Online Visit To Asia:

The Routledge Handbook of Tourism in Asia C. Michael Hall, Stephen J. Page, 2016-09-13 Asia is regarded as the fastest growing area for international and domestic tourism in the world today and over the next 20 years Given the economic social and environmental importance of tourism in the region there is a need for a comprehensive and readable overview of the critical debates and controversies in tourism in the region and the major factors that are affecting tourism development both now and in the foreseeable future This Handbook provides a contemporary survey of the region and its continued growth and development as a key destination and generator of tourism which is marked by a high proportion of intra regional travel The book is divided into five sections This first section provides an introduction to the region and context to the nationally focused chapters The next three sections are then broadly based on the three UNWTO Asian regions South East Asia South and Central Asia and East and North East Asia providing readers with a valuable snapshot of tourism at various scales and from various approaches and positions The concluding section considers future prospects for tourism in Asia The handbook is interdisciplinary in coverage and is also international in scope through its authorship and content It presents a range of perspectives and understanding of the processes and forces that are shaping tourism in this fascinating and dynamic region that is one of the focal points of global tourism This is essential reading for students researchers and academics interested in tourism in the growth region of Asia now and in the future Strategic Partnerships in Asia Vidya Nadkarni, 2010-01-21

Addresses the strategies pursued by potential challengers to American global preeminence through an examination of the nature and implications of the increasing interaction among three secondary powers China Russia and India Nuclear Power and Energy Security in Asia Rajesh M. Basrur, Swee Lean Collin Koh, 2012 The rising demand for energy the higher costs of oil and gas and the association of fossil fuels with adverse climate change have all brought a renewed interest in nuclear energy Nuclear power however is itself controversial because of its costs its environmental effects and the security risks it poses This book discusses these critical issues surrounding nuclear power in relation to Asia It discusses also the politics of nuclear power and the activities of civil society organisations concerned about nuclear issues Throughout the book the perspectives are included of both proponents and opponents of nuclear power on the key controversial issues Publisher's description Technology Application in Tourism Fairs, Festivals and Events in Asia Azizul Hassan, 2022-03-30

Indian Foreign and Security Policy in South Asia Sandra Destradi, 2012-02-27. This book examines Indian foreign policy and security relations in its eastern regional neighbourhood. Indian Foreign and Security Policy in South Asia conducts an in depth analysis into India's foreign policy towards the three main countries in India's Eastern neighbourhood: Sri Lanka, Nepal and Bangladesh. In particular, it deals with India's role in the final years of the civil war in Sri Lanka, its approach to the peace and democratisation process in Nepal and Indian foreign policy towards Bangladesh on a range of issues including Islamist militancy, migration, border security and insurgency. Set within an analytical framework centred on the notions of empire, hegemony and leadership, the study reveals that India pursued predominantly hegemonic strategies and was not able to generate genuine followership among its smaller neighbours. The South Asian case therefore shows the discrepancy that may exist between the possession of power capabilities and the ability to exercise actual influence, a conclusion which lifts the study from geographical specifics and extends its relevance to other cases and cross regional comparisons. This text will be of much interest to students of Indian foreign policy, Asian security, foreign policy analysis, strategic studies and IR in general.

The Political Resurgence of the Military in Southeast Asia Marcus Mietzner, 2012-11-12. In the late 1990s, prominent scholars of civil-military relations detected a decline in the political significance of the armed forces across Southeast Asia. A decade later, however, this trend seems to have been reversed. The Thai military launched a coup in 2006, the Philippine armed forces expanded their political privileges under the Arroyo presidency and the Burmese junta successfully engineered pseudo democratic elections in 2010. This book discusses the political resurgence of the military in Southeast Asia throughout the 2000s. Written by distinguished experts on military affairs, the individual chapters explore developments in Burma, Thailand, the Philippines, Vietnam, East Timor, Indonesia and Singapore. They not only assess but also offer explanations for the level of military involvement in politics in each country. Consequently, the book also makes a significant contribution to the comparative debate about militaries in politics. Whilst conditions obviously differ from country to country, most authors in this book conclude that the shape of civil military relations is not predetermined by historic economic or cultural factors but is often the result of intra civilian conflicts and divisive or ineffective political leadership

Southeast Asia and the Rise of Chinese and Indian Naval Power Sam Bateman, Joshua Ho, 2014-06-03 This book examines the emerging maritime security scene in Southeast Asia It considers highly topical implications for the region of possible strategic competition between China and India the rising naval powers of Asia with a possible naval arms race emerging between these countries both with naval force development and operations As part of its Look East policy India has deployed naval units to the Pacific Ocean for port visits and exercises both with East Asian navies and the US Navy but India is also concerned about the possibility of the Chinese Navy operating in the Indian Ocean Even as the US India defence relationship continues to deepen the US and China are struggling to build a closer links China s and India s strategic interests overlap in this region both in maritime strategic competition or conflict which might be played out in the Bay of Bengal the Malacca and Singapore Straits and the South China Sea The sea lines of communication SLOCs through Southeast Asian waters constitute vital choke points between the Indian and Pacific Oceans carrying essential energy supplies for China and other Northeast Asian countries Any strategic competition between China and India has implications for other major maritime players in the Pacific and Indian Oceans especially Australia the Republic of Korea and Japan as well as the US This book identifies possible cooperative and confidence building measures that may contribute to enhanced relations between these two major powers and dampen down the risks associated with their strategic competition

Justice in Asia and the Pacific Region, 1945-1952 Yuma Totani, 2015-02-16 Roman Law in the State of Nature offers a new interpretation of the foundations of Hugo Grotius natural law theory Surveying the significance of texts from classical antiquity Benjamin Straumann argues that certain classical texts namely Roman law and a specifically Ciceronian brand of Stoicism were particularly influential for Grotius in the construction of his theory of natural law The book asserts that Grotius a humanist steeped in Roman law had many reasons to employ Roman tradition and explains how Cicero s ethics and Roman law secular and offering a doctrine of the freedom of the high seas were ideally suited to provide the rules for Grotius state of nature This fascinating new study offers historians classicists and political theorists a fresh account of the historical background of the development of natural rights natural law and of international legal norms as they emerged in seventeenth century early modern Europe

Rumor and Communication in Asia in the Internet Age Greg Dalziel, 2013-07-18 New communication technology has transformed the way in which news about key events is communicated For example in the immediate aftermath of catastrophic events such as the Mumbai attacks or the Japanese tsunami partial accounts accurate and inaccurate facts rumour and speculation are now very rapidly disseminated across the globe often ahead of official announcements and formal news reporting Often in such situations rumours take hold and continue to characterise events even after a more complete more accurate picture eventually emerges This book explores how such rumours are created disseminated and absorbed in the age of the internet and mobile communications It includes a wide range of examples and besides considering the overall processes involved engages with scholarly debates in the field of media and communication studies

Religion, Hypermobility and Digital Media in Global Asia Catherine Gomes, Lily Kong, Orlando Woods, 2025-10-01 Digital media is changing the ways in which religion is practiced understood proselytised and countered Religious institutions and leaders use digital media to engage with their congregations who now are not confined to single locations and physical structures The faithful are part of online communities which allow them a space to worship and to find fellowship Migrant and mobile subjects thus are able to be connected to their faith whether home grown or emerging wherever they may be providing them with an anchor in unfamiliar physical and cultural surroundings As Asia rises mobilities associated with Asian populations have escalated The notion of Global Asia is a reflection of this increased mobility where Asia includes not only Asian countries as sites of political independence but also the transnational networks of Asian trans migrants and the diasporic settlements of Asian peoples all over the world This collection features cutting edge research by scholars across disciplines seeking to understand the role and significance of religion among transnational mobile subjects in this age of digital media and in particular as experienced in Global Asia
