Genetic Privacy Graeme Laurie, 2002-05-16 The phenomenon of the New Genetics raises complex social problems particularly those of privacy This book offers ethical and legal perspectives on the questions of a right to know and not to know genetic information from the standpoint of individuals their relatives employers insurers and the state Graeme Laurie provides a unique definition of privacy including a concept of property rights in the person and argues for stronger legal protection of privacy in the shadow of developments in human genetics He challenges the role and the limits of established principles in medical law and ethics including respect for patient autonomy and confidentiality This book will interest lawyers philosophers and doctors concerned both with genetic information and issues of privacy it will also interest genetic counsellors researchers and policy makers worldwide for its practical stance on dilemmas in modern genetic medicine

Health Law and the European Union Tamara K. Hervey, Jean V. McHale, 2004-11-04 How does the law of the European Union affect health law and policy At first sight it seems limited However despite its restricted formal competence the EU has recently become increasingly involved in the health field Litigation based on EU law has resulted in a right to receive health care services across national boundaries which may have huge practical implications for national health systems The EU has promulgated legislation regulating clinical research and the marketing of pharmaceuticals patients rights are affected by EU legislation on data protection and product liability the qualifications of health care professionals are legally recognised across the EU and the EU has acted to promote public health This book explores the various impacts of measures of EU law on national health law and policy Through elaboration of selected examples the authors show that within the EU health law cannot be regarded as a purely national affair Mason and McCall Smith's Law and Medical Ethics Graeme T. Laurie, Shawn Harmon, Edward Dove, 2019 This classic textbook has provided students of medical law and ethics with a framework for exploring this fascinating subject for over 30 years Providing coverage of all of the topics found on medical law courses it gives an overview of the inter relationship between ethical medical practice and the law Medical law is significantly shaped by the courts and as such this book provides extensive coverage of recent judicial decisions as well as statutory developments The new edition continues to evolve to reflect changes in the law and shifting ethical opinions

Medicinal Product Liability and Regulation Richard Goldberg, 2013-10-10 The piecemeal developments in product liability reform in Europe have their origins in the tragic association of phocomelia in children with thalidomide in 1962 In many ways these events have continued to generate pressure for reform of product liability especially for the victims of drug induced injury This monograph attempts to address the major problems that typify claims for drug induced injury as well as highlighting the complex interrelationship between liability exposure and drug regulation While medicinal products are subject to strict liability under the product liability directive the claimant may have considerable difficulty in establishing that the relevant product is defective and that it caused the damage It may also be necessary to overcome the development risk defence where this is pleaded The monograph addresses these problems on a comparative jurisprudential basis and seeks to determine whether medicinal products should be treated as a special case in the field of product liability It examines the role of epidemiological evidence in assessing causation in product liability cases concerning medicinal products in the light of recent developments in the UK Supreme Court the United States Canada and France In particular it addresses the difficulties in reconciling the standards of proof in law and science including the theory that causation can be proved on the balance of probabilities by reference to the doubling of risk of injury An important case study compares and contrasts the approaches of the UK and the US to the measles mumps rubella Litigation The book also examines the question as to whether compliance with regulatory standards should protect pharmaceutical manufacturers from product liability suits It seeks to support a via media whereby the victims of drug induced injury can receive justice while at the same time encouraging drug safety and innovation in drug development The Solicitors' Journal ,2000 Redress Schemes for Personal Injuries Sonia Macleod,Christopher Hodges,2017-11-30 This ground breaking book takes a fresh look at potential non litigation solutions to providing personal injury compensation It is the first systematic comparative study of such a large number over forty of personal injury compensation schemes It covers the drivers for their creation the frameworks under which they operate the criteria and thresholds used the compensation offered the claims process statistics on throughput and costs and analysis of financial costings It also considers and compares the successes and failings of these schemes Many different types of redress providers are studied These include the comprehensive no blame coverage offered by the New Zealand Accident Compensation Corporation the widely used Patient Pharmaceutical Motor Accident and Workers Compensation Insurance systems of the Nordic states the far smaller issue focused schemes like the UK Thalidomide and vCJD Trusts vaccine damage schemes that exist in many countries as well as motor vehicle schemes from the USA Conclusions are drawn about the functions essential requirements architecture scope operation and performance of personal injury compensation systems The relationships between such schemes the courts and regulators are also discussed and both calls and need for reforms are noted Noting the wide calls for reform of NHS medical negligence litigation within the UK and its replacement with a no blame approach the authors findings outline options for future policy in this area This major contribution builds on general shifts from courts to ADR and from blame to no blame in regulation and is a work that has the potential to have a major impact on the field of personal injury redress With contributions by Raymond Byrne Claire Bright Shuna Mason Magdalena Tulibacka Matti Urho Mary Walker and Herbert Woopen
