Sights of Contestation Kwok-kan Tam, Wimal Dissanayake, Terry Siu-han Yip, 2002 The fourteen essays presented in this volume examine the diverse ways in which cultural products are shaped and re shaped in public spaces in China Taiwan Hong Kong Japan and some other countries in the Pacific in their continuing encounters with the forces of localism and globalism Various theories of globalisation have been proposed since the 1970s to predict the trend of development toward homogenisation and explain the tensions hitherto created However diverse the theories may be there is one fact that assumes the form of a challenge As the world has become seemingly less and less divergent in its shrinkage the traditional categories of cultural division and opposition such as the East versus the West may no longer be adequate in analysing the world we live in today Paradoxically enough this very shrinkage and restructuring of the world has the effect of focusing more sharply on questions of localism identity and cultural roots This is in fact a moment in history when the local and the global are co implicated in complex and unanticipated ways How do cultural workers who are primarily writers intellectuals journalists filmmakers and educators in Asia and the Pacific respond to this challenging phenomenon How do they conceptualise it What are the prospects and problems they foresee with regard to their own societies and cultures These are questions of utmost significance as one seeks to come to terms with East Asia and the emerging Pacific as a space of contestation and resistance in the global local process of cultural production The fourteen essays collected in this book certainly represent the views of some of the prominent scholars in the region

Gender and Globalization in Asia and the Pacific Kathy E. Ferguson, Monique Mironesco, 2008-08-01 What is globalization How is it gendered How does it work in Asia and the Pacific The authors of the sixteen original and innovative essays presented here take fresh stock of globalization s complexities They pursue critical feminist inquiry about women gender and sexualities and produce original insights into changing life patterns in Asian and Pacific Island societies Each essay puts the lives and struggles of women at the center of its examination while weaving examples of global circuits in Asian and Pacific societies into a world frame of analysis The work is generated from within Asian and Pacific spaces bringing to the fore local voices and claims to knowledge The geographic emphasis on Asia Pacific highlights the complexity of globalizing practices among specific people whose dilemmas come alive on these pages Although the book focuses on global gendered flows it expands its investigation to include the media and the arts intellectual resources activist agendas and individual life stories First rate ethnographies and interviews reach beyond generalizations and bring Pacific and Asian women and men alive in their struggles against globalization Globalization cannot be summed up in a neat political agenda but must be actively contested and creatively negotiated Taking feminist political thinking beyond simple oppositions the authors ask specific questions about how global practices work how they come to be who benefits and what is at stake Contributors Nancie Caraway Steve Dern Cynthia Enloe Kathy Ferguson Maria Ibarra Gwyn Kirk Sally Merry Virginia Metaxas Min Dongchao Monique Mironesco Rhacel
