Phototextualities Alex Hughes, Andrea Noble, 2003

How are photographs understood as narratives? In this book, twenty-two original critical essays tackle this overarching question in a series of case studies moving chronologically across the history of photography from the 1840s to the twenty-first century. The contributors explore the intersections of photography with history, memory, autobiography, time, death, mapping, the discourse of Orientalism, digital technology, and representations of race and gender. The essays range in focus from the role of photographic images in the memorialization of the Holocaust, the Argentine Dirty War, and Japanese American internment camps, through Man Ray's classic image Noire et blanche and Nan Goldin's The Ballad of Sexual Dependency to the function of family albums in nineteenth-century England and America.

A History of British, Irish and American Literature Hans-Peter Wagner, 2021-10-04 The third revised and enlarged edition contains discussions of British, Irish, and American literary works up to 2020. Focussing on outstanding writings in prose, poetry, drama, and non-fiction, the book covers the time from the Anglo-Saxon period to the 21st century. The feature that makes this literary history unique among its rivals is the coverage of television, web series, and as a particular form of postmodern drama. The chapters on recent drama now contain detailed analyses of the development of TV and web series from Britain, Ireland, and America, with extensive discussions of those series now considered classics. In addition, there are several major innovative features. To begin with, each century is introduced by a survey of the socio-political and cultural backgrounds in which the literary works are embedded. Furthermore, extensive visual material—more than 160 engravings, cartoons, and paintings—has been integrated. This visual aspect, as well as the introductory sections on art for each century, give the reader an excellent idea of the symbiosis between visual and literary representations. Further innovative aspects include discussions of non-fictional works from literary criticism and theory, travel writing, historiography, and the social sciences analyses of such popular genres as crime fiction science fiction fantasy the Western horror fiction and children s literature footnotes explaining technical and historical terms and events a detailed glossary of literary terms chronological tables for British Anglo Irish and American literatures an updated cut off date 2020 extensive bibliography containing suggestions for further reading

Faking it Mia Fineman,National Gallery of Art (U.S.),Museum of Fine Arts, Houston,2012 It is a long held truism that the camera does not lie Yet as Mia Fineman argues in this illuminating volume that statement contains its own share of untruth While modern technological innovations such as Adobe s Photoshop software have accustomed viewers to more obvious levels of image manipulation the practice of doctoring photographs has in fact existed since the medium was invented In Faking It Fineman demonstrates that today s digitally manipulated images are part of a continuum that begins with the earliest years of photography encompassing methods as diverse as overpainting multiple exposure negative retouching combination printing and photomontage Among the book s revelations are previously unknown and never before published images that document the acts of manipulation behind two canonical works of modern photography one blatantly fantastical Yves Klein s Leap into the Void of 1960 the other a purportedly unadulterated record of a real place in time Paul Strand s City Hall Park of 1915 Featuring 160 captivating pictures created between the 1840s and 1990s in the service of art politics news entertainment and commerce Faking It provides an essential counterhistory of photography as an inspired blend of fabricated truths and artful falsehoods Publisher s website
