Reducing the Impacts of Development on Wildlife James Gleeson, Deborah Gleeson, 2012 The rapidly increasing number of threatened flora and fauna species worldwide is one of the chief problems confronting environmental professionals today This problem is largely due to the impact humans have had on land use through development e g agricultural residential industrial infrastructure and mining developments The requirement for developers to implement measures to reduce the impacts of development on wildlife is underpinned by government legislation A variety of measures or strategies are available to reduce such impacts including those to reduce impacts on flora and fauna

Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change David B. Lindenmayer, Joern Fischer, 2013-02-22 Habitat loss and degradation that comes as a result of human activity is the single biggest threat to biodiversity in the world today Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change is a groundbreaking work that brings together a wealth of information from a wide range of sources to define the ecological problems caused by landscape change and to highlight the relationships among landscape change habitat fragmentation and biodiversity conservation The book synthesizes a large body of information from the scientific literature considers key theoretical principles for examining and predicting effects examines the range of effects that can arise explores ways of mitigating impacts reviews approaches to studying the problem discusses knowledge gaps and future areas for research and management Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change offers a unique mix of theoretical and practical information outlining general principles and approaches and illustrating those principles with case studies from around the world It represents a definitive overview and synthesis on the full range of topics that fall under the widely used but often vaguely defined term habitat fragmentation

Wildlife Conservation in Farm Landscapes David Lindenmayer, Damian Michael, Mason Crane, Sachiko Okada, Philip Barton, Karen Ikin, Daniel Florance, 2016-08 An increasing number of Australians want to be assured that the food and fibre being produced on this continent have been grown and harvested in an ecologically sustainable way Ecologically sustainable farming conserves the array of species that are integral to key ecological processes such as pollination seed dispersal natural pest control and the decomposition of waste Wildlife Conservation in Farm Landscapes communicates new scientific information about best practice ways to integrate conservation and agriculture in the temperate eucalypt woodland belt of eastern Australia It is based on the large body of scientific literature in this field as well as long term studies at 790 permanent sites on over 290 farms extending throughout Victoria New South Wales and south east Queensland Richly illustrated with chapters on birds mammals reptiles invertebrates and plants this book illustrates how management interventions can promote nature conservation and what practices have the greatest benefit for biodiversity Together the new insights in this book inform whole of farm planning Australian Journal of Agricultural Research ,2004 Wildlife on Farms Andrew Claridge, Donna Hazell, Ross Cunningham, David Lindenmayer, Damian Michael, Mason Crane, Christopher MacGregor, 2003-03-18 Many landowners are interested in the native animals that live on their farms or once occurred there In particular they want to know why particular species are present or absent what they can do to encourage them to visit and what they might do to keep them there Wildlife on Farms outlines the key features of animal habitats large flowering trees hollow trees ground cover understorey vegetation dams and watercourses and describes why landholders should conserve these habitats to encourage wildlife on their farms It shows how wildlife conservation can be integrated with farm management and the benefits this can bring The book presents 29 example species mammals birds reptiles and amphibians that are common to a large part of southern and eastern Australia Each entry gives the distinguishing features of the animal key features of its required habitat and what can be done on a farm to better conserve the species Fire in Mediterranean Ecosystems Jon E. Keeley, 2012 Explores the role of fire in Mediterranean type climate ecosystems providing unique insights into the assembly and evolutionary convergence of ecosystems Wildlife of the Box-Ironbark Country Chris Tzaros, 2021-10 Victoria's Box Ironbark region is one of the most important areas of animal diversity and significance in southern Australia The forests and woodlands of this region provide critical habitat for a diverse array of woodland dependent animals including many threatened and declining species such as the Squirrel Glider Brush tailed Phascogale Regent Honeyeater Swift Parrot Pink tailed Worm Lizard Woodland Blind Snake Tree Goanna and Bibron's Toadlet Wildlife of the Box Ironbark Country gives a comprehensive overview of the ecology of the Box Ironbark habitats and their wildlife and how climate change is having a major influence This extensively revised second edition covers all of the mammals birds reptiles and frogs that occur in the region with a brief description of their distribution status ecology and identification together with a detailed distribution map and superb colour photograph for each species The book includes a Where to watch section featuring a selection of national parks state parks and nature conservation reserves where people can experience the ecosystem and its wildlife for themselves This book is intended for land managers conservation and wildlife workers fauna consultants landholders teachers students naturalists and all those interested in learning about and appreciating the wildlife of this fascinating and endangered ecosystem People, Sheep and Nature Conservation Jamie Kirkpatrick, Kerry Bridle, 2007-05-26 With almost half a million people and more than six times as many sheep Tasmania has a rich history of wool production In the drier parts of the island graziers raise sheep partly using the native vegetation on their extensive runs People Sheep and Nature Conservation explores this use of the run country and the interaction of graziers sheep and nature Other topics covered include how graziers manage the runs for profit how they feel about nature and manage their properties for conservation how sheep interact with native animals and plants on the runs and the implications of the ongoing loss of run country to clearance and inundation In an unusual combination of history geography social science ecological science and policy analysis this entertaining and well illustrated book uses the vivid words of the graziers historical sources and the results of contemporary research to provide some insight into these issues Although a Tasmanian story it will resonate more widely as the integration of production and nature conservation within complex societies cultures and economies is an outcome desired on a global scale
