Short Round:

American Agriculturist, 1901 I Served by Don C. Hall and Annette R. Hall, 2001-01-31 I SERVED was written differently from most other Vietnam memoirs. Instead of being a chronological recitation of my experiences growing up in the orphanage and then going to Vietnam and serving with Co F 51st Long Range Patrol Airborne Infantry, I made its focus be the characters in the story. That is its greatest strength and what makes it such a good read. Because I focused so closely on character, you really get to care about the person Don Hall because you know what makes him tick, what is important to him, and what drives him. You are also engaged by the other people you meet in the story because they are so clearly drawn. You don't have to be a military buff to enjoy the book. I SERVED is a factual story backed up by official U S Army records. Col William C. Maus, the man who formed F 51st LRP, told me where to find that documentation. I also have copies of handouts we received when we went to Recondo School. Before he died, he told me how much he enjoyed reading the book. He praised me for having written such a great story about a unit he was proud to have commanded. He was a visionary who knew our unit was the vanguard for future U S Army military strategy and tactics. I remember his telling me at the time that F 51st LRP was making history. Being just a naive 19-year-old staff sergeant, I didn't understand the significance of that statement. I do now. The current print and ebook versions of I SERVED are a second edition to the original 1994 hardbound edition with a revised preface and afterword, a new War Stories section with stories from other men with whom I served, and new photographs.

Traube, 2019-03-04 In this book Elizabeth Traube argues that over the course of the 1980s Hollywood participated in a wider move by mainstream political and social forces that attempted to absorb and contain critical cultural currents by rehabilitating images of masculine authority At the movies we saw parallel constructions of wild antibureaucratic warrior heroes and smooth seemingly rebellious tricksters adapted to the corporate order We saw the demonization of the independent woman and the complementary formation of the nurturing father as her adversary The author relates these representations to two cultural narratives of long duration the American frontier myth and the myth of success or the American dream both of which also figured prominently in the rhetorical themes of Reagan era politics Utilizing structuralism Marxism feminist object relations psychoanalysis and neoformalist film criticism Traube emphasizes specific aspects of cinematic representations of gender and authority to explore the relationships between culture and politics Unlike other feminist critics of patriarchal Hollywood she stresses the multiple competing versions of masculinity and femininity constructed in Hollywood movies and the different class positions of their primary intended audiences Attention to particular forms that cultural narratives assume in changing circumstances gives Traube's film analyses a unique sociohistorical dimension while her focus on narratives used by political elites as well as by moviemakers reveals significant
