Man Who Tasted Shapes With New Foreword:

The Man Who Tasted Shapes, revised edition Richard E. Cytowic, 2003-08-11 In this medical detective adventure Cytowic shows how synesthesia or joined sensation illuminates a wide swath of mental life and leads to a new view of what it means to be human Richard Cytowic's dinner host apologized There aren't enough points on the chicken He felt flavor also as a physical shape in his hands and the chicken had come out too round This offbeat comment in 1980 launched Cytowic's exploration into the oddity called synesthesia He is one of the few world authorities on the subject Sharing a root with anesthesia no sensation synesthesia means joined sensation whereby a voice for example is not only heard but also seen felt or tasted The trait is involuntary hereditary and fairly common It stayed a scientific mystery for two centuries until Cytowic's original experiments led to a neurological explanation and to a new concept of brain organization that accentuates emotion over reason That chicken dinner two decades ago led Cytowic to explore a deeper reality that he argues exists in everyone but is often just below the surface of awareness which is why finding meaning in our lives can be elusive In this medical detective adventure Cytowic shows how synesthesia far from being a mere curiosity illuminates a wide swath of mental life and leads to a new view of what it means to be human a view that turns upside down conventional ideas about reason emotional knowledge and self understanding This 2003 edition features a new afterword Consciousness: A Very Short Introduction Susan J. Blackmore, 2005-03-24 A lively introduction that combines the perspectives of philosophy psychology and neuroscience written by the top name in the field Susan Blackmore Consciousness Rocco Gennaro, 2016-10-04 Consciousness is arguably the most important interdisciplinary area in contemporary philosophy of mind with an explosion of research over the past thirty years from philosophers psychologists and scientists It is also perhaps the most puzzling aspect of the world despite the fact that it is familiar to each of us Consciousness also seems resistant to any straightforward physical explanation This book introduces readers to the contemporary problem of consciousness providing a clear introduction to the overall landscape and a fair minded critical survey of various theories of consciousness Beginning with essential historical background to the problem of consciousness Rocco Gennaro explores the following key topics and debates the metaphysical problem of consciousness including varieties of dualism and materialism consciousness and neuroscience particularly the question of whether consciousness can be reduced to brain activity or attentional mechanisms representational and cognitive theories of consciousness consciousness and psychopathology animals machines and consciousness Extensive use is made of interesting phenomena throughout the book ranging from blindsight synaesthesia and change blindness to phantom limb syndrome split brain cases and dissociative identity disorder DID The inclusion of chapter summaries annotated further reading and a glossary make this book essential reading for anyone seeking a clear and informative overview of the problem of consciousness not only in philosophy but related fields such as psychology and cognitive science Language, Feeling, and the Brain Daniel Shanahan, 2017-09-08 Linguistic theory since the Cognitive Revolution has followed one of the premises of that revolution by largely sidelining the issue of emotions and concentrating on those aspects of language that are more strictly cognitive. However, during the last ten years, research in cognitive science, especially in neuropsychology, has begun to fill in the gaps left by the exclusion of emotions from cognitive research. The work of those like Oatley, Zajonc, Damasio, and LeDoux, to name a few, has demonstrated both that it is possible to construct models of how emotions play into the workings of the psyche and that they are necessary in giving us a balanced view of the human mind. Language, Feeling, and the Brain attempts to apply the fruits of this new research in emotion to our understanding of language itself. Building on Karl Pribram's integrated model of emotions and motivations, the book takes an eclectic approach to explaining how emotions contribute to the nature of language, drawing on research done in neuropsychology, philosophy, cognitive linguistics, anthropology, and related fields. Its aim is to construct a propositional model for how the emotions may have contributed to the emergence of symbolic formation, most especially in the forms of gesture and speech, and how identifying that emotional influence sheds new light on everything we have had to say about language itself, from lexis and grammar to culture and literature.

Bite Me Fabio Parasecoli, 2008-10-15 Food is not only something we eat; it is something we use to define ourselves. This title considers the ways in which popular culture reveals our relationship with food and our own bodies and how these have become an arena for political and ideological battles.

Embodied Metaphors in Film, Television, and Video Games Kathrin Fahlenbrach, 2015-10-05 In cognitive research, metaphors have been shown to help us imagine complex, abstract, or invisible ideas, concepts, or emotions. Contributors to this book argue that metaphors occur not only in language but in audio-visual media as well. This is all the more evident in entertainment media, which strategically sell their products by addressing their viewers' immediate, reflexive understanding through pictures, sounds, and language. This volume applies cognitive metaphor theory (CMT) to film, television, and video games in order to analyze the embodied aesthetics and meanings of those moving images.

Allegory in Iranian Cinema Michelle Langford, 2019-07-25 Iranian filmmakers have long been recognised for creating a vibrant aesthetically rich cinema whilst working under strict state censorship regulations As Michelle Langford reveals many have found indirect allegorical ways of expressing forbidden topics and issues in their films But for many allegory is much more than a foil against haphazardly applied censorship rules Drawing on a long history of allegorical expression in Persian poetry and the arts allegory has become an integral part of the poetics of Iranian cinema Allegory in Iranian Cinema explores the allegorical aesthetics of Iranian cinema explaining how it has emerged from deep cultural traditions and how it functions as a strategy for both supporting and resisting dominant ideology As well as tracing the roots of allegory in Iranian cinema before and after the 1979 revolution Langford also theorizes this cinematic mode She draws on a range of cinematic philosophical and cultural concepts developed by thinkers such as Walter Benjamin Gilles Deleuze Pier Paolo Pasolini Christian Metz and Vivian Sobchack to provide a theoretical framework for detailed analyses of films by renowned directors of the pre and post revolutionary eras including Masoud Kimiai Dariush Mehrjui Ebrahim Golestan Kamran Shirdel Majid Majidi Jafar Panahi Marziyeh Meshkini Mohsen Makhmalbaf Rakhshan Bani Etemad and Asghar Farhadi Allegory in Iranian Cinema explains how a centuries old means of expression interpretation encoding and decoding becomes in the hands of Iran s most skilled cineastes a powerful tool with which to critique and challenge social and cultural norms

These new studies by prominent neuroscientists psychologists and philosophers work toward a coherent framework for understanding emotion and its contribution to the functioning of consciousness in general as an aspect of self organizing embodied subjects Distinguishing consciousness from unconscious information processing hinges on the role of motivating emotions in all conscious modalities and how emotional brain processes interact with those traditionally associated with cognitive function Computationally registering processing sensory signals e g in the occipital lobe or area V4 by itself does not result in perceptual consciousness which requires subcortical structures such as amygdala hypothalamus and brain stem This interdisciplinary anthology attempts to understand the complexity of emotional intentionality why the role of motivation in self organizing processes is crucial in distinguishing conscious from unconscious processes how emotions account for agency and how an adequate approach to emotion motivation can address the traditional mind body problem through a holistic understanding of the conscious behaving organism Series B      Psychology Daniel L. Schacter, Daniel T. Gilbert, Daniel M. Wegner, 2009 An introduction to psychology doesn't have to be science challenged to be student friendly After all what more powerful tool is there for captivating students than the real science behind what we know This skillful presentation centers on a smart selection of pioneering and cutting edge experiments and examples it effectively conveys the remarkable achievements of psychology with the right amount of critical judgment to introduce the field's fundamental ideas to students from publisher      Synaesthesia Julia Simner, 2019-06-27 Can you taste words feel flavours as a shape or hear colors If so you may well have synaesthesia a neurological condition that gives rise to a merging of the senses This Very Short Introduction describes synaesthesia's many forms and delves into the underlying neuroscience Explaining the scientific basis for synaesthesia Julia Simner considers how we can measure the effects synaesthesia has on the everyday lives of people living with it Exploring the fascinating stories of different synaesthetes experiences of the world she also discusses the documented links between synaesthesia childhood development memory personality and artistic creativity and the potential limitations synaesthesia might impose ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable      Screen Consciousness Robert Pepperell, Michael Punt, 2006 This collection of essays is driven by the question of how we know what we know and in particular how we can be certain about something even when we know it is an illusion The contention of the book is that this age old question has acquired a new urgency as certain trends in science technology and ideas have taken the discussion of consciousness out of the philosophy department and deposited it in the world at large As a consequence a body of literature from many fields has produced its own sets of concerns and methods under the rubric of Consciousness Studies Each contribution in this collection deals with issues and questions that lots of people have been thinking about for many years in many different contexts things such as the nature of film cinema world mind and so on Those of us fascinated by these diverse yet related issues may have often felt we were working in a disciplinary no man s land Now suddenly it seems with Consciousness Studies we have a coherent intellectual home albeit one that is self consciously eclectic The essays included in Screen Consciousness Cinema Mind and World are from a range of disciplines art philosophy film theory anthropology and technology studies each represented by significant international figures and each concerned with how their field is being transformed by the new discipline of Consciousness Studies Together they attempt to reconcile the oncoming rush of new data from science and technology about how we know what we know with the insights gained from the long view of history philosophy and art Each of the contributions seeks to interpose Consciousness Studies between film and mind where for cultural theorists psychoanalysis had traditionally stood This is more than simply updating Film Studies or nodding in the direction of cognitive film theory Film with all its sentient sensuous and social qualities is a common reference point between all these forces and Consciousness Studies provides the intellectual impetus for this book to revisit familiar problems with fresh insight
