Natural Disaster and Nuclear Crisis in Japan Jeff Kingston, 2012-03-12 The March 2011 earthquake and tsunami in Japan plunged the country into a state of crisis As the nation struggled to recover from a record breaking magnitude 9 earthquake and a tsunami that was as high as thirty eight meters in some places news trickled out that Fukushima had experienced meltdowns in three reactors These tragic catastrophes claimed some 20 000 lives initially displacing some 500 000 people and overwhelming Japan's formidable disaster preparedness This book brings together the analysis and insights of a group of distinguished experts on Japan to examine what happened how various institutions and actors responded and what lessons can be drawn from Japan's disaster The contributors many of whom experienced the disaster first hand assess the wide ranging repercussions of this catastrophe and how it is already reshaping Japanese culture politics energy policy and urban planning

Race for the Exits Leonard J. Schoppa, 2011-07-15 Contrary to all expectations Japan's long term recession has provoked no sustained political movement to replace the nation's malfunctioning economic structure The country's basic social contract has so far proved resistant to reform even in the face of persistently adverse conditions In Race for the Exits Leonard J Schoppa explains why it has endured and how long it can last The postwar Japanese system of convoy capitalism traded lifetime employment for male workers against government support for industry and the private female provision of care for children and the elderly Two social groups bore a particularly heavy burden in providing for the social protection of the weak and dependent large firms which committed to keeping their core workforce on the payroll even in slow times and women who stayed home to care for their homes and families Using the exit voice framework made famous by Albert Hirschman Schoppa argues that both groups have chosen exit rather than voice depriving the political process of the energy needed to propel necessary reforms in the system Instead of fighting for reform firms slowly shift jobs overseas and many women abandon hopes of accommodating both family and career Over time however these trends have placed growing economic and demographic pressures on the social contract As industries reduce their domestic operations the Japanese economy is further diminished Japan has also experienced a baby bust as women opt out of motherhood Schoppa suggests that a radical break with the Japanese social contract of the past is becoming inevitable as the system slowly and quietly unravels

Energy Security in Japan Vlado Vivoda,2016-04-29 For a country already uneasy about energy security the 2011 earthquake and tsunami which caused a nuclear catastrophe at the Fukushima nuclear power plant turned pre existing Japanese concern about the availability of energy into outright anxiety The subsequent closure of many nuclear reactors meant Japan needed to replace lost power quickly and so had no choice but to secure additional fossil fuels undermining Japanese diversification policy and increasing global and regional competition for energy This switch has been at a cost to the already weak Japanese economy whilst the increase in fossil fuel consumption has caused a significant increase in greenhouse gas emissions In this book Vlado Vivoda examines the drastically changed environment following the disaster in order to analyse Japan's energy security challenges and evaluate Tokyo's energy policy options Looking at how the disaster exacerbated Japan's existing energy security challenges Vivoda considers the best policy options for Japan to enhance national energy security in the future exploring the main impediments to change and how they might be overcome
