Managing Disaster Risk In Mexico Market Incentives For Mitigation Investment:

Managing Disaster Risk in Mexico Alcira Kreimer, 1999-01-01 Disaster Risk Management Series Since 1980 Mexico has suffered from 79 disaster events Over half of these disasters were weather related such as hurricanes or flooding One fourth of them were geology related that is volcanic eruptions landslides or earthquakes The rest of them were instigated by humans in the form of industrial accidents chemical and oil spills explosions and structural fires Mexico was chosen for the first appraisal mission due to its experience with natural disaster losses and because it is considering significant public policy changes in the realm of insurance regulations The World Bank established the Disaster Management Facility in July 1999 to provide proactive leadership in coordinating efforts to introduce disaster prevention and mitigation practices in development related activities This report synthesizes the findings of a World Bank mission to Mexico on disaster management mitigation and financing which was followed up by a workshop to discuss those findings The scope of this study is quite broad and examines the following issues Mexico s experience with disasters of all kinds how risk and vulnerability are assessed and can be assessed as a means toward greater mitigation that is better planning and construction standards disaster mitigation in practice the specific contribution that the insurance industry can make to disaster mitigation in Mexico and why this industry is so underutilized at present and the government s role in risk transfer as a way of enhancing mitigation especially through the operation of its Natural Disaster Fund FONDEN

Managing Disaster Risk in Emerging Economies Alcira Kreimer, Margaret Arnold, 2000-01-01 In 1999 natural catastrophes and man made disasters claimed more than 105 000 lives 95 percent of them in the developing world and caused economic losses of around US 100 billion In 1998 the twin disasters of the Yangtze and Hurricane Mitch accounted for two thirds of the US 65 billion loss The geographical areas affected may vary but one constant is that the per capita burden of catastrophic losses is dramatically higher in developing countries To respond to an increased demand to assist disaster recovery programmes the World Bank set up the Disaster Management Facility in 1998 to help provide the Bank with a more rapid and strategic response to disaster emergencies The DMF focuses on risk identification risk reduction and risk sharing transfer the three major topics in this volume The DMF also promotes strategic alliances with key private government multilateral and nongovernmental organisations to ensure the inclusion of disaster risk reduction as a central value of development The most important of these partnerships is the ProVention Consortium launched in February 2000 based on the premise that we must all take responsibility for making the new millennium a safer one

Natural Hazards and Disaster Risk Reduction Carina Fearnley, Emily Wilkinson, Catherine J. Tillyard, Stephen J. Edwards, 2016-04-08 Building upon presentations given during the conference on Disaster Risk Reduction for Natural Hazards Putting Research into Practice held at University College London in November 2009 the articles collected in this book examine how natural hazards research is accessed and used by practitioners and decision makers and conversely how policy and practice inform research As with the conference this book successfully brings together views from humanitarian and development agencies academia business government and funding bodies It is rare to engage such a wide range of sectors in a discussion relating to the issues of disaster risk reduction from a natural hazards perspective and the book captures this interaction and the resultant exchange of ideas thus providing an insight into how stakeholders respectively undertake or engage with natural hazards research Collectively the articles highlight the need for greater dialogue understanding and collaboration between all these sectors if research is to be made relevant and generate significant impact on risk reduction policy and practice There is an urgent requirement to better understand the respective needs ways of working project timescales and funding mechanisms for disaster risk reduction as well as the challenges posed by institutional and organizational structures and functions These issues must be overcome to ensure that ultimately and most significantly discussions turn into positive practical actions so that research on natural hazards is relevant and applicable The book represents a step in that journey This book was published as a special issue of Environmental Hazards

Mapping Vulnerability Greg Bankoff, Georg Frerks, Dorothea Hilhorst, 2013-06-17 Raging floods massive storms and cataclysmic earthquakes every year up to 340 million people are affected by these and other disasters which cause loss of life and damage to personal property agriculture and infrastructure So what can be done The key to understanding the causes of disasters and mitigating their impacts is the concept of vulnerability Mapping Vulnerability analyses vulnerability as a concept central to the way we understand disasters and their magnitude and impact Written and edited by a distinguished group of disaster scholars and practitioners this book is a counterbalance to those technocratic approaches that limit themselves to simply looking at disasters as natural phenomena Through the notion of vulnerability the authors stress the importance of social processes and human environmental interactions as causal agents in the making of disasters They critically examine what renders communities unsafe a condition they argue that depends primarily on the relative position of advantage or disadvantage that a particular group occupies within a society's social order The book also looks at vulnerability in terms of its relationship to development and its impact on policy and people's lives through consideration of selected case studies drawn from Africa Asia and Latin
