the 1790s the interactions between Whiggish politics and literature are sampled and described in groundbreaking essays that range widely across the fields of eighteenth century political prose poetry and the novel

Life After Death Karen Bloom Gevirtz, 2005 Life After Death shows how representations of the widow in the eighteenth century novel express attitudes toward emerging capitalism and women's participation in it Authors responded to the century's instability by using widows who had the right to act economically and self-interestedly to teach women that virtue meant foregoing the opportunities that the changing economy offered Novelists thus helped to create expectations for women that linger today and established the novel as a cultural arbiter The first study of widows in the developing novel Life After Death also takes the next step in merging genre gender and economic criticism

Gevirtz, 2014-03-06 This book shows how early women novelists from Aphra Behn to Mary Davys drew on debates about the self generated by the scientific revolution to establish the novel as a genre Fascinated by the problematic idea of a unified self underpinning modes of thinking female novelists innovated narrative structures to interrogate this idea
