Naval Power And Trade In The Mediterranean AD 500 1100 Princeton Studies In History:

Naval Power and Trade in the Mediterranean Archibald Ross Lewis, 1970 Naval Power and Trade in the Mediterranean AD 500-1100 Archibald Ross Lewis, 1951 Medieval Trade in the Mediterranean World, 2001-09-18 This collection of merchant documents is essential reading for any student of economic developments in the Middle Ages who wishes to go beyond the level of textbook summaries. Different aspects of economic life in the Mediterranean world are delineated in the light of a rich variety of articles and other contemporary writings drawn from Muslim and Christian sources. From commercial contracts, promissory notes and judicial acts to working manuals of practical geography and philology, this volume of documents provides an unparalleled portrait of the world of medieval commerce. War at Sea in the Middle Ages and the Renaissance John B. Hattendorf, Richard W. Unger, 2003 Wide ranging in place and time yet tightly focused on particular concerns, these new and original specialist articles show how observations on the early history of warfare based on the relatively stable conditions of the late seventeenth century ignore the realities of war at sea in the middle ages and renaissance. In these studies, naval historians firmly grounded in the best current understanding of the period take account of developments in ships, guns and the language of public policy on war at sea and in so doing give a stimulating introduction to five hundred years of maritime violence in Europe. BOOK JACKET Trade and Institutions in the Medieval Mediterranean Jessica L. Goldberg, 2012-08-23 The Geniza merchants of the eleventh century Mediterranean sometimes called the Maghribi traders are central to controversies about the origins of long term economic growth and the institutional bases of trade. In this book Jessica Goldberg reconstructs the business world of the Geniza merchants, maps the shifting geographic relationships of the medieval Islamic economy and sheds new light on debates about the institutional framework for later European dominance. Commercial letters, business accounts and courtroom testimony bring to life how these medieval traders used personal gossip and legal mechanisms to manage far flung agents, switched business strategies to manage political risks and asserted different parts of their fluid identities to gain advantage in the multicultural medieval trading world. This book paints a vivid picture of the everyday life of Jewish merchants in Islamic societies and adds new depth to debates about medieval trading institutions with unique quantitative analyses and innovative approaches. Medieval Naval Warfare, 1000-1500 Susan Rose, 2002 How were medieval navies organised and how did powerful rulers use them? This fascinating account brings vividly to life the dangers and difficulties of medieval seafaring. The Mediterranean in History David Abulafia, 2003 Contained in this history of the Great Sea are the stories of the birth of Western Civilization, the clash of warring faiths and the rivalries of empires. David Abulafia leads a team of eight distinguished historians in an exploration of the great facts, themes and epochs of this region's history: the physical setting, the rivalry between Carthaginians, Greeks and Etruscans for control of the sea routes, unification under Rome and the subsequent break up into Western Christendom, Byzantium and Islam, the Crusades, commerce in medieval times, the Ottoman resurgence the rivalry of European powers from the eighteenth to the twentieth centuries and the globalization of the region in the last century The book departs from the traditional view of Mediterranean history which placed emphasis on the overwhelming influences of physical geography on the molding of the region's civilizations Instead this new interpretation regards that physical context as a staging ground for decisive action and at center stage are human catalysts at all levels of society whether great kings and emperors the sailors of medieval Amalfi or the Sephardic Jews who were expelled from Spain in 1492 The authors do more than simply catalogue the societies that developed in the region but also describe how these groups interacted with one another across the sea enjoying commercial and political ties as well as sharing ideas and religious beliefs This richly illustrated book offers contemporary historical writing at its best and is sure to engage specialists students and general readers alike

Nomads and Crusaders, A.D. 1000-1368 Archibald Ross Lewis, 1988 A fine arresting book with a clear and novel thesis and a firm grasp of geography Good stuff in short strongly recommended William H McNeill

The Age of the ΔΡΟΜΟΝ John Pryor, Elizabeth M. Jeffreys, 2006-07-01 This volume examines the development and evolution of the war galley known as the Dromon and its relative the Chelandion from first appearance in the sixth century until its supersession in the twelfth century by the Galea developed in the Latin West Beginning as a small fully decked monoreme galley by the tenth century the Dromon had become a bireme the pre eminent war galley of the Mediterranean The salient features of these ships were their two banked oarage system the spurs at their bows which replaced the ram of classical antiquity their lateen sails and their primary weapon Greek Fire The book contextualizes the technical characteristics of the ships within the operational history of Byzantine fleets logistical problems of medieval naval warfare and strategic objectives Surviving Byzantine sources especially tactical manuals are subjected to close literary and philological analysis

Early Medieval Europe 300-1050 David Rollason, 2018-03-29 Early Medieval Europe 300 1050 A Guide for Studying and Teaching empowers students by providing them with the conceptual and methodological tools to investigate the period Throughout the book major research questions and historiographical debates are identified and guidance is given on how to engage with and evaluate key documentary sources as well as artistic and archaeological evidence The book's aim is to engender confidence in creative and independent historical thought This second edition has been fully revised and expanded and now includes coverage of both Islamic and Byzantine history surveying and critically examining the often radically different scholarly interpretations relating to them Also new to this edition is an extensively updated and closely integrated companion website which has been carefully designed to provide practical guidance to teachers and students offering a wealth of reference materials and aids to mastering the period and lighting the way for further exploration of written and non written sources Accessibly written and containing over 70 carefully selected maps and images Early Medieval Europe 300 1050 is an essential resource for students studying this period for the first time as well as an invaluable aid to university teachers devising and delivering courses and modules on the period

Barcelona and Its

Rulers, 1096-1291 Stephen P. Bensch, 2002-07-04 This volume examines the early growth of Barcelona and the formation of its ruling classes The city did not at first grow because of overseas trade but because of market oriented agriculture and tribute from Islamic Spain Only after a difficult adjustment did the city develop the commercial foundations which would later ensure its prosperity Barcelona's patriciate rose to prominence during the second stage of growth its rise forming part of a profound restructuring of territorial power in response to the feudal crisis that challenged traditional authority throughout Catalonia Patrician families did not model themselves after noble patrilineages but forged marital alliances in which the wife's dowry played a fundamental role In this new book the family structure of the patriciate receives close examination and many traditional assumptions about the nature of Mediterranean towns are challenged Byzantine Style, Religion and Civilization Elizabeth Jeffreys, 2006-10-12 A volume of cutting edge essays written in honour of renowned Byzantinist Sir Steven Runciman Handbook of Medieval Culture. Volume 3 Albrecht Classen, 2015-08-31 A follow up publication to the Handbook of Medieval Studies this new reference work turns to a different focus medieval culture Medieval research has grown tremendously in depth and breadth over the last decades Particularly our understanding of medieval culture of the basic living conditions and the specific value system prevalent at that time has considerably expanded to a point where we are in danger of no longer seeing the proverbial forest for the trees The present innovative handbook offers compact articles on essential topics ideals specific knowledge and concepts defining the medieval world as comprehensively as possible The topics covered in this new handbook pertain to issues such as love and marriage belief in God hell and the devil education lordship and servitude Christianity versus Judaism and Islam health medicine the rural world the rise of the urban class travel roads and bridges entertainment games and sport activities numbers measuring the education system the papacy saints the senses death and money Islamic Law of the Sea Hassan S. Khalilieh, 2019-05-02 This pioneering research brings into focus the Islamic contribution and influence in the development of the modern law of the sea A Research Annual Warren J. Samuels, Jeff E. Biddle, Ross B. Emmett, 2008-06-16 Includes refereed articles on topics in economic methodology and the history of economics including Austrian economic methodology and Wesley Mitchell This collection covers such topics as Adam Smith John Kenneth Galbraith Friedrich Nietzsche Joseph Schumpeter Janos Kornai the Chicago School French econometrics and financial economics Medieval Iberian Peninsula texts and studies [Anonymus AC00703430], 1961 The Tibetan Empire in Central Asia Christopher I. Beckwith, 2020-07-21 This narrative history of the Tibetan Empire in Central Asia from about A D 600 to 866 depicts the struggles of the great Tibetan Turkic Arab and Chinese powers for dominance over the Silk Road lands that connected Europe and East Asia It shows the importance of overland contacts between East and West in the Early Middle Ages and elucidates Tibet's role in the conflict over Central Asia Islamic Maritime Law Hassan Khalilieh, 2023-07-10 This volume examines Islamic maritime law and the actual practice of Muslim sailors during the classical period It contains seven chapters The first surveys the

Studies in the Economic History of the Middle East M. A. Cook, 2015-12-22 First Published in 2004 Did medieval Muslims have the concept of a social class If not can we usefully employ the term in analysing their society Were there such things as guilds in the medieval Middle East Would we understand the economic decline of Mamluk Egypt better if we used paradigms derived from the study of the economic history of England and Italy in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries How much can the enormous fiscal archive of the Ottoman Empire tell us about population history Why was the Middle East so backward if indeed it was compared with the rest of the Afro Asian world in the nineteenth century Have Iran and Iraq better prospects for economic growth than otherwise comparable countries thanks to their oil royalties Or are these paradoxically a hindrance rather than a help The study of the economic history of the Middle East in Islamic times is notoriously underdeveloped This volume contains papers discussed at an international conference held at the School of Oriental and African Studies in 1967 together with three short critical essays which attempt to tie them together Some papers are specific contributions to research others survey wider areas The volume is not a comprehensive history or a systematic inventory but it is hoped that in addition to presenting a set of papers which are interesting in themselves it will give the reader a tolerable idea of the state of studies in the field
