The Love of Nature and the End of the World Shierry Weber NicholSEN, 2003-02-28 A psychological exploration of how the love of nature can coexist in our psyches with apathy toward environmental destruction Virtually everyone values some aspect of the natural world Yet many people are surprisingly unconcerned about environmental issues treating them as the province of special interest groups Seeking to understand how our appreciation for the beauty of nature and our indifference to its destruction can coexist in us Shierry Weber NicholSEN explores dimensions of our emotional experience with the natural world that are so deep and painful that they often remain unspoken The Love of Nature and the End of the World is a gathering of meditations and collages Its evocations of our emotional attachment to the natural world and the emotional impact of environmental deterioration are meant to encourage individual and collective reflection on a difficult dilemma NicholSEN draws on work in environmental philosophy and ecopsychology the writings of psychoanalytic thinkers such as Wilfred Bion Donald Meltzer and D W Winnicott and ideas from Buddhist and Sufi traditions She shows how our emotional responses to the vulnerabilities of the natural world range from intense caring and compassion through grief and outrage to diffuse depression Individual chapters focus on silence and the process whereby we move from the unspoken to the spoken the love of nature the perceptual reciprocity with the natural world to which we might mature beauty in the human and natural realms the psychological impact of the destruction of the natural world and reflections on the future

The Nature of Hate and the Hatred of Nature in Hispanic Literatures Beatriz Rivera-Barnes, 2020-12-16 The Nature of Hate and the Hatred of Nature in Hispanic Literatures retraces the nature of hatred and the hatred of nature from the earliest traditions of Western literature including Biblical texts Medieval Spanish literature early Spanish Renaissance texts to nineteenth and twentieth century Iberian and Latin American literatures The nature of hate is neither hate in its weakened form as in disliking or loving less nor hate in its righteous form as in I hate hatred rather hate in its primal form as told and conveyed in so many culturally influential Bible stories that are at the root of hatred as it manifests itself today The hatred of nature is not only contempt for the natural world but also the idea of nature hating in return thus inspiring even more hatred of nature While some chapters such as the one dedicated to La Celestina focus more on the nature of hate and the hatred of love they do address the hatred of nature as when Celestina conjures Pluto who happens to be closer to nature than to Satan Other chapters such as the ones dedicated to the Latin American novels set in the jungle focus more on the hatred of nature but ultimately turn to the nature of hatred by analyzing hatred and the descent into madness In the final chapters Beatriz Rivera Barnes simultaneously addresses the nature of hatred and the hatred of nature as well as the ecophilia ecophobia debate in twentieth century Latin American literatures and considers if not an assimilation of hate possibly the cannibalizing of hate Nature and Society in Historical Context Mikulas Teich,Roy Porter,Bo Gustafsson,1997-02-13 A collection of essays describing the historical connection between nature and society

Understanding Foucault, Understanding Modernism David Scott,2017-02-23 Michel Foucault continues to be regarded as one of the most essential thinkers of the twentieth century A brilliantly evocative writer and conceptual creator his influence is clearly discernible today across nearly every discipline philosophy and history certainly as well as literary and critical theory religious and social studies and the arts This volume exploits Foucault s insistent blurring of the self imposed limits formed by the disciplines with each author in this volume discovering in Foucault s work a model useful for challenging not only these divisions but developing a more fundamental interrogation of modernism Foucault himself saw the calling into question of modernism to be the permanent task of his life s work thereby opening a path for rethinking the social Understanding Foucault Understanding Modernism shows on the one hand that literature and the arts play a fundamental structural role in Foucault s works while on the other hand it shifts to the foreground what it presumes to be motivating Foucault the interrogation of the problem of modernism To that end even his most explicitly historical or strictly epistemological and methodological enquiries directly engage the problem of modernism through the works of writers and artists from de Sade Mallarm Baudelaire to Artaud Manet Borges Roussel and Bataille This volume therefore adopts a transdisciplinary approach as a way to establish connections between Foucault s thought and the aesthetic problems that emerge out of those specific literary and artistic works methods and styles designated modern The aim of this volume is to provide a resource for students and scholars not only in the fields of literature and philosophy but as well those interested in the intersections of art and intellectual history religious studies and critical theory Mourning Nature Ashlee Cunsolo,Karen Landman,2017-05-17 We are facing unprecedented environmental challenges including global climate change large scale industrial development rapidly increasing species extinction ocean acidification and deforestation challenges that require new vocabularies and new ways to express grief and sorrow over the disappearance degradation and loss of nature Seeking to redress the silence around ecologically based anxiety in academic and public domains and to extend the concepts of sadness anger and loss Mourning Nature creates a lexicon for the recognition and expression of emotions related to environmental degradation Exploring the ways in which grief is experienced in numerous contexts this groundbreaking collection draws on classical philosophical artistic and poetic elements to explain environmental melancholia Understanding that it is not just how we mourn but what we mourn that defines us the authors introduce new perspectives on conservation sustainability and our relationships with nature An ecological elegy for a time of climatic and environmental upheaval Mourning Nature challenges readers to turn devastating events into an opportunity for positive change Contributors include Glenn Albrecht Murdoch University retired Jessica Marion Barr Trent University Sebastian Braun University of North Dakota Ashlee Cunsolo Labrador Institute of Memorial University Amanda Di Battista York University Franklin Ginn University of Edinburgh Bernie Krause soundscape ecologist author and independent scholar Lisa Kretz University of Evansville Karen Landman University of Guelph Patrick Lane Poet Andrew Mark independent scholar Nancy Menning Ithaca College John Charles Ryan University of New England Catriona Sandilands York University and Helen Whale independent scholar

From Violence to Speaking Out Leonard Lawlor,2016-08-30 Drawing on a career long exploration of 1960s French philosophy Leonard Lawlor seeks a solution to the problem of the worst violence The worst violence is the reaction of total apocalypse without remainder it is the reaction of complete negation and death it is nihilism Lawlor argues that it is not just transcendental violence that must be minimised all violence must itself be reduced to its lowest level He offers new ways of speaking to best achieve the least violence which he creatively appropriates from Foucault Derrida and Deleuze and Guattari as speaking freely speaking distantly and speaking in tongues
