Mob Rule in the Ozarks Kenneth C. Barnes, 2024-11-21 Winner 2025 J G Ragsdale Award Arkansas Historical Association

On January 15 1923 a crowd of more than a thousand angry men assembled in Harrison Arkansas near the headquarters of the M NA Railroad which ran through the heart of the Ozark Mountains The mob was prepared to use any measure necessary to end the strike of railroad employees that had dragged on for nearly two years endangering livelihoods and businesses in an area with few other means of transportation Supported by local officials the mob terrorized strikers and sympathizers many were stripped and beaten and one man was lynched hanged from the railroad bridge south of town Over the next several days similar riots broke out in other towns along the M NA line including Leslie and Heber Springs This violence effectively brought to a close one of the longest rail strikes in American history the only one in fact ended by a mob uprising In Mob Rule in the Ozarks Kenneth C Barnes documents how the M NA Railroad strike reflected some of the major economic concerns that preoccupied the United States in the wake of World War I and created a rupture within communities of the Ozarks that would take years to heal The conflict also foreshadowed for both the region and the country the pendulum swinging back to moneyed interests away from Progressive Era gains for labor Poignantly for Barnes who sees parallels between this historic struggle and present day political tensions the strike revealed the fragile line between civil order and mob rule

Corner of the Tapestry: a History of the Jewish Experience in Ar 1820s-1990s (c) Carolyn Gray LeMaster,1994

One of the most comprehensive studies ever done on a state s Jewish community A Corner of the Tapestry is the story untold until now of the Jews who helped to settle Arkansas and who stayed and flourished to become a significant part of the state s history and culture LeMaster has spent much of the past sixteen years compiling and writing this saga Data for the book have been collected in part from the American Jewish Archives American Jewish Historical Society the stones in Arkansas s Jewish cemeteries more than fifteen hundred articles and obituaries from journals and newspapers personal letters from hundreds of present and former Jewish Arkansans congregational histories census and court records and some four hundred oral interviews conducted in a hundred cities and towns in Arkansas This meticulous work chronicles the lives and genealogy of not only the highly visible and successful Jews who settled in Arkansas but also those who comprised the warp and woof of society It is a decidedly significant contribution to Arkansas history as well as to the wider study of Jews in the nation

Railroad Gazette ,1906 The Final Frontiers, 1880-1930 John Otto,1999-09-30 An examination of the settlement history of the alluvial bottomlands of the lower Mississippi Valley from 1880 to 1930 this study details how cotton growers transformed the swamplands of northwestern Mississippi northeastern Louisiana northeastern Arkansas and southern Missouri into cotton fields Although these alluvial bottomlands contained the richest cotton soils in the American South cotton growers in the Southern bottomlands faced a host of environmental problems including dense forests seasonal floods water logged soils poor transportation malarial fevers and insect pests This interdisciplinary approach uses primary and secondary sources from the fields of history geography sociology agronomy and ecology to fill an important gap in our knowledge of American environmental history Requiring laborers to clear and cultivate their lands cotton growers recruited black and white workers from the upland areas of the Southern states Growers also supported the levee districts which built imposing embankments to hold the floodwaters in check Canals and drainage ditches were constructed to drain the lands and local railways and graveled railways soon ended the area s isolation Finally quinine and patent medicines would offer some relief from the malarial fevers that afflicted bottomland residents and commercial poisons would combat the local pests that attacked the cotton plants including the boll weevils which arrived in the early twentieth century
