Pagan City And Christian Capital Rome In The Fourth Century:

Pagan City and Christian Capital John Curran, 2002-06-06 The critical century between the arrival of Constantine and the advance of Alaric in the early fifth century witnessed dramatic changes in the city of Rome In this book Dr Curran has broken away from the usual notions of religious conflict between Christians and pagans to focus on a number of approaches to the Christianization of Rome He surveys the laws and political considerations which governed the building policy of Constantine and his successors the effect of papal building and commemorative constructions on Roman topography the continuing ambivalence of the Roman festal calendar and the conflict between Christians over asceticism and real Christianity Thus using analytical literary and legal evidence Dr Curran explains the way in which the landscape civic life and moral values of Rome were transformed by complex and sometimes paradoxical forces laying the foundation for the capital of medieval Christendom Through a study of Rome as a city Dr Curran explores the rise of Christianity and the decline of paganism in the later Roman empire

Pagan City and Christian Capital John R. Curran, 2002 Pagan City and Christian Capital, 2000 Aspects of Rome as a Pagan City and a Christian Capital in the Fourth Century A.D. John R. Curran, 1991 Aspects of Rome as a Pagan City and a Christian Capital in the Fourth Century AD. John Richard Curran, 1991 Marriage, Celibacy, and Heresy in Ancient Christianity David G. Hunter, 2007-01-26

Marriage Celibacy and Heresy in Ancient Christianity is the first major study in English of the heretic Jovinian and the Jovinianist controversy David G Hunter examines early Christian views on marriage and celibacy in the first three centuries and the development of an anti heretical tradition He provides a thorough analysis of the responses of Jovinian s main opponents including Pope Siricius Ambrose Jerome Pelagius and Augustine In the course of his discussion Hunter sheds new light on the origins of Christian asceticism the rise of clerical celibacy the development of Marian doctrine and the formation of orthodoxy and heresy in early Christianity

Imperial Rome AD 284 to 363 Jill Harries, 2012-03-07 This book is about the reinvention of the Roman Empire during the eighty years between the accession of Diocletian and the death of Julian Building the Body of Christ Daniel C. Cochran, 2020-11-17 In Building the Body of Christ Daniel C Cochran argues that monumental Christian art and architecture played a crucial role in the formation of individual and communal identities in late antique Italy The ecclesiastical buildings and artistic programs that emerged during the fourth and fifth centuries not only reflected Christianity s changing status within the Roman Empire but also actively shaped those who used them Emphasizing the importance of materiality and the body in early Christian thought and practice Cochran shows how bishops and their supporters employed the visual arts to present a Christian identity rooted in the sacred past but expressed in the present through church unity and episcopal authority He weaves together archaeological and textual evidence to contextualize case studies from Rome Aquileia and Ravenna showing how these sites responded to the diversity of early Christianity as expressed through private rituals and the imperial appropriation of the saints Cochran shows how these early ecclesiastical buildings and artistic programs worked in conjunction with the liturgy to persuade individuals to adopt alternative beliefs practices and values that contributed to the formation of institutional Christianity and the Christianization of late antique Italy

Controlling Contested Places Christine Shepardson, 2019-05-14 From constructing new buildings to describing rival controlled areas as morally and physically dangerous leaders in late antiquity fundamentally shaped their physical environment and thus the events that unfolded within it Controlling Contested Places maps the city of Antioch Antakya Turkey through the topographically sensitive vocabulary of cultural geography demonstrating the critical role played by physical and rhetorical spatial contests during the tumultuous fourth century Paying close attention to the manipulation of physical places Christine Shepardson exposes some of the powerful forces that structured the development of religious orthodoxy and orthopraxy in the late Roman Empire Theological claims and political support were not the only significant factors in determining which Christian communities gained authority around the Empire Rather Antioch's urban and rural places far from being an inert backdrop against which events transpired were ever shifting sites of and tools for the negotiation of power authority and religious identity This book traces the ways in which leaders like John Chrysostom Theodoret and Libanius encouraged their audiences to modify their daily behaviors and transform their interpretation of the world and landscape around them Shepardson argues that examples from Antioch were echoed around the Mediterranean world and similar types of physical and rhetorical manipulations continue to shape the politics of identity and perceptions of religious orthodoxy to this day
