Painting and Sculpture in Minnesota, 1820-1914 Rena Neumann Coen, University of Minnesota. University Gallery, 1976-01-01 Paintings and Sculpture in the Collection of the National Academy of Design: 1826-1925 David Bernard Dearing, National Academy of Design (U.S.), 2004 This is the first installment of a fully illustrated catalogue of the Academy's priceless collection of paintings and sculptures Race and Racism in Nineteenth-Century Art Naurice Frank Woods Jr., 2021-06-28 Painters Robert Duncanson ca 1821 1872 and Edward Bannister 1828 1901 and sculptor Mary Edmonia Lewis ca 1844 1907 each became accomplished African American artists But as emerging art makers of color during the antebellum period they experienced numerous incidents of racism that severely hampered their pursuits of a profession that many in the mainstream considered the highest form of social cultivation Despite barriers imposed upon them due to their racial inheritance these artists shared a common cause in demanding acceptance alongside their white contemporaries as capable painters and sculptors on local regional and international levels Author Naurice Frank Woods Jr provides an in depth examination of the strategies deployed by Duncanson Bannister and Lewis that enabled them not only to overcome prevailing race and gender inequality but also to achieve a measure of success that eventually placed them in the top rank of nineteenth century American art Unfortunately the racism that hampered these three artists throughout their careers ultimately denied them their rightful place as significant contributors to the development of American art Dominant art historians and art critics excluded them in their accounts of the period In this volume Woods restores their artistic legacies and redeems their memories introducing these significant artists to rightful new audiences North Country Mary Lethert Wingerd, 2010-06-07 In 1862 four years after Minnesota was ratified as the thirty second state in the Union simmering tensions between indigenous Dakota and white settlers culminated in the violent six week long U S Dakota War Hundreds of lives were lost on both sides and the war ended with the execution of thirty eight Dakotas on December 26 1862 in Mankato Minnesota the largest mass execution in American history The following April after suffering a long internment at Fort Snelling the Dakota and Winnebago peoples were forcefully removed to South Dakota precipitating the near destruction of the area's native communities while simultaneously laying the foundation for what we know and recognize today as Minnesota In North Country The Making of Minnesota Mary Lethert Wingerd unlocks the complex origins of the state origins that have often been ignored in favor of legend and a far more benign narrative of immigration settlement and cultural exchange Moving from the earliest years of contact between Europeans and the indigenous peoples of the western Great Lakes region to the era of French and British influence during the fur trade and beyond Wingerd charts how for two centuries prior to official statehood Native people and Europeans in the region maintained a hesitant largely beneficial relationship Founded on intermarriage kinship and trade between the two parties this racially hybridized society was a meeting point for cultural and economic exchange until the western expansion of American capitalism and violation of treaties by the U S government during the 1850s wore sharply at this tremulous bond ultimately leading to what Wingerd calls Minnesota s Civil War A cornerstone text in the chronicle of Minnesota s history Wingerd s narrative is augmented by more than 170 illustrations chosen and described by Kirsten Delegard in comprehensive captions that depict the fascinating often haunting representations of the region and its inhabitants over two and a half centuries North Country is the unflinching account of how the land the Dakota named Mini Sota Makoce became the State of Minnesota and of the people who have called it at one time or another home

The American Village in a Global Setting Michael E. Connaughton, Suellen Rundquist, 2009-03-26 In October 2005 a conference honoring the contributions of Sinclair Lewis to Midwest and American culture and celebrating the friendship between Sinclair Lewis and Ida K Compton was held at St Cloud State University in St Cloud Minnesota Sinclair Lewis would no doubt have been flattered and perhaps a bit surprised by the breadth of this conference in his honor The fact that scholars writers students and readers gathered to discuss his work and its broader influence would have pleased him He would have learned that readers still found stimulus for serious thought in his writing and that his works can serve as a springboard to discussion of today s societal issues some of which might surprise him considerably The papers selected from the conference entitled The American Village in a Global Setting consider elements of Lewis world through today s lens In Part I his version of community is compared to that documented in other ways including architecture and television Scholars address issues such as anti-Semitism theocratic communities the Irish and outdoor life In Part II the concept of community is expanded to the visions of other authors including his contemporaries such as Martha Ostenso Josephine Donovan and Willa Cather as well as more recent writers In Part III today s social and cultural issues in America are addressed expressing the global and interdisciplinary intent of the conference And last Part IV continues the global theme addressing international communities and pedagogical philosophies through film and literature

Keepers of Culture Howard Wayne Morgan, 1989 The conflict between modern and traditional art is one of the best known episodes in American cultural history The modernists on the war in the sense that their styles and attitudes of mind dominated the discussion and production of new art But the traditionalists remained strong in the arenas of public opinion and taste It is a testament to the importance of the ideas involved that the basic issues are not yet settled in the larger cultural world Kenyon Cox a painter as well as critic revealed a steadfast devotion to the ideals of a high art tradition derived in his later years chiefly from admiration for the Italian Renaissance He knew western art history surveyed the current art scene in many reviews and analytical essays and wrote with careful attention to the canons of scholarship Royals Cartissoz the art editor of the New York Tribune for over fifty years was an appreciator and connoisseur His belief in beauty in a well done and recognizable form left him open to more innovation than was the case with Cox He based his views on a self confessed ideal of common sense that left the art experience open to any sensitive person He was well suited to speak to and for the growing middle class in the Progressive era This viewpoint was equally adaptable if more debatable intellectually when modernism triumphed The fact that he remained a significant figure in art circles long after his tastes ceased to be dominant testified to the nature of the audience for whom and to whom he spoke Frank Jewett Mather Jr was the most realistic of these critics in estimating how art appealed in society He knew a lot about many things and was concerned to see that the arts remained integrated in public esteem and thought Mather took comfort from the history of art which revealed to him that great works and their creators could survive time and criticism This sense of historical process and his great need for the unifying power of art experience let Mather escape the bitterness that so affected Cox and to a lesser extent Cortissoz as tastes changed The artist s mission was to maintain and extend forms of art that promoted order and integration in society and in individual personalities Society in turn had to see the artist as a harbinger of an intensified emotional life but which accommodated changed perception in constructive ways The chief fear of the traditionalists was that the new art which seemed shocking in form and disruptive in intent would separate artist and public to the detriment of both

Merrill,1997 In addition to American sources draws from German sources not generally consulted by historians of American art Presents biographical sketches of German and German speaking painters graphic artists engravers lithographers sculptors and some stained glass designers who arrived in North America from the colonial period to the 20th century The bibliographic references are article specific No index Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Papers Presented at the Longfellow Commemorative Conference ,1982 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1977 Art and the Higher Life Kathleen A. Pyne,1996-01-01 Late in the nineteenth century many Americans were troubled by the theories of Charles Darwin which contradicted both traditional Christian teachings and the idea of human supremacy over nature and by an influx of foreign immigrants who challenged the supremacy of the old Anglo Saxon elite In response many people drew comfort from the theories of philosopher Herbert Spencer who held that human society inevitably develops towards higher and more spiritual forms In this illuminating study Kathleen Pyne explores how Spencer s theories influenced a generation of American artists She shows how the painters of the 1880s and 1890s particularly John La Farge James McNeill Whistler Thomas Dewing and the Boston school and the impressionist painters of the Ten developed an art dedicated to social refinement and spiritual ideals and to defending the

Anglo Saxon elite of which they were members This linking of visual culture to the problematic conditions of American life radically reinterprets the most important trends in late nineteenth century American painting Before the Museums

Came Leo J. Harris,2013-03-05 Before the Museums Came A Social History of the Fine Arts in the Twin Cities gives an engaging portrayal of the fine arts scene of Minneapolis and St Paul Minnesota in the United States spanning from the appearance of the earliest artists in 1835 to the opening of the first permanent museum the Minneapolis Institute of Arts in 1915 Readers will learn about the institutions and organizations that were created in support of the fine arts the early art exhibitions and events and the collectors dealers and artists whose efforts made all of that come to fruition The text enriched and supplemented by reproductions of artworks photographs of various personages exhibition venues studios art galleries catalogues and ephemera presents a clear understanding of the period and breaks new ground for future scholars to research Leo John Harris had pursued three different careers before retiring to follow yet another vocation this time as a writer He served in the U S Department of State and Foreign Service he was an international lawyer and he founded a niche publishing house devoted to books on the arts history and popularculture In his retirement he has written articles and books on philately the arts and regional history and this passion has now resulted in a well researched and richly illustrated publication

Painted Journeys Peter H. Hassrick,Mindy N. Besaw,2015-07 Artist explorer John Mix Stanley 1814 1872 one of the most celebrated chroniclers of the American West in his time was in a sense a victim of his own success So highly regarded was his work that more than two hundred of his paintings were held at the Smithsonian Institution where in 1865 a fire destroyed all but seven of them This volume featuring a comprehensive collection of Stanley s extant art reproduced in full color offers an opportunity and ample reason to rediscover the remarkable accomplishments of this outsize figure of nineteenth century American culture Originally from New York State Stanley journeyed west in 1842 to paint Indian life During the U S Mexican War he joined a frontier military expedition and traveled from Santa Fe to California producing sketches and paintings of the campaign along the way work that helped secure his fame in the following decades He was also appointed chief artist for Isaac Stevens s survey of the 48th parallel for a proposed transcontinental railroad The essays in this volume by noted scholars of American art document and reflect on Stanley s life and work from every angle The authors consider the artist s experience on government expeditions his solo tours among the Oregon settlers and western and Plains Indians and his career in Washington and search for government patronage as well as his individual works With contributions by Emily C Burns Scott Manning Stevens Lisa Strong Melissa Speidel Jacquelyn Sparks and Emily C Wilson the essays in this volume convey the full scope of John Mix Stanley s artistic accomplishment and document the unfolding of that uniquely American vision throughout the artist s colorful life Together they restore Stanley to his rightful place in the panorama of nineteenth century American life and art
