Managing Care in Context Jeanette Henderson, Dorothy Atkinson, 2003 Managing Care in Context looks at the different contexts in which care takes place considering the impact of policy practice and organizational contexts on managers

Managing Intimacy and Emotions in Advanced Fertility Care Helen Therese Allan, 2009 This book is intended for nurses and midwives who work in Assisted Reproduction clinics and those who either work in or have an interest in women's health. The number of IVF births is increasing steadily as a percentage of all births and therefore infertility may be said to be increasingly influential in women's health nursing and midwifery. The sense of connectedness which women caring for women express and as the data in this book show women patients feel that there is something special about being cared for by female nurses and midwives. The emotions raised in clinical practice for nurses and midwives from caring for women need attention and discussion and this book is intended to contribute to a greater awareness of emotions in clinical practice even in a busy NHS. Indeed paying attention to emotions when you are busy may help you understand and deal with the business. This book is intended for practicing nurses and midwives and therefore each chapter ends with a reflection from the author on the implications of the data for practice and an opportunity for the reader to reflect on their practice too. Managing Residential Care John Burton, 2006-06-01 Managing Residential Care puts forward suggestions for improving the development of residential care through better management. Extended examples and realistic case studies throughout demonstrate how managers can succeed and how sometimes the powerful forces of mismanagement can obstruct them.

Leading, Managing, Caring: Understanding Leadership and Management in Health and Social Care Sara MacKian, Joan Simons, 2021-02-27 Effective leadership and management in health and social care are built on good practice, strong relationships and a critical understanding of the wider context in which care takes place. Leading Managing Caring illustrates how leadership and management work in everyday settings providing invaluable support to those practising or studying in the area. The book introduces the four core building blocks of the caring manager or leader: personal awareness, team awareness, goal awareness and contextual awareness. Together these form a firm foundation for understanding and practice. Drawing on up to date case studies the authors explore how critical theoretical understanding can support practical attempts to work through complex situations with a diverse range of people. Also included is a toolkit containing carefully selected and practical tools for leading and managing change. This comprehensive textbook is suitable for existing and aspiring managers and leaders in a range of health and social care professions or anyone interested in understanding more about the complex landscape in which care services are managed and delivered in the UK. Managing Care Richard Bohmer, 2021-05-18 Healthcare systems worldwide are swamped with demand, short of resources and ill equipped to respond to global health crises like COVID 19. This book is a guide for reforming healthcare delivery. The way we organize care matters and the people best positioned to drive this are the clinicians who deliver care. The book offers a framework for transforming healthcare.
