Golden,2012-08-16 There is a story on the sidewalk waiting to be picked up Unlikely objects such as broken fences plum pits discarded papers and pigeons seen on walks in Berkeley New York and Santa Monica are the basis for these twenty six tiny stories and their accompanying photographs Often humorous and occasionally sad these mini fictions take on daily life from odd angles Curious characters witness confusing and surprising events and misplace words and friends Sometimes the picture inspired the story sometimes the story called for the picture You walk by a story every day Now you can pick one up Sidewalk Tales Arlene Rogers Wilhite,2020-10-29 Sidewalk Tales is a compilations of seventeen short stories about events that happened in my life and were centered around happening on sidewalks I always wanted to write about my life story because I felt that I could help someone who might have gone through some of the hardships I did and to share the joys I had as a child and student coming up in the streets and schools of Los Angeles California This book could have been called porch tales or school tales and even life s tales but Side walk Tales came about as I walk along the sidewalks of San Bernardino California and stumped my toe on a rock that lie on a sidewalk pane I noticed names carved in the cement and became interested in what those names meant Why would anyone write their names in cement particularly across from the San Bernardino train station And as my mind began to create stories about those names I began to wonder about the many times Something had happened to me on a sidewalk and I remember saying if only sidewalks could talk like if the fly on the walk could talk what stories could be told and hence the title of my book came to life What made this slab of cement even more exciting to me is when I mentioned it to one of my step daughters and found out that she and her sister knew the guys whose names were engraved in that cement I knew then it was a sign for me to sit down and write my book I had found my approach because I didn t want to write an autobiography or a wellness book but I wanted to write about my life in a way that was for anyone to understand and with the hopes that it would heal someone This book has been healing for me as a writer who experienced growth from each story held deep within me but I knew it was only through telling my stories would that my healing would come a self healing with a spiritual guidance of some sort and I hope that it is a portal to someone else's wellness for whatever reason is needed Sidewalk Mitchell Duneier, 1999 Presents the lives of poor African American men who make their subsistence wages by selling used goods on the streets of Greenwich Village in New York and discusses how they interact with passing pedestrians police officers and each other The City Record Cleveland (Ohio), 1916 The Sidewalk Artist Gina Buonaguro, Janice Kirk, 2008-04 In Europe to research her next novel Tulia Rose a young American woman falls in love with a handsome sidewalk artist who introduces her to Europe's great artistic treasures and inspires her to write the story of the painter Raphael and his secret lover Sidewalk Stories Wendy K. Sexuality, Disability, and Aging Jane Gallop, 2018-12-13 Drawing on her own experiences with late onset disability and its impact on her sex life along with her expertise as a cultural critic Jane Gallop explores how disability and aging work to undermine one's sense of self She challenges common conceptions that equate the decline of bodily potential and ability with a permanent and irretrievable loss arguing that such a loss can be both temporary and positively transformative With Sexuality Disability and Aging Gallop explores and celebrates how sexuality transforms and becomes more queer in the lives of the no longer young and the no longer able while at the same time demonstrating how disability can generate new forms of sexual fantasy and erotic possibility

A Smarter Toronto Bob Hanke, 2024-02-19 This book bridges media technocultural urban and journalism studies to examine the role of journalism in relation to a smart city project on Toronto's waterfront. From the announcement of the public private partnership called Sidewalk Toronto to the project's termination a mediatized controversy unfolded. Through an assemblage approach to this project and a case study of The Globe and Mail and the Toronto Star it follows the actors and chronicles the Quayside project story as a conversation about the promise and perils of a future smart neighbourhood. In the news of Waterfront Toronto Sidewalk Labs other actors events and developments there were multiple voices and views interpretations and arguments that manifested conflicting interests and values. As a locally situated actor journalism produced a porous discourse that expressed a propose and public pushback movement. This work of articulating mediation conditioned the project's alteration and dissolution within asymmetrical relations of power. In addition to a wave of opposition that inflected the project's enactment a time lag between project time and governmental policymaking made the controversy over this future urban space intractable. With their residual symbolic power quality journalism contributed to dialogical urban learning.

Sideways Josh O'Kane, 2024-11-12 From the tech reporter who most closely pursued the Sidewalk Labs fiasco in Toronto an uncompromising look into what the Google sister company's failure in urban development reveals about Big Tech data and the monetization of everything. When former New York deputy mayor Dan Doctoroff landed in Toronto promising a revolution in better living through technology the locals were starstruck. In 2017 a small parcel of land on the city's underdeveloped lakeshore was available for development and with Google co-founder Larry Page and chairman Eric Schmidt leaning into Sidewalk Labs pitch for the long forsaken property with Doctoroff as the urban planning company's CEO Sidewalk's bid crushed the competition. But as soon as the bid was won cracks appeared in the partnership between Doctoroff's team and Waterfront Toronto the government sponsored organization behind the contest. Hundreds more acres of undeveloped former port lands kept creeping into Sidewalk's plans and questions were emerging about how much the public would benefit from the company's vision for a high tech neighbourhood and the data it could harvest from residents. The ensuing fight to reel in the power of Sidewalk Labs became a crucible moment for the worldwide battle for digital rights and against the extension of a digital behemoth's corporate might into the physical world. In the tradition of boardroom dramas like Bad Blood and Super Pumped Sideways signals to the world that all may not be lost in the effort to contain the rapidly growing power of Big Tech.
