Sidewalk City Annette Miae Kim, 2015-05-27

For most the term public space conjures up images of large open areas community centers for meetings and social events the ancient Greek agora for political debates green parks for festivals and recreation In many of the world s major cities however public spaces like these are not a part of the everyday lives of the public Rather business and social lives have always been conducted along main roads and sidewalks With increasing urban growth and density primarily from migration and immigration rights to the sidewalk are being hotly contested among pedestrians street vendors property owners tourists and governments around the world With Sidewalk City Annette Miae Kim provides the first multidisciplinary case study of sidewalks in a distinctive geographical area She focuses on Ho Chi Minh City Vietnam a rapidly growing and evolving city that throughout its history her multicultural residents have built up alternative legitimacies and norms about how the sidewalk should be used Based on fieldwork over 15 years Kim developed methods of spatial ethnography to overcome habitual seeing and recorded both the spatial patterns and the social relations of how the city s vibrant sidewalk life is practiced In Sidewalk City she transforms this data into an imaginative array of maps progressing through a primer of critical cartography to unveil new insights about the importance and potential of this quotidian public space This richly illustrated and fascinating study of Ho Chi Minh City s sidewalks shows us that it is possible to have an aesthetic sidewalk life that is inclusive of multiple publics aspirations and livelihoods particularly those of migrant vendors

50 Years of Humor Ltc James H Henderson, 2009-08 As I get older and reflect back on my time on this earth it is humorous in some respect that I seem to remember the good times Moreover in my case I tend to remember the funny things of even a bad situation It s like your subconscious blocks out the bad things only letting you remember the pleasant circumstances of even an awful situation Whatever makes this occurrence happen in my case I think it is good in that it has provided me with a library of hilarious stories A good story is like a fine bottle of wine and the key is the aging process In the case of a story the more aging time the more embellished embroidered and simply blown way out of proportion the story becomes and in my opinion that is what makes a funny story a hilarious one Therefore I have propagated this theory throughout this book With all this in mind I have tried to offer in the following stories the right amount of embellishment that will provide the reader with just enough body to paint the picture but not too much to bog down the reader to boredom Now I understand that what is humorous to one person may not be the same to another but it is obvious to me that just the normal day to day events can sometimes be the funniest and if the person can relate to these events within their own experience then in turn they are really laughing at themselves through someone else's eyes Therefore with that idea in mind I am only asking that you sit back relax and enjoy the stories with one different twist and that is to laugh at me
