Packaging Politics Political Communications In Britains Media Democracy:

Packaging Politics Bob Franklin, 1994 Packaging Politics examines the various ways in which politicians in political parties in central and local government and in Parliament have become increasingly enthusiastic and adept at using mass media to present themselves and their policies to the public The book argues that packaging politics has had a harmful effect on the conduct of politics in a democracy Political Communication in the Republic of Ireland Mark O'Brien, Donnacha Ó Beacháin, 2014 Brings together academics and practitioners to present an overview of the development and current shape of political communication in the Republic of Ireland from a multiplicity of perspectives and sources Key Concepts in Political Communication Darren G Lilleker, 2006-02-15 Publisher description Political Communication Aeron Davis, 2019-05-29 We are living in a period of great uncertainty Votes for Brexit and Trump along with widespread political volatility are not only causing turmoil they are signs that many long predicted tipping points in media and politics have been reached Such changes have worrying implications for democracies everywhere In this text Aeron Davis bridges old and new to map the shifts and analyse what they mean for our aging democracies Why are volatile polarized electorates no longer prepared to support established political parties Why are large parts of the legacy media either dying or dismissed as fake news How is social media rapidly rewriting the rules And why do some democratic leaders look more like dictators and pollsters and economists more like fortune tellers These questions and more are addressed in the book Political Communication A New Introduction for Crisis Times both introduces and challenges the established literature It will appeal to advanced students scholars and anyone else trying to understand the precarious state of today's media and political landscape Perspectives on Political Communication in Africa Bruce Mutsaers, Beschara Karam, 2018-02-27 This edited collection is a cutting edge volume that reframes political communication from an African perspective Focusing on sub Saharan Africa and occasionally drawing comparisons with other regions of the world this book critically addresses the development of the field focusing on the current opportunities and challenges within the African context By using a wide variety of case studies that include Mozambique Zambia Rwanda Zimbabwe Ghana Kenya Uganda South Africa Ivory Coast and Nigeria the collection gives space to previously understudied regions of sub Saharan Africa and challenges the over reliance of western scholarship on political communication on the continent Introduction to Media and Politics Sarah Oates, 2008-02-18 a lively introduction to media and politics with timely chapters on the media war and terrorism and the internet If you want to know why media matters in politics this is a great place to start Dr Margaret Scammell London School of Economics and Political Science This book has the truly international perspective that helps to put politics and media in the context of current world events a unique and valuable text Professor Lynda Lee Kaid University of Florida a new and promising perspective to the study of media and politics in a comparative dimension Professor Paolo Mancini Università di Perugia Introduction to Media and Politics draws together evidence from the United States the United Kingdom Russia and beyond to provide students with an understanding of the relationship between the media and the political sphere This highly accessible text balances theory with case studies on elections war terrorism and the emerging role of the Internet enabling the reader to think critically about how the media should work in the service of democracy places the study of media and politics in a comparative perspective allowing the reader to consider how the same media institutions including commercial and public service broadcasting paid political advertising and war coverage function in different countries This text is essential reading for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students of media and politics Political Communication in a New Era Philippe Maarek,Gadi Wolfsfeld,2005-08-18 This book seeks to provide readers with a cross national perspective concerning the art of political communication in a field increasingly affected by globalization fragmentation of political audiences and the rise of professional communications experts a field concerned not only with how leaders are chosen but also with how they govern Structured in two sections Political Communication in a New Era examines both methods of gathering and disseminating information in a time of technological transformation and developments in the uses of political communication across the globe Contributors offer perspectives from Canada France Germany Israel Italy and the United States Comparing Political Communication Frank Esser,Barbara Pfetsch,2004-09-06 This volume assesses comparative political communication research and considers potential ways in which it could and should develop Twenty experts from Europe and the United States offer a unique and comprehensive discussion of the theories cases and challenges of comparative research in political communication The first part discusses the fundamental themes concepts and methods essential to analyze the effects of modernization and globalization of political communication The second part offers a broad range of case studies that illustrate the enormous potential of cross national approaches in many relevant fields of political communication The third part paves the way for future research by describing the most promising concepts and pressing challenges of comparative political communication This book is intended to introduce new students to a crucial dynamic field as well as deepening advanced students knowledge of its principles and perspectives The Media and Political Process Eric Louw,2010-02-17 How have professional communicators transformed the business of politics How do political bodies use the media to sell domestic and foreign policies to the public This fully revised new edition of The Media and Political Process assesses the impact of spin doctoring and media activity in liberal democracies that are just as concerned with impression management and public relations as with policy Political processes never stand still and this revised second edition explores the mediatisation of the political process in light of recent developments from Vladimir Putin s growth into a political celebrity to the activities of spin doctors in the 2008 US Presidential Elections Providing a comprehensive overview of the evolution operation and terminology of political communication this text is an accessible lively resource for students of political communication and media and politics and will be important further reading for students of journalism public relations and cultural studies Crisis and the Media Marianna Patrona,2018-02-15 How is crisis one of the most resonating words in the modern world related to the mass media Is crisis independent of the discourse practices of media text and talk This book is a collection of studies that brings together current research into the ways in which crisis is constructed and communicated in contemporary media discourse Studies in this book advance our understanding of crises as social events that are discursively constructed performed responded to but also rehearsed as a form of social practice Relying on the application of techniques of discourse analysis and critical discourse analysis CDA including visual analysis the book provides a wealth of empirical evidence on how crisis is mediated across a range of written oral and visual media The book will be of interest to students and scholars of media who combine an interest in discourse analysis with disciplines as diverse as media and cultural studies political communication and sociology

Science Communication in South Africa Weingart, Peter, Joubert, Marina, Facade, Bankole, 2020-01-18 Why do we need to communicate science Is science with its highly specialised language and its arcane methods too distant to be understood by the public Is it really possible for citizens to participate meaningfully in scientific research projects and debate Should scientists be mandated to engage with the public to facilitate better understanding of science How can they best communicate their special knowledge to be intelligible These and a plethora of related questions are being raised by researchers and politicians alike as they have become convinced that science and society need to draw nearer to one another Once the persuasion took hold that science should open up to the public and these questions were raised it became clear that coming up with satisfactory answers would be a complex challenge The inaccessibility of scientific language and methods due to ever increasing specialisation is at the base of its very success Thus translating specialised knowledge to become understandable interesting and relevant to various publics creates particular perils This is exacerbated by the ongoing disruption of the public discourse through the digitisation of communication platforms For example the availability of medical knowledge on the internet and the immense opportunities to inform oneself about health risks via social media are undermined by the manipulable nature of this technology that does not allow its users to distinguish between credible content and misinformation In countries around the world scientists policy makers and the public have high hopes for science communication that it may elevate its populations educationally that it may raise the level of sound decision making for people in their daily lives and that it may contribute to innovation and economic well being This collection of current reflections gives an insight into the issues that have to be addressed by research to reach these noble goals for South Africa and by South Africans in particular

Articulating Dissent Pollyanna Ruiz, 2014-06-20 Articulating Dissent analyses the new communicative strategies of coalition protest movements and how these impact on a mainstream media unaccustomed to fractured articulations of dissent Pollyanna Ruiz shows how coalition protest movements against austerity war and globalisation build upon the communicative strategies of older single issue campaigns such as the anti criminal justice bill protests and the women s peace movement She argues that such protest groups are dismissed in the mainstream for not articulating a unified position and explores the way in which contemporary protesters stemming from different traditions maintain solidarity Articulating Dissent investigates the ways in which this diversity inherent to coalition protest affects the movement of ideas from the political margins to the mainstream In doing so this book offers an insightful and original analysis of the protest coalition as a developing political form

British Media Coverage of the Press Reform Debate Binakuromo Ogbemor, 2020-07-30 This open access book provides a detailed exploration of the British media coverage of the press reform debate that arose from the News of the World phone hacking scandal and the Leveson Inquiry Gathering data from a content analysis of 870 news articles Ogbemor shows how journalists cover debates on media policy and illustrates the impact of their coverage on democracy Through this analysis the book contributes to knowledge of paradigm repair strategies public sphere gatekeeping theory the concept of journalism as an interpretive community political economy of the press as well as the neoliberal and social democratic interpretations of press freedom Providing insight into factors inhibiting and aiding the role of the news media as a democratic public sphere it will be a valuable resource for the press media reform activists members of the public and academics in the fields of journalism politics and law

New Public Spheres Dr Christiane Timmerman, Ms Sara Mels, Professor Peter Thijssen, Professor Walter Weyns, 2013-12-28 The public sphere provides a domain of social life in which public opinion is expressed by means of rational discourse and debate

Habermas linked its historical development to the coffee houses and journals in England Parisian salons and German reading clubs He described it as a bourgeois public sphere where private people come together and where they turn from a politically disempowered bourgeoisie into an effective political agent the public intellectual With communication networks being diversified and expanded over time the worldwide web has put pressure on traditional public spheres These new informal and horizontal networks shaped by the internet create new contexts in which an anonymous and dispersed public may gather in political e communities to reflect critically on societal issues These de centered modes of communication and influence seeking change the role of the traditional public intellectual and at first sight seem to make their contributions less influential What processes therefore influence changes within public spheres and how can intellectuals assert authority within them Should we speak of different types of intellectuals according to the different modes of public intellectual engagement This ground breaking volume gives a multi disciplinary account of the way in which public intellectuals have constructed their role and position in the public sphere in the past and how they try to voice public concerns and achieve authority again within those fragmented public spheres today Dynamics Of Mediatization Olivier Driessens,Göran Bolin,Andreas Hepp,Stig Hjarvard,2017-11-30 This volume sheds light on the underlying dynamics of mediatization disentangling the actual unfolding of mediatization processes The wide adoption and deep embedding of digital media and technology brings new questions to mediatization studies how can we grasp this deep mediatization In which way should we develop existing approaches of mediatization to analyse such dynamics What are the consequences of this for theorising and empirically studying mediatization By using these questions as a starting point this book presents an innovative and original collection that is dedicated to both the underlying dynamics of mediatization and recent dynamics related to digital media
